'WATER CUT-OFF IDEA CHILDISH'-MAYOR DUSCH

For New City

Plans Underway To Provide Toll Free Phone Calls

PRINCESS ANNE—Plans are underway to determine the feasibility of installing toll-free telephone service to all corners of the proposed City of Virginia Beach if the merger is approved—even though three telephone companies serve the area.

Of the companies involved—the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co., the Princess Anne Telephone Co., and the Norfolk-Carolina Telephone Co.—the independent Princess Anne firm would face the greatest changes.

The Princess Anne Telephone Co. serves not only Princess Anne Borough, where the new municipal seat of government will be located, but also the sections of Back Bay, Creeds, Munden, Pleasant Ridge and Sandbridge, all of which will comprise the Pungo Borough.

Engineers Planning According to General Manager Karmit S. Land, the Princess Anne Telephone Company has authorized their consultant engineers, L. E. Weston & Co. of Raleigh, N.C., to lay out a complete system to take care of the tremendous growth expected in the county in the next ten years.

Into this project, directly related to the merger, Land said, will be a plan for free service between the independent company's area and the C&P Company's area. It is expected that rates will be adjusted to take care of this conversion.

It is also expected that the party lines will be set up on a four or five party basis rather than the present 8-party maximum.

Even before the merger talk, plans for expansion of the Princess Anne company were underway, Land said, because of the expected growth in the county from the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel and the development of farm land into housing facilities.

However it is possible that "certain other services will be required," due to the merger, and these services will be provided in the over-all plan, he said.

Among the necessary changes will be the construction of a new building and the installation of new equipment.

"It could possibly take three years to complete this project," Land said, "and it will cost approximately $500,000."

The Princess Anne Telephone Co. came into being in 1931 when the Back Bay and Creeds companies were incorporated into one company. An independent stockholder's organization, the company started out with 100 to 150 phones in 1931 and now have about 1,000.

The other independent company involved in the change is the Norfolk-Carolina Telephone Company of Virginia. The Elizabeth City office of this firm serves the Blackwater District

MERGER BROCHURE BEING DISTRIBUTED

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach-Princess Anne County merger campaign committee this week issued a colorful booklet explaining the proposed consolidation.

Titled "Merger—Key to a Golden Tomorrow," the 12-page leaflet explains the advantages versus the alternatives, presents most of the basic facts and lists the study committee, the Board of Supervisors, the City Council, and the constitutional officers of both the county and city.

Tenth Baby Born

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac J. Plank, a Mennonite couple from Kemspeville, welcomed their tenth child in 11 years at the General Hospital of Virginia Beach, November 30, at 3:10 a.m. The rest of their children are Verda, born 1951; Pauline, 1952; Ruth, 1953; Eddie, 1954; Lewis, 1955; Maynard, 1957; Irene, 1958; Bertha, 1959; Katherine, 1960 and the baby, Marie. ### Calls to Santa Being Received By Helpers Here

Members of the board of directors of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce are acting as Santa Claus helpers between now and Christmas, according to an announcement made this week.

Each weekday between the hours of four and five in the afternoon youngsters may speak to Santa's helpers by calling GA 8-1923. This is the Virginia Beach number to the North Pole.

A committee of the Chamber is handling the calls for Santa. Jack R. Haden serves as chairman of the group.

DR. HADDOCK RETURNS HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Dr. W. Kenneth Haddock, pastor of the Virginia Beach Methodist Church, has returned home after a sojourn in Norfolk General Hospital. It was learned Wednesday.

Dr. Haddock had entered the hospital several days ago as a result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident last October. He is reported to be doing as well as can be expected.

It is expected that Dr. Haddock will resume his church duties within the next two weeks.

Mrs. Huttman Is Bridge Winner

VIRGINIA BEACH—Mrs. J. H. Huttman recently won the fourth of a series of six bridge parties being held at the Cavalier Beach Club each Friday, through Dec. 15, under the direction of Ellis Butt.

The Friday programs get underway at 11 a.m. with a blackboard talk by Butt followed by luncheon from noon to 1 p.m. and party bridge from 1 to 3 p.m. A prize is awarded the person with the day's high score.

Club members are permitted to bring three guests to each game.

Winners of the three previous games were Mrs. Marguerite Roberts, Mrs. Frederick Ward and Mrs. Sara Wood.

Debbie Sue Brown, 5, Clarkston, Wash., the national poster girl for the 1962 New March of Dimes campaign in January chats with Mrs. E. A. Hudson, (left) Mother's March Chairman of Princess Anne County, and Mrs. P. B. White, Campaign Treasurer. Debbie Sue, born with an open spine (spina bifida) symbolizes all victims who may benefit from The National Foundation's expanded program to prevent crippling diseases. Just as your dimes and dollars made it possible to prevent paralytic polio... they are now working against two more of America's worst cripples—birth defects and arthritis.

County Population Increasing at Rate Of 1500 Per Month

PRINCESS ANNE—By 1970 the county may have 250,000 residents and need 50 schools to accommodate an estimated 50,000 students, according to Frank W. Cox, superintendent of schools.

"The population has been persons per month," he said. "There are approximately 112,000 persons now living in the county-beach area and if it continues at this rate we may have 250,000 by 1970."

Merged Residents
"If the merger goes through and the county and beach become a city by 1963, we will start out with about 130,000 population," he said.

There is nothing to indicate that the growth in the county will ease up in the next few years and Cox said he didn't believe the merger would offset the growth one way or another.

"The growth will continue as long as there is any open land for people to build on and the county is approximately 60 per cent open land," he said. Despite the fact that the school administrators opened five new buildings in the county this September, the schools are already feeling the strain of additional students.

Cox said that the county would need at least four new schools within two years and should have two open by next September. Kellam High School, located near Court House, will definitely be open for the fall term and construction on another elementary school may get underway by spring.

Federal Aid
Much of the school board's plans depend on the outcome of their request for over $2 million for school construction from the federal government. This figure is based on the $400-per-child-per-year rate the government provides ### under Public Law 815.

The government pays for school construction in federally-impacted areas, and Cox said 48 per cent of the county's total school enrollment are federally-connected students.

If these federal funds are approved the next schools will be built to relieve the congestion in the Lynnhaven-London Bridge areas, sections now served by Linkhorn Park and John B. Dey Schools; the Aragona Village section where the construction of proposed Pembroke Manor will add students; and the Princess Anne-Malibu areas.

The county began to feel the impact of its phenomenal growth as early as 1951 and by 1954 a boom was under way, Cox said. Before 1950 there were only six schools to serve the county-beach area: Creeds, Oceana, Kemspeville, Bayside, Courthouse and W. T. Cooke. Today there are 24 schools. The value of these buildings has gone from

NORFOLK COUNCIL ACT TERMED SMOKESCREEN FOR MERGER VOTERS

Merger Talks Are Scheduled

Virginia Beach residents are urged to attend a meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Virginia Beach High School to hear Sidney S. Kellam, co-chairman of the study committee, speak on the proposed Virginia Beach-Princess Anne County merger.

Ivan Mapp and Carroll Clough will speak tonight on behalf of the merger before the Boy Scout Parent's Night group at Haywood Methodist Church in Bayside at 8 p.m.

The Rev. Mr. Benjamin will speak at Blackwater Baptist Church Sunday and will join J. W. Hairston Monday at 8 p.m. at a meeting of the Seaboard School P.T.A.

Mapp will also speak Monday at 8 p.m. at a meeting of the Broad Bay Civic League.

VIRGINIA BEACH—Mayor Frank A. Dusch stated Wednesday that Norfolk City Council's decision to cut off water service to Virginia Beach if the proposed merger succeeds is "so childish... it is almost too ridiculous for a reply."

The water cut-off threat became a reality Tuesday night when the Norfolk City Council voted 5 to 1 to end its water service to the beach after Dec. 31, 1962, the day before the merger, if it succeeds, would go into effect.

In a prepared statement, Mayor Dusch said: "I have conferred with our city attorneys and I wish to assure the citizens of the City of Virginia Beach that they have nothing to fear from this standpoint."

"Norfolk can't cut the water off—they know it and we know it."

"For about 40 years we have been purchasing our water from the City of Norfolk. When water was first installed in the City of Virginia Beach, we paid the cost of laying the pipe line from Norfolk City to Virginia Beach in essence this pipe line belongs to us."

Lines Tapped
"For many years the City of Norfolk has been syphoning water off our pipe line by additional taps, thereby decreasing the necessary pressure for the City of Virginia Beach. As a result of this decrease in pressure in the early 1940's Virginia Beach made application and did receive money from the Federal Works Agency in Washington which money was given to Norfolk City to build a new 20-inch pipe line from Norfolk to Virginia Beach. This is our pipe line. In addition to this the Federal Agency required Norfolk City to reduce its water rates to the City of Virginia Beach.

"Norfolk City Council said they wanted to grow and some of the council members are now because the City of Virginia Beach is following the consolidation law in its efforts to grow."

"I remind them that Virginia Beach is also a city that desires to grow and whatever differences the Mayor may have with the Counties of Norfolk and Princess Anne certainly this should not affect the water supply between the two cities. For some of the Norfolk City Council, because they are mad, to try to throw up this smoke screen is childish beyond imagination."

Our citizens of Virginia Beach are not going to be intimidated by any such smoke screen because all of a sudden the Mayor has gotten mad with Norfolk & Princess Anne Counties. Not only is Norfolk going to continue to serve us with water, but they have an obligation to pay for every water tap that has been cut into our line.

This action today is a poor example of efforts to achieve a metropolitan Government for the Tidewater area.

The water cutoff is contingent upon the city attorney's ruling on whether or not the move would be legal. Even through the water contract between the two cities expires Dec. 31, 1962 and can be cancelled, the general consensus among city officials is that a complete cut-off cannot be enforced.

C of C Meeting

Bus Tour of Proposed New Virginia Beach Is Planned

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual meeting and party Saturday in the form of a bus tour over the high spots of the proposed new City of Virginia Beach.

The trail will go south on Rt. 615, stopping first at Sandbridge where Nick's will serve steamed oysters. They will travel on to Pungo and then to Princess Anne Court House for a quick tour through some of the buildings and a short stop at Mrs. Dale's Court House Restaurant.

The group will "sing their way" (by bringing their own tapes) through Kemspeville and Chinese Corner to Chesapeake Beach where they will see the progress of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel. Final stop will be at Emanuel's Shore Drive Inn for a special dinner.

Buses will return to the Beach via the Lesser Bridge and Shore Drive, arriving at Convention Center by 3 p.m.

Reservations should be made with Mrs. Julia Nelms by noon Friday.

The head fish was foal hooked on its lower fin and put up an hour battle before being brought alongside the boat.

Points in Consolidation

It is quite likely that on January 4, 1962 the people of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach will be called upon to decide whether or not they want to hold intact the area of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach by voting for consolidation, or would they prefer to be carved up by way of annexation by Norfolk City and the remaining part of the county burdened with taxes they can't afford to pay.

Advertising

Some people have tried to get away from the real problem by talking about side issues. Some have mentioned that people in the county may have to help pay the Virginia Beach advertising fund. This is a ridiculous idea when one looks at the facts. At the present time the advertising fund is paid for largely by the tourists out of the special luxury taxes placed on those same tourists. So that as of now the residents of the City of Virginia Beach, themselves, pay practically nothing to the advertising fund. Of course, hotels, motels, restaurants and other places of business, including our merchants will all benefit from this advertising whether they are located in the present City of Virginia Beach or the present County of Princess Anne, and the joint council will, in our opinion, give this very careful consideration when preparing their budget.

The county at the present time is spending certain funds for promotion and the city is doing likewise. Under a joint effort in advertising one city this money could be spent to a greater advantage. So when anyone talks of advertising they should inform you where the present advertising fund comes from and what the county and city are now spending.

If the individual hotel, motel, restaurant and merchant will join in a consolidated city we can have a great advertising fund without having to take from the people any taxes to bring this about.

Utilities

We believe upon consolidation our telephone companies and the city officials should begin an immediate, joint undertaking to relieve the long distance toll calls that now exist between the county and the city. The elimination of these long distance toll charges can, in our opinion, be eliminated, and should be eliminated by the consolidation of the county and the city.

The electric rates now paid by the county for street lighting and for all municipal services will be reduced by one-half if, and when, the two areas consolidate. The electric kilowatt charge for a county is twice as much as it is for a city and this will result in a savings of many dollars to the taxpayer. One hundred thousand people which will be the population of the city and county working together can bring about great results for the future prosperity and happiness of this area.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

(The following editorial appeared in the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot on Wednesday, December 6, 1961, and is reprinted herewith by permission of that newspaper.)

There Can Be No Cut-Off

The action of the City Council in deciding formally to notify Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach that it will cut off water at the end of the present contract 13 months hence — December 31, 1962—is a mistake.

It is difficult to believe that the issue will ever come to this event. Even though the contract has only a six months' requirement for notification of a decision not to renew, and even though 13 months is more than twice as long, the possibility that a new water supply system could be set up and put into operation within 13 months—or less than twelve months after the vote on January 4—is so remote as to leave serious doubt that it could be done.

In such circumstances the presumption now is that the city of Norfolk would put itself in the position of cutting off water for 84,000 people (8,000 in Virginia Beach, 76,000 in Princess Anne County). But that is obviously an intolerable position for the city to place itself in. It is intolerable even though the Council faces a program of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach to merge into a city largely if not overwhelmingly for the purpose of blocking any future annexation moves by Norfolk—which may be quite legitimate—in their direction.

In the present struggle in Tidewater Virginia other things are being said and done which do not make for comity in Tidewater or for the health and happiness of the region's future. The City Council can present arguments against some things that have been done. It has duties to protect the city at all times. But the important necessity is not to make worse a situation which the Council deems to be bad.

The decision yesterday will, we believe, stiffen backs all over Princess Anne and Virginia Beach and thereby make any future amelioration of problems and cooperation in handling them more difficult than they are now. The weapon which the City Council proposes to use is itself so powerful that in the end it could not be used. Meantime, friends and neighbors on both sides of a boundary line which they cross every day, and will have to cross regularly and systematically in the long future, would be arrayed against each other like mortal enemies.

They are not mortal enemies. They are parts of a great population region that is cut up by borders and boundaries but is united by interests of far greater importance. They will have to live together. They will work together or any work they do will decrease in profit and pleasure. Their future is cooperation, not antagonism.

In these inescapable terms of the future the Council's action seems to us regrettable. Negotiations—yes. Persuasion—yes. Legitimate argument and legitimate defense steps—yes. But an ultimatum of this kind—no. The Council is making a difficult situation worse. It is a mistake, and it should be rectified.

Letters To The Editor

5 December 1961

The Editor
Virginia Beach Sun-News
Virginia Beach, Va.

Dear Sir:

I read with a great deal of interest the letter of Mr. Joseph H. Watson, Jr., appearing in the Norfolk paper this date. It is quite obvious that Mr. Watson wrote before he investigated. I don't know Mr. Watson but I would like to set him straight on the advertising program of the present City of Virginia Beach.

Here is what Mr. Watson would have found if he had investigated the matter of advertising. The city advertising program is financed through an appropriation from the city council and these funds are derived from special taxes, commonly referred to as luxury taxes, which are paid by the tourists visiting here. The local taxpayer does not pay these taxes, except in a minor degree, because the money comes from special taxes on hotel-motel rooms, restaurant meals and tobacco.

So, Mr. Watson, the advertising costs for Virginia Beach merchants in the present City of Virginia Beach is paid for largely by the visiting tourist, and not by the local taxpayer. I am not a resident of Virginia Beach, but live in an area adjacent to the city. However, I am vitally interested in Virginia Beach and have made it a point to keep myself abreast of the city's operation.

Since the local residents do not pay for the advertising of

In 1954-55 the school budget was $1,620,992. The current budget is $5,069,426.

Schools Annexed

In 1950 there were only 5,000 pupils. This year there are over 23,000. This total does not include the 6,500 students the county lost to the City of Norfolk in 1959 when the annexation took over 100 classrooms from the county in two schools—Little Creek with 75 classrooms and Larrymore with 28 classrooms.

Added to the school system in the past few years were: Linkhorn Park School in 1955 with 20 classrooms and a 10-room addition built two years ago to help absorb some of the students from Oceana School, closed because of its unsafe location near the Air Station. Kempville Meadows in 1959 with 28 classrooms.

which could become the Blackwater Borough through the merger.

This Borough, with a population of 733, is accommodated through the Norfolk-Carolina Company's Great Bridge exchange, a facility that handles about 3,000 homes in Norfolk County and Blackwater.

"Actually we only serve a handful of people in Princess Anne County," W. C. Meekins, supervisor for the company, said. "We haven't discussed the merger here and don't know too much about it. As far as the toll charge being eliminated in Blackwater... well, I don't know."

Meekins indicated that the matter would be looked into if the merger is approved.

If the Princess Anne Telephone Co. expands its facilities the company will remain independent, Land said.

AUSTRIAN CHRISTMAS MUSIC AT DEY

The story of how the Christmas Hymn "Silent Night, Holy Night" came to be written will be retold in music and narration at the December 12 P-TA meeting at the John B. Day Elementary School, Great Neck Road. The 110 voice sixth and seventh grade chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Irene A. Korte, music instructor, will present "The Story of Silent Night." The carols to be sung by the choral group were also part of the Trapp Family Singer's repertoire, and will include: "Carol of the Children of Bethlehem," "The Bells," "The Echo Carol," "We Are Three Kings of Orient," "The Darkness is Fading," "Who's Knocking There?" "Shepherds Up!" "Let Our Gladness Know No End," and "Silent Night."

SURFSIDE '61

By RUBY JEAN PHILLIPS

When December rolls around the first sure sign that Christmas is soon to follow is the lovely Nativity Scene at the Mutual Federal Savings and Loan Association office on Pacific Avenue. These near-life-size scenes are a tradition with this firm throughout the area and each office has its own display, each costing about $600.

A new Mutual Federal office now under construction at Princess Anne Plaza wanted to get into the tradition this year even though the building is not completed, so they displayed their scene atop the workmen's shack. And it is lovely. No matter where one might see a Nativity Scene, it is always beautiful.

A group of budding young thespians will try their hand at drama Saturday when Friends School will sponsor the Virginia Beach Children's Theatre in "The Bird's Christmas Carol" and it promises to round out a year of outstanding theatrics on a high note.

The rehearsals have been lively and exciting but the young cast tackled their roles with all the eagerness and sincerity of accomplished professionals. The play will be presented at Virginia Beach High School at 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. and youngsters between the ages of 6 and 60 are sure to enjoy it.

Chumley Road has a pint-sized celebrity in the form of dark-haired and bubbling Judy Jackson, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jackson. Judy recently won a set of encyclopedias for submitting the winning question to the Norfolk paper's syndicated "Tell Me Why" column.

Mrs. Jackson doesn't know which question took the honors because the family has a policy that when Judy or her identical twin, Jill, or 10-year-old brother, Ricky, ask a nearly-unanswerable question, they jot it down on a postcard and send it to the column.

The paper will carry Judy's question and a brief story on her shortly before Christmas.

Far be it for me to say that we have a hamster that outsmarts us... but I will say we have one with a mind of his own.

"Rusty" who is somewhere in the neighborhood of 5-months old, is a firm believer in freedom and he never lets such things as a cage and four frantic human being stand in his way when he gets the urge to leave.

His first escapade in the outside world was a four-day stay and that just about ruined him for all future captivity. When we returned from a recent trip to Florida the first thing that greeted us was Rusty's empty cage. He had been left in the house with a once-a-week check by our next door neighbor, Dee White.

Dee reported that Rusty had been out of his cage since Thursday—we arrived home late Sunday night. Thinking he must surely be departed for Hamster Heaven by then we nevertheless went on an inch-by-inch search of the house. It was Monday afternoon before we located him—behind the refrigerator. With a look of sheer delight in his beady little eyes.

Planning his escape very carefully, Rusty had taken all the provisions he would need before he left the confines of the cage and we found him through his not-so-mannerly crunching of corn. He was a little short on cotton nesting, however, and when he sneaked back to the cage, which we had conveniently placed near the refrigerator, for more supplies we dropped the door.

He stuffed his jaw pouches full of cotton for five minutes, took a sip of water and prepared to leave. When the door wouldn't open at his bidding that was the maddest rat I ever saw! He did everything but tear the bars from the cage and I felt like Simon Legree. But, I kept telling myself and the kids, you can't turn the house over to a rat. Now can you?

Well, that was only the beginning. He learned to spring the catch on the cage door. When we wired it shut he learned to push the tray at the bottom of the cage loose from the frame giving him just the space he needed to slide on his back to freedom. Several escapes later we caught on and bent the tray tight against the cage.

It was never any trouble finding him. He always headed for the kitchen and the security of the refrigerator. The boys were tempted to leave him there, with his little pile of corn and grain, but I couldn't see it. What could I say to visitors when a hamster scouted across our living room floor? Imagine the chaos! So Rusty is once more back in his cage. But the spirit is still there and at night, when the house is dark and quiet, we can hear patiently gnawing through the metal bars and noisily digging at the cage floor.

Any morning now I expect him to greet me at the refrigerator with a twinkle in his eye and a "I told you so" look on his tiny rodent face.

As the pace of life in our nation accelerates, so apparently does our crime rate. According to the F.B.I.'s latest annual report, crime is increasing four times faster than our population growth. There were four serious crimes committed every minute last year, and almost twice as many crimes were recorded in 1960 as a decade ago. Robbery and burglary, larceny theft, and auto theft, in particular, have maintained a steady upward trend, increasing 18%, 14% and 9% respectively in a year. Approximately three hundred million dollars in money and property was stolen last year, a large portion of which was taken from business establishments and residents.

Autumn in Europe

Madrid Skyline Like Picture Book Setting

(This is the sixth article by Mrs. Dale Fairless Witt who recently toured Europe with the Virginia Beach Travel Service - WBOF sponsored "Europe in Autumn" tour, reporting on building trends and other interests in various key cities. Mrs. Witt took the trip in her position as president of Home Builders' Women's Auxiliary and as a consultant for Viking Construction Corp., builders of King's Grant.)

By Dale Fairless Witt
ON TO MADRID

Flying over the Mediterranean to Barcelona was our only rough flight. A short hop however, and we were landing at Barcelona, our first visit to Spain.

A quick clearance here, as at all stops, with customs only opening one bag (one locked with a small padlock). Time for some very strong coffee and a look at the hundreds of Spanish dancing dolls in the showcases. The flight from Barcelona to Madrid was straight into the sunset and as we arrived the sun went down over the mountains, (sounds like a line from a book). The skyline of Madrid in the setting sun looked like something you read about.

The airport, again modern and cleaner than the one in Barcelona. We were met by our guide and taken by bus through the center of the city to our hotel. And what a city! Madrid has two million, three hundred thousand residents and it looked like Times Square with every one going in different directions. Many, many cars on wide avenues with six lanes of traffic. We passed the square, "Puerta del Sol", the center of the city, from which all activity seems to originate and all history of Madrid is linked. Here is also the famous clock by which all Spain tells the time and we found it is true the clocks are usually a little slow. Time for meals is particularly different than ours as breakfast is usually eaten around 10 a.m., lunch from 2:30 to 4 p.m., and dinner from 10 p.m. to 11:30. So after checking into the Hotel Wellington to find that because they weren't particularly crowded they had given us suites with living rooms, marble baths and a view of the Avenue. Dinner served at 11 p.m. was delicious. American is not understood as readily here as in other countries, but with the headwaiters' translation we managed four courses.

This morning we visited Senor Jose Fonseca, Ministry of Housing. The National Association of Home Builders had given me an address which proved to be his home.

Upon arrival at 10 a.m. at an apartment house and finally arriving at the right door we were admitted by a maid into a beautifully furnished foyer. Mrs. Fonseca, hearing the confusion over trying to make the maid understand who we wanted to see very graciously came out; apologizing for her attire as she had not arisen for the day. She asked if we understood French and again felt so stupid (I'm inserting—have had two French lessons and at least can say in French that I don't understand). By this time by use of our most expressive hands Janet Borro (correct spelling as other articles were wrong — our apologies Janet) and I made her understand we wanted to see her husband. She band regarding business. She wrote an address down for us which by taxi took us to a most magnificent building on one of the squares. The guard personally escorted us to Senor Fonseca's receptionist who undoubtedly had been called by Senora Fonseca as we were expected. If ever you find yourself in the position we were in, and are ladies wearing gloves, start at this point to get them off and be sure your hands are clean with perhaps a dot of perfume—for the introduction to Senor Fonseca was with a very formal kiss of the hand. Janet didn't have her glove off so she stopped midway, but this gave me ample time to be prepared — what a nice gesture this is.

He informed us, and we found this almost everywhere that he understood and spoke English. His American was not as good, but he loved to practice it. We talked about various means of financing homes, comparing theirs to ours. All the while he was talking, he was busy signing applications for new home loans. They have loans divided into 3 classes with HIGH requiring a down payment of 70% — MEDIUM requiring 50% and LOW which requires 25%. The down payment may be borrowed and often is from Union Funds at 5 1/2%. We learned that nearly all construction is for apartment (over 90%) and these are all sold with moderate down payments and monthly payments from $7.00 a month up their condominium ownership they call "horizontal ownership."

One of his first comments was that it is difficult to get information from the United States about housing, but as he continued talking he was so well informed as to how many units were built last year (1 million 800 thousand) he must have an informant somewhere. He knew that we needed a great many more houses and felt that we didn't face our problem realistically because we build for the individual (I had to keep remembering this is a socialist country we were visiting). He felt because of the great amounts of wood we use, our houses wouldn't last as long, but they have very little wood they could use if they wanted to. Senor Fonseca was an architect before he received his present position and has been in Madrid for over 30 years, previously living in Mexico. Loans are for as long as 50 years and most of the government loans are interest free. This is applied to housing under the inspection the Institute of Housing of which Senor Fonseca is a director. As he had to attend a forum and was the moderator on a meeting about Acoustics in Home Building he asked if I could return the next morning at 9 o'clock.

Next stop—off to the shops, mainly to look, as this is the last stop and the money situation is rough. I can see now why it was planned this way; you can ride all over Madrid for 50 cents and most cab rides are a dime. We walked for about 10 blocks fascinated with the hustle and bustle — it looked like Times Square in New York, but here every kind of transportation is visible, from motor scooter to bike and trucks, street cars, subways, buses, and mixed in are millions of pedestrians on a six lane street. And the streets are clean (we learned at 1 a.m. when we got up to look out and see what the noise was why — they scrub the streets at night with large push brushes). After a taxi ride to the business district (no English in Taxi drivers—more pointing to guide book) we found ourselves in the middle of the city the Puerto del Sol and this is where everything seems to start and end. Within a block we found three department stores and the one we entered had an air door—what fun! All sorts of beautiful things such as lace, brocade, mantilles, but lunch (five courses) was at 2:30 at the hotel and by this time we needed it. The food served in Madrid is nothing like Mexico; it is very mild—we were served very little beef and a great deal of chicken, excellent soup and salads and no where in our travels did we find the water we were warned not to drink. Occasionally we would order bottled water to show all we were tourists, but most of the party drank the water of the country with no ill effects. At lunch, we were told of the violin group playing in the cocktail lounge, but with lunch or any meal our hotel always had some form of musician playing—piano or violin — very lovely atmosphere and set the mood for a little rest like all the natives do between 2 and 5. The evening's entertainment was a visit to a night club, famous for their flamenco dancers. By this time the gay travelers in our room one Janet and Dale had "had it" so we curled up in our luxurious suite, relaxed in the marble bath, and had a delicious dinner in our room. We heard the dancers were better than El Greco's and the food "divine" but that sleep was pretty nice too until they started scrubbing the sidewalks and street.

Today we got up early as Janet decided to go to Toledo with the group; I had an appointment with Senor Fonseca. Both of us had a wonderful day. In Toledo they saw the famous Toledo — Jewelry being manufactured and the Cathedral in a treasure house of art. Here they saw many of El Greco's paintings including several of the ones he was forced to paint of the Royal family where he made all of the women ugly. Of course, his angels and the greater share of his paintings were beautiful. They visited his home where some of his best works were painted, but in general the tourist's visiting has marred some of the charm with the souvenir hawkers.

Upon my arrival at the Institute of Housing, Senor Fonseca introduced me to the architect that had designed many of the buildings we were to see, Senor Juan Piqueras. Since this gentleman did not understand English or "American" our conversation for the day was limited to smiles and a few things through Senor Fonseca's translation. We immediately drove to the new apartment section, but along the way Senor Fonseca told me his wife was very impressed with the flowers I had sent the night before to his home and that he had received my report — I had typed a summary of the housing we are building, and in general, our housing conditions on a four page report. I asked the desk clerk to translate it into Spanish as I thought this would make it easier for him to read. He thanked me for the information, but said that in the translation a great deal of the meaning was lost because the desk clerk not understanding about housing—goofed a little. He'd never understood the word "goofed" either. We never realized how much slang we use until we try to talk without it. It was a beautiful day and as we drove by points of interest Senor Fonseca pointed them out. We arrived at the apartments. These are a mixture of high rise of 10 floors or more down to some that are three and two floors. All are oriented to the site to make a very pretty setting. Very modern as you can see from the pictures. Again the balcony plays an important role. Everywhere in Europe we see balconies. In this case the balcony had the grille work and was to be used, in addition to relaxation, for a laundry drying area to do away with unsightly lines. We entered one apartment building (the one with the grille work) and looked at an apartment—three bedrooms, one bath, kitchen, and living room. It had central heat, one closet, unpainted plaster walls and a concrete floor but—the monthly payment is $7.00 a month and the down payment about $375. The $7.00 includes the proportionate share of maintenance for the building and grounds. Since a huge park adjoins the apartments, recreation is across the street. The shopping center was very small and not completed. I asked about laundromats which they seemed interested in but do not have. Since dry cleaning is a real problem to the low income families they seemed really interested in knowing more about the "dry cleaning machines" now being used in our shopping centers.

A swimming pool will possibly be built at a later date, but none in evidence. There were over 2000 apartments with the most expensive, which had three bedrooms and a maid's room and bath and hard tile on the floor plus several closets, selling for about $550 down payment and a monthly payment (interest free) of $20. Of course everything is relevant and when I asked how much a brick mason would earn in a day the reply was $2.00 for the entire day. Brick construction is everywhere, with concrete and all the materials including the glass, coming from near Madrid (nothing is imported). In none of the buildings did I see aluminum and since I kept asking where or why Senor Fonseca finally asked me which Aluminum Company I had an interest. Since money was the main discussion at this point, I was presumptuous and asked Senor

Fonseca how much he paid for his apartment and how large it was, because we had only been in a couple of the rooms. He laughed and said he must explain that they still have rent control as he was ashamed of how little he paid. They have four bedrooms with two baths and maid's room and bath, a dining room, living room, music room and pay $10 per month. All of this and his home in the country, he had built for $4,000. Senor Piqueras, lives in a very modern equally sized apartment and pays $25 a month (not rent but monthly payment). Logically the next question was, could anyone come and rent an apartment for this and the answer was "yes."

Since no garbage pails and no litter was in evidence I asked what they did with it and was told this is a million dollar industry in Madrid. All garbage is collected by people in this business (not the city) and is converted into fertilizer and sold. Now, it becomes clear that litter must have value to keep it from being thrown on our streets and parks.

Appliances, however, are very expensive and a small stove about 24 inches by 24 inches would cost about $26 and a refrigerator from $200 up for a very small one. After viewing the apartments, I asked as I had before to see some individual homes and finally they came right out and said they were very few, and they had none to show me because this is no solution to a housing shortage.

On the way back into the city we drove through the park and passed the clearing where we saw young men training to be future bull fighters. I asked about the bullfights and he said as the fights are shown each Sunday afternoon in the same manner that we would watch a football game. I wondered "Who cheers for the bull?"

We stopped at Coya's burial place—a small chapel with the ceiling painted with some of his finest murals.

Senor Fonseca took me next to the Palace. He has an office here that he works in once a week. I hadn't seen the palace so we terminated our visit and he asked a guide to give me a tour. This was the most beautiful of the three palaces, in excellent condition and so much breathtaking beauty — impossible to describe. The guide spoke English and pointed out the interesting things such as where General Franco stands by the lion in the throne room instead of being seated on the throne and the dining hall that is still used for official functions, the last American president, to be entertained here was President Eisenhower. General Franco does not live in the palace, but it is still in use for official functions.

In the evening for dinner (11 p.m.), we made reservations at the famous "Jockey Club" where only 18 are served at one time. It seemed to us the quickest and the best service we had ever had, but felt slightly hurried. We enjoyed the food at the Commodore the next day in an equally as beautiful dining, with perfect service and delicious food.

Early the next morning Janet and I went to the famous "flea market" to look and shop. It looked as if all the castles of Europe had been ransacked and the items put up for sale—everything from bull fighters' capes to statues to ball point pens and thousands of crystal chandeliers. As I have said, money was a scarce item by now so we bought few things, but thoroughly enjoyed it.

Sunday — Early church in not the most beautiful cathedral because time was running out and as you can guess by this time energy is running thin also. We had to be ready and at the hotel entrance to go to the airport by 9:30. When the whole crowd assembled we all looked, with our bundles, like the gypsies we had been, laden with our "finds" and bargains and not such bargains) but all seemed ready to go home. No delay in boarding the airplane and in six hours we were in New York, customs was very simple and very easy and then on our plane for Norfolk and home, home, home.

Did I enjoy it? If I didn't, I've wasted many words and time telling everyone how very much I did and I'm ready to go back and see some more as soon as I recover.

King's Grant

Mrs. Lindsey Heads Administration of Elementary School

(This is one of a series of articles to appear each week on the men and women who serve as principals of the Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach schools.)

By Ruby Jean Phillips

KING'S GRANT — For 25 years Mrs. Anne Lindsey taught in a classroom but this year she looks at the school with a "different perspective" — across the principal's desk at King's Grant Elementary School.

"It had never occurred to me to give up the classroom for administration," she said, "but it has been one of the most challenging and rewarding experiences of my life. I've loved every minute of it."

Friendlyness Prevails — A "Welcome Parents" sign greets anyone entering the front door of King's Grant School and is indicative of the friendly atmosphere throughout the halls and classrooms.

Mrs. Lindsey, a warm and charming person, has probably had much to do with the friendliness of the school. She is interested in people — especially her students, their parents and the school staff. Having been a teacher herself for so many years she can understand and appreciate the problems and situations of the entire school, whether it be helping a teacher set up a special program, determining the source of a child's unhappiness or bridging the gap in teacher-parent relations.

"Drawing parents into the school program is so vital," she said, "it is necessary that they get to know their child's teacher and see for themselves what she is trying to do. We encourage parents to visit the classrooms and watch the teacher at work."

One thing Mrs. Lindsey is very emphatic about is teaching each child individually — not just one of a group.

"I feel very strong about individualized programs. I try to help the teachers here to set up classroom programs where they can teach the advanced child on his level and the slower child on his. It can be done. I think this is more important than dividing the children into separate groups. Each one benefits from the other and they should be mixed for that reason."

A busy agenda keeps Mrs. Lindsey constantly on the go but the one thing that takes

'Messiah' to Feature Two Beach Vocalists

VIRGINIA BEACH — Two Virginia Beach vocalists, Mrs. Joan Kenesary and Mrs. Mary Huffaker, will appear with the Norfolk Civic Chorus and Symphony Orchestra Monday when they present Handel's immortal "Messiah" at the Center Theater at 8:30 p.m.

This special Christmas program is the third of the regular concert series. Tickets to the performance will be on sale at the theater box office before the concert or may be reserved by calling Mrs. Pierre Schmitz at MA 2-2231.

Soloists will be Jane Paxhia, Henry Bernick and Robert Young, outstanding Norfolk singers and Evelyn Sachs of New York.

The "Messiah" should sound as powerful and tender and magnificently fresh to an audience today as it did when it was performed first some 220 years ago. "This is the real challenge," says Edgar Schenkman, conductor of the chorus and orchestra. An original score of the "Messiah" was discovered recently and it is this version of the Christmas story in three parts which will be performed in Norfolk for the first time on December 11, without all the additions and changes and ornate Victorian touches which have been added by various musicians through the years.

"Wonderously familiar yet gloriously new" is how one chorus member described the oratorio sung with string orchestra and harpsichord exactly as it was on the evening when King George II of England was so inspired that he rose and remained standing throughout the Hallelujah Chorus. Today, it is still one of the most profoundly moving of all musical compositions, whether for children coming to "experience Christmas" by hearing it live for the first time, or for devoted listeners coming to hear the well-loved masterpiece performed anew. For more than trees, toys, andinsel, this magnificent music is the true spirit of Christmas, a triumph of the human spirit which transcends time and touches every heart.

TB Film Made Available For Club Showings

NORFOLK — The film Merry-Go-Round, shown recently on WTAR-TV, is available for use as a program to P-T-A and civic organizations of all kinds. Arrangements can be made through the Tuberculosis and Health Association of Norfolk and Princess Anne Counties.

Merry-Go-Round, produced professionally for the National Tuberculosis Association, is a glimpse into the lives of people you might know, a busy general practitioner, a schoolgirl, a troubled mother, a business man faced with an unexpected moment of truth. Their story could be your next door neighbor's or YOUR story.

Starring in Merry-Go-Round is Mildred Tunnock, well known actress of TV, stage, and screen whose recent credits include roles in the stage production of Tennessee Williams' Cat On a Hot Tin Roof and in the movie version of John O'Hara's Butterfield 8. Supporting her in her role of a dedicated woman doctor is a competent cast of professional actors. Millard Lampell, author of the Broadway hit The Wall, wrote the screen play.

To engage the film for your organization or for further information about it call your Tuberculosis and Health Association, telephone 647-2041.

'Old Rugged Cross' Winner In Newspaper Hymn Poll

"The Old Rugged Cross" still is America's favorite hymn. More than 61,000 newspaper readers from coast to coast voted in the recent National Newspapers Hymn Poll and 10,462 of them chose "The Old Rugged Cross," a vivid hymn which describes the traditional meaning of the Cross, as their dearest religious song.

Bill McVey, the Christian Herald Gospel Singer, who directed the survey to determine the hymns America loves best, and Audience Analysts, Inc., Bala-Cynwyd, Pa., the independent research organization which tabulated votes from readers of more than 1,000 newspapers, reported that "How Great Thou Art" was a close second to "The Old Rugged Cross."

"How Great Thou Art," a dynamic gospel song describing God's omnipotence, received 8,449 votes. Audience Analysts said this large vote doubtless was due to the song's popularity at hymn sings across the country. "How Great Thou Art," a favorite selection of Bill McVey and Billy Graham, was fourth in last year's Christian Herald hymn poll and McVey attributed part of its current popularity to its moving evangelistic feeling and strong melody.

Third National Favorite — The third favorite hymn disclosed by the National Newspapers Hymn Poll was "What A Friend We Have in Jesus," a song which has earned a place in Americans' hearts by its warm expression of faith held by Protestants of every denomination, McVey said.

McVey, who has sung all the top 50 hymns at Christian Herald Community Hymn Sings across the country, reported that "In the Garden," a hymn which tells of God's compassion and guidance, received 3,868 votes for 4th place in the National Newspapers Hymn Poll and was especially preferred in the Midwest.

The Christian Herald Singer noted the rise in acceptance of "Amazing Grace" among American churchgoers. This gospel song, which relates how faith provides confidence, moved from ninth place in the 1960 Christian Herald hymn poll to fifth place with 1,816 votes in the National Newspapers Hymn Poll.

The sixth favorite hymn of the 81,445 Americans who voted was "Rock of Ages," a religious song which describes man's confidence in God. "Rock of Ages," seventh in McVey's Christian Herald poll, received 1,511 votes in the July - October National Newspapers Hymn Poll.

The next four favorites were: "Sweet Hour of Prayer," 1,157 votes; "Abide With Me," 1,112 votes; "Beyond the Sunset," 1,060 votes; and, "Whispering Hope," 741 votes.

"Whispering Hope" Moves Up — McVey said the vote received by "Whispering Hope" was the biggest surprise in the nationwide balloting. This hymn was 27th in the Christian Herald poll but moved to 10th in the National Newspapers Hymn Poll.

This year's poll, co-sponsored by Christian Herald Magazine, the nation's largest interdenominational Protestant publication, and newspaper editors in every state except Hawaii and Vermont, recorded more than 1,900 hymns and gospel songs. Last year, Christian Herald readers voted for 1,666 religious songs.

McVey said the most important point disclosed by this first definitive survey to determine the hymns America loves best was that American churchgoers do not prefer one type of religious song to another.

The last two years have seen a constant controversy between hymn editors, who downgrade hymns they feel are too sentimental and poorly composed and sometimes eliminate those religious songs from hymn books, and churchgoers who prefer hymns that have been the most inspiring to them and most useful for them to understand.

The National Newspapers Hymn Poll results show that American churchgoers want to sing sentimental hymns and gospel songs like "The Old Rugged Cross," McVey said. "If we are to get all Americans singing the hymns or gospel songs of the church again, choir directors, organists and ministers should note the favorites of newspaper readers across the country and encourage religious singing of every variety," he said.

"A silent faith is not as strong as a singing faith," McVey said. "Singing our favorite hymns is a natural way to create a national bond of brotherhood and moral strength in the face of the mounting Communist threat," the Christian Herald-Singer said.

McVey pointed out that readers who voted in the National Newspapers Hymn Poll divided their ballots almost equally for gospel songs such as "How Great Thou Art" and for hymns such as "What A Friend We Have in Jesus."

"Even though many of these hymns and gospel songs have been torn out of the hymn books, they can't be torn out of the hearts of people who love them," McVey said. "Americans are inspired by the simple melodies and sentiments of the lyrics of their favorite hymns and gospel songs."

The enthusiastic response to the National Newspapers Hymn Poll by men and women in almost every state indicates that ministers and choir directors should encourage more hymn singing in their churches and at the same time urge everyone to express his faith with song every day," Bill McVey said.

CORRECTION

An item appearing in this paper last week reported that a "Bow Creek Custom-Built Home" for sale through William B. Lumsden of Ackels Real Estate Co. was priced at $25,000. The correct price is $25,500. The Sun-News regrets this error. Mr. and Mrs. Lumsden recently sold their real estate interests to Ackels Real Estate Co. after operating the Lumsden Agency at Virginia Beach for nearly two decades.

Slattum Heads Bond Division

VIRGINIA BEACH — C. Francis Cocke, Chairman of the Virginia Savings Bonds Committee, has announced the appointment of Earl V. Slattum of Virginia Beach as Chairman for Princess Anne County.

Mr. Slattum, whose service as County Chairman began in early 1947, Mr. Cocke emphasized the conspicuous service rendered to the Bond Program by Mr. Slattum, even before his chairmanship of Princess Anne County. "We are, indeed, reluctant to give up the official connection of men of Mr. Slattum's stature who have rendered such outstanding service to the program over the years," stated Chairman Cocke.

Mr. Slattum was employed by the National Bank of Commerce in April of 1949, after service in the U. S. Navy. Since that time, he has managed both the Suburban Park and Tidewater Drive offices of the National Bank of Commerce.

He holds a graduate certificate from the American Institute of Banking and is a past president. Mr. Slattum is presently a member of the Board of Governors of the Norfolk-Portsmouth Chapter, American Institute of Banking.

In addition to being a member of other organizations, he is a member of the Official Board of the Baylake Methodist Church.

He resides in Thoroughgood, Princess Anne County, with his wife, Anne Jacob, and three sons, Earl Jr., William T. and Keven Lee.

Arch Coleman Served With OSS In World War II

VIRGINIA BEACH — For five years Arch Coleman of Virginia Beach lived a life of pretense. As a member of the Office of Strategic Services, or as the history books will call it, the OSS, during World War II, the man known as Arch Coleman dropped out of existence and took on an assumed name to live in a world created for him by the government to spy on enemy forces.

Under a false name he lived in Mexico as a locomotive salesman, in Spain as a vice consul for the State Department and in Turkey as a war correspondent for The Saturday Evening Post. Actually Coleman was none of these things — he was there in each instance to gather information for the Military Attaches.

At the start of the war a group of 15 people gathered in Washington to establish a spy service. The group, one of which was Coleman, remained nameless to each other, except for first names, and were paid directly from the White House by President Roosevelt. Coordinated by the famous "Wild Bill" Donovan, this group became the OSS.

By the end of the war this group had grown to 18,000. Each man had a specialty, Coleman said, whether it was languages, railroads, politics or many other fields.

Why Him?

How or why Coleman was picked, he still doesn't know. Nor does he know who recommended him. He believes he was chosen because he speaks French and Spanish fluently and because he had spent 12 years in Mexico as a machine dealer and later with the Trade Commission.

His first assignment was in Mexico. He still has a letter from Donovan telling him to leave Mexico within 10 days

ARCH COLEMAN

"because your life is in danger." Despite the warning, Coleman remained for six weeks until he collected the information he had been sent for.

He next went to Spain but his stay there was cut short so that he could return to the States to direct a school established to train undercover agents. From the school's secret location, Coleman processed about 300 men.

Two of these agents were later captured by the German Gestapo but were so well trained in undercover work that they convinced the Gestapo they were on military assignment and were imprisoned rather than executed.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

When a veteran applies for VA hospitalization or domiciliary care he is asked to designate a person to receive his personal effects in event of his death in the hospital. This designation is made by completion of a section of his application.

The designation made by the veteran on his application is not to be considered his will in any sense of the word. The designation simply authorizes the VA to release any personal effects to the person named by the veteran. The person receiving such personal property is expected to distribute the property in accordance with the laws of the state of which the veteran was a resident at time of his death in the hospital.

When a veteran dies in a VA facility the law requires that the designee be informed that the VA is transferring custody of the veteran's money and effects he brought with him to the hospital, that the transfer does not affect title thereto, and that the designee must distribute the property to the legal heirs.

The U. S. Atlantic Fleet's amphibious forces use both frontal attack and vertical envelopment (helicopters behind enemy lines) during an amphibious landing.

The Bullup missile used in the U. S. Atlantic Fleet allows a plane to fire it while staying outside the effective range of enemy ground fire.

TRADITIONAL CHRISTMAS BREAD

Stollen, like the Christmas tree, came to us from Germany. And, like the Christmas tree, it's become an American tradition. Rich and good as it is, it's easy to make. Stollen keeps well, too; so make several before Christmas and give them as gifts to very special friends.

STOLLEN

- |                          |                                     |
|--------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| 1/2 cup milk             | 1/2 cup chopped blanched almonds    |
| 1/2 cup sugar            | 1/2 cup finely cut candied citron   |
| 1 teaspoon salt          | 1/2 cup finely cut candied cherries |
| 2 tablespoons shortening | 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind        |
| 1/4 cup very warm water  | 1 tablespoon soft margarine         |
| 1 package or cake yeast  | or butter                           |
| active dry or compressed | 2 tablespoons sugar                 |
| 1 egg, beaten            | 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon               |
| 3 cups sifted flour      | Pinch cardamom (optional)           |

Scald milk and stir in sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm.
Measure water into bowl (very warm, not hot, for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed). Sprinkle yeast crumble in yeast. Stir until dissolved and add lukewarm milk mixture and egg. Stir in 1 cup flour and almonds, citron, cherries and lemon rind. Stir in remaining flour. Turn dough out on lightly floured board and knead, adding more flour if needed to prevent dough sticking to board. Knead until dough is smooth and elastic (about 5 minutes). Shape into a smooth ball. Place in lightly greased bowl and brush top with melted shortening. Cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled (about 1 1/2 hours). Punch down. Cover and let rest 5 to 10 minutes. With palms of hands press dough into oval shape a scant 1/2 inch thick. Spread half of oval with soft margarine or butter. Mix sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle on top.
Fold unspread half lengthwise over sugar and cinnamon, making edges even. Lift to lightly greased baking sheet. Curve the ends slightly. Press down the folded edge, not the open edge. This helps the loaf keep its shape as it rises and bakes. Cover and let rise until doubled (about 1 1/4 hours). Bake in 350-degree oven 30 to 35 minutes. Remove from baking sheet. When cool, frost and decorate.

FROSTING

- |                                     |                          |
|-------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar | Candied cherries, sliced |
| 1 tablespoon top milk or cream      | 2 tablespoons chopped or |
| 1/2 teaspoon vanilla                | sifted almonds           |

Mix sugar and milk or cream to make a smooth, thick frosting that will just pour. Add vanilla. Pour over top of loaf, letting frosting drip down sides. Decorate with sliced cherries and sprinkle with almonds.

inch angel food cake into 3 even layers. Place bottom layer on cake plate. Whip 2 cups whipping cream. Fold 1 cup of the whipped cream into each of the fillings. Fold 1/2 cup of moist shredded coconut into each filling. Spread coconut filling on bottom layer, top with second. Spread pink filling on second layer, cover with top layer. Spread remaining

CHERRY MINCE PIE

Hostesses have a way of competing with each other in comparing the quality and distinction of certain holiday foods.

Particular festive attractions such as pies, and Cherry-Mince Pie to name a favorite, cakes and cookies are all included in the category of festive food finery.

Without a doubt, mincemeat and pumpkin pie are number one and two favorites during the holiday; but for novel appeal, try a pie with Cherry-Mince filling. It's a combination that's due for permanent recognition in the holiday pie class.

The city manager shall hold such hearing as he may deem advisable and shall review the estimates and other data pertinent to the preparation of the budget and make such revisions in such estimates as he may deem proper, subject to the laws of the Commonwealth relating to obligatory expenditures for any purpose, except that in the case of the school board he may recommend a revision only in its total estimated expenditures. Section 5.04. BALANCED BUDGET. In no event shall the expenditures recommended by the city manager in the budget exceed the receipts estimated, taking into account the estimated cash surplus or deficit at the end of the current fiscal year, unless the city manager shall recommend an increase in the rate of ad valorem taxes on real estate and tangible personal property or other new or increased taxes or licenses within the power of the city to levy and collect in the ensuing fiscal year the receipts from which estimated on the basis of the average experience with the same or similar taxes during the three years last past, will make up the difference. Section 5.07. PUBLIC HEARING. The Council shall hold a public hearing on the budget as submitted, at which all interested persons shall be given an opportunity to be heard. Should the council take no action prior to such day, the budget shall be deemed to have been finally adopted as submitted. In no event shall the council adopt a budget in which the estimated total of expenditures exceeds receipts, unless at the same time it adopts measures to provide additional revenue estimated to be sufficient to make up the difference.

encumbered and unappropriated sum sufficient to meet such appropriations.

Chapter 6 BORROWING
Section 6.01. BORROWING POWER. The council may, in the name of and for the use of the city, incur indebtedness by issuing its negotiable bonds or notes for the purposes, in the manner and to the extent provided in this chapter.

Section 6.02. PURPOSES FOR WHICH BONDS OR NOTES MAY BE ISSUED. Bonds or notes of the city may be issued for the following purposes:

(b) To anticipate the collection of revenue.—Notes may be issued when authorized by the council, at any time during the fiscal year in anticipation of the collection of revenue of such year.
(c) To refund outstanding bonds.—Bonds may be issued for the purpose of refunding existing bonds, provided that the director of finance shall certify in writing that such refunding is necessary to prevent default on the interest or principal of the city's outstanding bonds or in the case of callable bonds to secure a lower rate of interest.

Section 6.03. LIMITATIONS ON INDEBTEDNESS. In the issuance of bonds and notes the city shall be subject to the limitations as to amount contained in Section 127 of the Constitution.

Section 6.04. FORM OF BONDS. Bonds and notes of the city shall be issued in the manner provided by general law.

Section 6.05. AUTHORITY FOR ISSUANCE OF BONDS. No bonds of the city shall be issued until their issuance shall have been authorized by a majority of the qualified voters of the city voting at an election held for the purpose and in the manner provided by general law; provided, however, that the council may issue bonds in an amount not exceeding $500,000 in any calendar year or notes in anticipation of the collection of revenue without submitting the question of their issuance to the qualified voters.

Section 6.06. PAYMENT OF BONDS AND NOTES. The power and obligation of the city to pay any and all bonds and notes issued pursuant to this charter, except revenue bonds made payable solely from revenue producing properties, shall be unlimited and the city shall levy ad valorem taxes upon all taxable property within the city for the payment of such bonds or notes and the interest thereon, without limitation as to rate or amount. The full faith and credit of the city are hereby pledged for the payment of the principal of and interest on all bonds and notes of the City of Virginia Beach and of Princess Anne County and any sanitary districts therein issued and outstanding on the effective date of this charter, and of the city hereafter issued pursuant to this charter, except revenue bonds made payable solely from revenue producing properties, whether or not such pledge be stated in the bonds or notes or in the bond ordinance authorizing their issuance.

Severe Bleeding Demands Quick Action Until Doctor Arrives

By G. J. CURRY, M.D.

(When someone is struck down and badly injured in an accident, first aid, given before a doctor can get to the injured one, may save his life. Everyone should know what to do in these emergencies. The following article, prepared as a public service by the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company, tells what to do in one serious instance. It is one of a series appearing in this newspaper.)

Anyone cut so that he is bleeding badly is in real trouble and needs attention immediately.

Doing the right thing until a doctor arrives can save his life. The first thing to do is stop, or retard, the bleeding.

The second thing is to get the injured person to a doctor or a hospital.

The way to stop bleeding in almost all cases is to apply pressure at the source, where the cut is. This can be done by making a pad of any soft cloth available, a sterile gauze bandage of course preferable, and applying it directly to the wound with the hand. It also can be done by bandaging a large dressing in place.

In an emergency any handy piece of cloth — a shirt, scarf, underwear or anything similar — can be used.

Careful handling of the patient is always important. Don't try to move him. Call an ambulance as quickly as possible. Keep crowds away and take off clothing very gently.

Remember, tourniquets, although having a proper use in exceptional cases, are dangerous. They can cause gangrene if they are applied too tight and too long. The only use of a tourniquet should be as a last resort in an extreme situation, or where an arm or leg has been severed and hand pressure is not sufficient to stop the bleeding.

It is very important to get the patient to a hospital. But there is no reason for driving at a high speed; this will only shake up the patient unnecessarily, and he is in enough trouble without that. It also puts the victim and others in danger of an automobile accident. An injured person deserves something better.

In some cases, where the injury and bleeding are on a leg or arm, there should be splinting. Binding the arm or leg to a straight and rigid splint insures rest and protection of the wounded part. This is especially true for injuries near joints.

Boards of any kind or straight sticks can be used in an emergency. They should be cut to the right size and bound securely to the arm or leg to keep it motionless.

There are different kinds of bleeding.

Small veins ooze blood. Larger ones have a steady flow of blood. And arteries spurt blood at the heart beats.

So, when someone is severely cut or wounded and is bleeding badly.

Stop the bleeding with pressure.

Call a doctor and an ambulance.

Keep the victim quiet and warm.

And keep cool.

Postmaster Nash Urges Early Mailing Now For Christmas

"It's time to start planning your Christmas card and gift mailings," Postmaster Nash said today as he launched his 1961 "Mail Early For Christmas" Campaign.

Looking ahead to what may be the biggest Christmas season ever, the Postmaster said further, "Here are the things to watch to help in getting every Christmas card and package delivered before December 25th."

CHECK your Christmas card and gift lists carefully. Be sure each address is complete with full name, street and number, city, zone and state. Avoid abbreviations of city and state names.

FOR YOUR GIFT PACKAGES, secure heavy wrapping paper, sturdy corrugated cartons, strong cord and adhesive tape. Remember, also, that you can include your Christmas card or letter inside your gift packages if you will add the appropriate First Class mail stamps to the postage for the package itself.

STOCK UP ON POSTAGE STAMPS — By doing this soon, you'll save lots of time that might be spent standing in line later on. When you go to the Post Office, ask for a supply of labels which read, "ALL FOR LOCAL DELIVERY" and "ALL FOR OUT OF TOWN DELIVERY," so that before you mail your Christmas cards you can sort them into two groups, with the addresses all facing one way, thus expediting delivery.

The Post Office will help you plan your Christmas mailings. Get a copy of Pamphlet No. 2, which gives full information about proper packaging and wrapping of parcels.

FIRST CLASS POSTAGE IS BEST for mailing your Christmas cards. All cards sent by 4 cent postage may include a personal handwritten message, and they'll be forwarded or returned, if that becomes necessary. Be sure to put your return address on your Christmas card envelopes. It's socially correct to do this, and enables both you and your friends to keep your mailing lists up-to-date.

Predicting that this year's Christmas mail will set an all time record, even exceeding the 175,000 pieces that were handled here in the pre-holiday season of 1960, the Postmaster pointed out the importance of planning your Christmas mailings now to avoid a lot of headaches when the Christmas rush comes in earnest.

He said further, that through the excellent cooperation of the public during recent Christmas seasons, he has been able to get all of the Christmas cards and packages dispatched and delivered before Christmas Eve.

"We can all make the 1961 'Mail-Early For Christmas' Campaign a big success," he continued, "if we'll all take a personal responsibility in planning our Christmas mailings so that cards and gift packages going to most distant points are mailed by December 10th, and earlier, if possible. Christmas packages for local destinations should be mailed by December 15th, and be sure to mail your Christmas cards for friends and relatives in this area at least a week before Christmas."

News for HOMEMAKERS

By MRS. ELIZABETH H. DEAL
Home Demonstration Agent

"SO YOU THINK YOU'VE GOT TROUBLES"

"Suppose you had to prepare food as women did in the 1700's. At the recent Christmas meeting recipes from Williamsburg were compared with more modern ones. This all began when a Home Demonstration Group visited Williamsburg while studying Art in the 18th Century. It was decided to use food from the same period for the annual Christmas meeting. All of the old recipes make interesting reading. Here's an example:

Virginia Ham (Old Recipe)
(This recipe written on the fly-leaf of the Bible owned by the first William Byrd of Westover.)

To eat ye Ham in Perfection steep it in half Milk and half water for thirty-six hours, and then having brought the Water to a Boil put ye Ham therein and let it simmer, not boil, for

Among some of the items on sale will be ornaments, Christmas candles, decorated dust pans and shells, stuffed toys, baked goods, aprons and a raffle of a beautiful door wreath.

4 or 5 Hours according to Size of ye Ham — for simmering brings ye Salt out and boiling drives it in. (C-1874)

Green Peas (Old Recipe—1831)

To have them in Perfection, they must be quite young, gathered early in the Morning, kept in a cool Place, and not shelled until they are to be dressed; put Salt in the Water, and when it boils put in the Peas; boil them quick, twenty or thirty Minutes, according to their age; just before they are taken up, add a little Mint chopped very fine; drain all the Water from the Peas, put in a Bit of Butter, and serve them up quite hot.

However they would not be very practical for today for many reasons. The Christmas dinner menu suggestions shown were Baked Ham, Minted Peas, Tossed Salad, Sally Lunn, and choice of Wine Jelly or Topsy Pudding made by new recipes. The group were served ham biscuits, minted peas, and tippy pudding and coffee.

Assisting at the meeting held at VEPCO, Virginia Beach, were Elizabeth Deal, Home Demonstration Agent, Lois Erdman, Assistant Home Demonstration Agent and Betty Jo Curran.

Arch Coleman

Anxious to get back into the field, Coleman left the school to take an assignment in Istanbul, Turkey. With the cooperation of the editors of Saturday Evening Post, for whom he had previously done some articles, he established himself there as a war correspondent for the magazine.

While his parents in Minnesota were watching the Post for his by-line stories (even they were unaware of his true position), he was compiling information on the enemy for the Chiefs of Staff. Only once did he truly write a story. He was pressured into doing an article for a Turkish weekly magazine and it carried his by-line.

"Working undercover isn't easy," Coleman said. "You have to work at it. Especially in assuming the false name. If you ever hear someone call you by your true name you must be so well-trained that you never show any sign of acknowledgment."

Not Him

He had one close call. Once he was approached in a public place in Turkey by a man he had known years before in Guatemala asking him if his name was Coleman. He denied any knowledge of such a person and convinced the man he was mistaken.

Agents from many countries were operating in Turkey at that time, Coleman said, but the only ones the OSS men could never find out anything about were the Russian agents.

"We knew there had to be some Russian spies there but we never even cross their trails. Guess that was the difference between we amateurs and the professionals. Their men had undoubtedly been trained most of their lives for the job. We had learned ours only since the war."

After the war Coleman married Madeline, the girl he had met in 1941 in Mexico when she was down there as a tourist. For many years he was in the public relations field until he came here in 1957 with the American Land Co., the group that is developing the Dismal Swamp.

Building Home

He and Mrs. Coleman are both involved now in building a lovely new home on a secluded 3-acre site overlooking the Lynnhaven River near Trantwood Shores. The house was designed by Mrs. Coleman and he is doing much of the work himself since building and cabinet-making is one of his hobbies. The top floor of the 2-story home will be occupied by their teenage daughter, Claudia, a student at Country Day School for Girls.

Through his experiences with the OSS were interesting, Coleman denies that they were dangerous.

"I wrote a few chapters of a proposed book on my experiences," he laughed, "and submitted them to a publishing company. They wrote back that though the story sounded authentic and genuine it just was not exciting enough!"

TURKEY SHOOT SAT. & SUN.
VIRGINIA BEACH—The Virginia Beach Moose Lodge No. 1988 will hold a turkey shoot Saturday and Sunday at London Bridge on Rt. 58. The public is invited to take a try on a Christmas turkey.

Interest Builds Among District Girl Scouting

For the past few months there has been increasing enthusiasm for Girl Scouting in the Princess Anne District. New troops, new girls, new leaders, and longer waiting lists have been added to the already existing organization of about 2,100 girls and adults.

The District Committee, composed of Neighborhood Chairmen and a District Chairman, is also newly re-organized. This committee is now made up of adults new to these particular positions, but all veteran Girl Scouts. These are the people who must be introduced to the public so that they can fulfill their duties of helping girls and adults who already belong to Girl Scouting and those who want to belong.

We need leaders and Co-Leaders. Probably the great majority of the leaders are mothers of Scout age girls, although this is not always the case. Some career girls have troops and hold their meetings in the evening or on Saturday. Some young married girls without children have troops. It is not necessary to have been a Girl Scout yourself. We supply a brief training period that is fun and informative. There is always help available through your Neighborhood Chairman and the Girl Scout Office. The only thing you need is a genuine interest in little girls and we have a place for you.

Mrs. D. E. Holland is the District Chairman of this committee and Mrs. George Sharp is Secretary.

Representing the Neighborhoods on this committee are: Aragona Neighborhood, Mrs. E. D. Anderson, GY 7-2789.

Back Bay Neighborhood, Mrs. Evelyn Reynolds, Princess Anne, 426-2296.

Bayside Neighborhood, Mrs. J. W. Sands, HO 4-1611, extension 307.

Diamond Springs Neighborhood, Mrs. Lois Jordan, 464-5171.

Kempville Neighborhood, Mrs. J. L. Craig, Jr., 341-4157.

Oceans Neighborhood, Mrs. Ralph Whitaker, GA 8-4388.

Virginia Beach Neighborhood, Mrs. M. F. Duckworth, GA 8-4235.

Rosemont Neighborhood, Mrs. Dolores Logan. This is a new Neighborhood and has one Brownie troop and one Intermediate troop already formed.

The Committee is now in the process of re-establishing the Linkhorn Neighborhood, and Mrs. George Sharp, GA 8-3698, acting as temporary Neighborhood Chairman, may be contacted for this area.

Mrs. Lindsay

priority is keeping an inventory on the needs of the school.

"It is so important to have a fine library, and we do have one, and have all the adequate materials for the teacher to work with."

Home, too, is a busy place for Mrs. Lindsay for she believes in hobbies when time permits. Painting is one of her favorite forms of relaxation and a lovely print over her desk is proof of her talent. She and her husband, James C. (Jake) Lindsay, both enjoy antiques and have filled their home on Curlew Drive in Birdneck Point with some of the items they picked up "for a song" and refinished. Twin beds made from the door framing of an old farmhouse and an interesting chest are their favorite pieces.

A native of Virginia, Mrs. Lindsay had taught at W. T. Cooke since 1945 before her principalship and has also taught in elementary schools in Hillsville and Hopewell. She attended Longwood College and the College of William & Mary in Williamsburg.

About 15 years ago Mrs. Lindsay "retired" from the teaching profession to keep house, play bridge and take it easy. After about four years of this she was asked to substitute.

"The minute I walked into that classroom it was as if I had never been away. I knew that children were my life. They always will be."

CAVALIER GARDEN CLUB
VIRGINIA BEACH — The Cavalier Garden Club held its meeting at the Princess Anne Country Club, Wednesday, Nov. 15th.

Mrs. W. M. Gresham lectured on the various decorations for mantles, doorways, halls and tables. The different sizes of candles made interesting exhibits.

Arrangements depicting "Festive Holiday" were made with Mrs. Robert P. Maul winning a blue ribbon for her turkey of various colored chrysanthemums. Mrs. L. O. Clark and Mrs. V. K. Almond won blue ribbons for table arrangements of fruits and flowers.

Mrs. Carl Rau, president, gave an interesting report and also mentioned the various Christmas tours around the vicinity.

The next meeting will be a Christmas Tea at the Princess Anne Country Club.

Contact these people if you have girls who want to belong to the Girl Scouts or if we could interest you, the mothers, in helping to make growing up for girls happier and better.

TO UNDERSTANDING

Suppose you were given keys that would unlock the mysteries of the universe. With them, you could answer the "whys" that plague all of us. You'd know what was going to happen to you and those around you tomorrow—next month—next year.

Would you use them?
Of course, you say! Think again. And, once you've thought, you might shake your head, hand then back, and say, "No thank you."

Common sense tells us that man was not meant to understand every mystery of life. The reasons "why" remain as they are because our Creator in His wisdom thoroughly knows just how much man can both stand and understand.

God has a greater gift for you than these, or any other keys... the gift of Faith. You will find it by going to church regularly.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and godliness. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake, and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plans to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ALTA D. VELLINGS

Landmark Burned Down By Ches. Beach VFD—On Purpose
An old landmark at Chesapeake Beach was razed Sunday by the Chesapeake Beach Volunteer Fire Department and the Davis Corner Fire Department.

The "landmark" was the old Christopoulos home at the corner of Pleasure House Road and Terrace Avenue. The reason? Progress. To make way for the tunnel road. The Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel that is.

The Christopoulos family had resided in this home at Chesapeake Beach for thirty some years and sold it a few years ago when they moved into their new home in Lake Shores.

All of the old timers of Chesapeake Beach turned out and there was mixed feelings about the whole thing. It was amazing to all of us who were watching at how quickly the house was demolished. It brought home to us just how fast a home would go if there was no Fire Department.

The 35 volunteer firemen from the Chesapeake Beach and Davis Corner Fire Departments kept the surrounding places wet down so there was no danger of the fire spreading. It was an ideal day for such an undertaking, still add calm with no breeze.

The next house on Terrace Avenue, occupied by the Greenhouse family is to be burned sometime this week.

Just as the firemen were winding up their hoses and preparing to leave, a call came through from Robbins Corner.

A fire house was on fire. So both fire departments took off and in no time the fire was put out.

LIVELINESS AND LUXURY AT A LOW, LOW PRICE

NEW CHEVY II

Never before such a team of totally new cars! Sedans, hardtop, station wagons, even a convertible... you name it, Chevy II has it. Nine models in all now in production. What are they like? Well, imagine all the solid virtues you've always counted on from Chevrolet... the steadfast dependability, the dyed-in-the-wool comfort... all dressed up in a new just-right size and built a modern new way. That's Chevy II. It's easy on the eyes, easy on the road and easy on your pocketbook. It's ultra-easy to service and maintain. Front fenders, bolt on and off for easy repairs. Two spunky engines, a four and a six (your choice in most models), purr along merrily on regular gas—and darn little of it, too. Thanks to new Mono-Plate rear springs, the ride reminds you of the big Chevrolet—and you know how smooth that is. The space inside for people and things puts you in mind of big cars, too. So does the cushy comfort. But Chevy II parts company from anything else around when it comes to offering all these fine features—at a sensible low price. Fact is, luxury and low price have never been blended so beautifully. Check your Chevrolet dealer and see for yourself.

CHEVY II 400 4-DOOR 3-SEAT WAGON. Packs a whopping 76.2 cu. ft. of cargo.

CHEVY II NOVA 400 CONVERTIBLE. It's Chevrolet's lowest priced convertible.

CHEVY II 300 4-DOOR SEDAN. Neat and practical 6-passenger family model.

Now look 'em over and try one out!

CHEVY II NOVA 400 SPORT COUPE. Handsome hardtop with top-of-the-line go and glamor—at a pleasin' kind of price.

Safe Winter Driving Calls For Sane, Cautious Thinking

BOSTON — Good driving techniques are the key to safe winter driving.

Fog, sleet, freezing rain and wet snow can turn normally safe highways into slick, treacherous accident traps for the unwary. So, when winter arrives, be ready for the hazards. For safety, when the roads are slippery and slushy, the motoring experts for the world-wide Avis Rent-A-Car System offer these tips:

In rain, fog or snow, turn on your lights. Low beams will give you better visibility. At night, in these conditions, high beams only reflect back in your face.

If the road is slippery, use a sure but easy touch on the gas and brakes to speed up or slow down. To find out how slippery the road is, try your brakes occasionally while driving slowly and away from traffic.

To recover, if you should start to skid on an icy stretch of road, turn the front wheels in the direction of the skid. Stay off the brakes. Don't accelerate!

The best way to stop on ice is to "pump" rapidly on your brake. Don't jam down on them. If you do you'll go into a spin or a skid. "Pumping" the brake prevents continuous locking or skidding of the wheels. On slippery roads, locked wheels can be fatal. If the wheels lock, the car is out of control. Also, if you have a gear-shift model, don't shift into another gear until you are almost stopped. A lower gear often causes skids.

If you're stuck in the snow, don't spin your wheels. Rock them, instead. Star straight forward in low gear at slow speed. When you've gone as far forward as you can, quickly shift into reverse. If the wheels start to spin, shift into low back and forth several times rapidly. However, if your car has automatic transmission do not shift while the engine is racing.

It takes more distance to stop on melting ice or snow than when it is frozen. Train yourself to keep a wary eye open for slippery spots.

Always signal well in advance of a stop or turn. Anyone following you has time then to slow down without skidding.

If you do get stuck somewhere, run your engine for heat only if the exhaust system is in perfect condition. Don't let wind blow fumes under the car. Don't let snow drive over your exhaust pipe. Carbon monoxide has killed hundreds of stalled motorists. Beware of drowsiness. It may be a warning.

Early darkness, cloudy and misty weather, rain, snowstorms, frosted or spattered windshields — all make it difficult to see. For wintertime driving, be double sure your windows are clean and your windshield wipers don't streak. After a storm clear off all snow and ice from your windshield and all other windows of your car. It's a good idea, too, to clean off your headlights, turn signals and tail lights.

Snow banks often hide danger. Be alert for stalled vehicles, hidden driveways, intersections and pedestrians. On slippery roads, start off smoothly. Increase your gas pedal pressure only enough to handle the load. "Too much gas" will spin the wheels, cause you to lose traction. Spinning wheels create heat. Cold tires grip best. With conventional transmissions, avoid letting the clutch pedal out abruptly. Starting the car in second helps. Cars with automatic transmission start smoothly on ice when driven gently.

There is no sure way to get positive traction under all winter driving conditions, of course. But Avis safety experts point out that chains and snow tires are helpful.

A recent test by the National Safety Council evaluated the effectiveness of snow tires and chains in facilitating ice and snow driving. The Council's test results indicated that reinforced chains — in which each link of the cross-chain is reinforced with projecting cleats or teeth — are best for stopping ability and for traction under adverse winter driving conditions. Snow tires, the report said, sometimes, but no always, have an appreciable advantage over regular tires. But they are never as positive as reinforced chains.

At 20 miles-an-hour in 20 degree weather on glare ice, regular tires would require about 188 feet to bring a car to a stop. Snow tires would need about 168 feet. Reinforced chains would take only 83 feet. On loosely packed snow, regular tires would need about 56 feet. Snow tires would stop the car in about 48 feet. Reinforced chains would need only about 39 feet.

There is an advantage in using snow tires, say the Avis driving experts, if your motoring is done on clear roads. Under such conditions, chains give the tires a bad beating, provide a rough and noisy ride.

"The best thing I can say in warning about winter driving," adds Winston V. Morrow, Jr., Executive Vice President of Avis, "is to cite the advice of the National Safety Council itself:

NOW THERE ARE FOUR CLASSES OF CARS

And only Ford offers all four! Each is represented by a separate and distinct line of cars, and one (the Fairlane) is in the new class not offered by any other manufacturer. Look below for the new car that exactly fits your needs.

COMPACT CLASS:

This class includes cars with 106 to 114-inch wheelbase. Most popular by far (a million happy owners!) is the Ford Falcon. Falcon is America's lowest-priced 6-passenger car, set a 25-year record for Sales or Lights in last spring's Mobilgas Economy Run, gives you a choice of 15 models, including the Futura and new Falcon Squire wagon.

FAIRLANE CLASS:

The 1962 Ford Fairlane is the first member of a new class which combines the advantages of both compact and big cars... you get big car room, ride and performance... compact savings and maneuverability. Priced below many compacts, Fairlane even rivals some in gas economy. Has twice-a-year maintenance introduced by the Galaxie.

FULL-SIZE CLASS:

The class for families who want big car comfort, performance and prestige. Value leader is the Ford Galaxie — which has every essential feature of far costlier fine cars. With the optional Thunderbird 390 V-8 engine, a Galaxie will outperform America's most expensive luxury cars. Requires servicing only twice a year, or every 6,000 miles.

LUXURY CLASS:

The top class — cars for people who want the very finest. First of the trim-size luxury cars, the 4-passenger Thunderbird is the most distinctive car in this class. Its styling set the trend for an entire generation of cars and now finds a new elegance in the Landau (left). And Thunderbird's performance is just this side of flight.

Whatever you're looking for in a car... look to the long Ford line!

Norfolk Council Changes Motion On Beach Water

NORFOLK—Norfolk Mayor W. Fred Duckworth joined other members of Norfolk City Council Tuesday in rescinding last week's action to cut off Virginia Beach's water supply if the proposed Virginia Beach-Princess Anne County merger goes through.

The Council voted 4-0 to cancel the controversial move. Councilman Lewis L. Layton proposed the cancellation and Mayor Duckworth seconded. Other councilmen present at the afternoon meeting were Sam T. Barfield and Linwood F. Perkins.

Wording Wrong

In a lengthy prepared statement, Layton said Duckworth's motion last week was not to cut the water off but to bring to the attention of Virginia Beach, Princess Anne County and Norfolk residents the facts on the water situation as pertaining to the merger.

If county and beach voters approve the merger referendum Jan. 4 and it is ratified by the 1962 General Assembly, the new City of Virginia Beach will go into effect Jan. 1, 1963.

Norfolk City Council previously voted 5-1 to terminate Virginia Beach's water contract when it expires Dec. 31, 1962, the day before the new city is formed.

"We don't have any intention of turning off spigots unless people have been given adequate time for a new water supply source," Mayor Duckworth told private citizens attending the meeting.

After Norfolk City Council passed the motion last week to cut off the water, three councilmen, Barfield, Perkins and Martin, publicly stated that they were voting to investigate whether or not the city could legally end its contract with Virginia Beach.

Virginia Beach has been purchasing its water from Norfolk for about 40 years, paying a bulk rate of 27 cents per 1,000 gallons, and reselling it to residents at more than double that rate.

Resort's Line

The resort city paid the cost of laying the first pipe line from Norfolk. For many years the City of Norfolk has been syphoning water off these lines by additional taps, decreasing the necessary water pressure in Virginia Beach. Because of the pressure decrease, Virginia Beach applied for and received funds in the 1940s from the Federal Works Agency in Washington to improve the condition. The money was turned over to Norfolk to build a new 20-inch pipe line which is now supplying water to Virginia Beach.

P.A. Board Again Has Bar Pit Problem

PRINCESS ANNE—A 20-acre piece of land that promises to net its owner over $100,000 from the sale of fill dirt for the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel became a point of controversy in the Board of Supervisor's meeting Monday.

Located near Old Donation Church in the vicinity of Aragona Village, the land is the property of Gordon Oliver and will be used as a borrow pit to furnish dirt for the tunnel project.

League Opposed
In September 2000 persons in Aragona Village signed a petition opposing the pit after the Planning Commission gave Gordon the go-ahead in their recommendations. At that time the Board of Supervisors returned the matter to the Planning Commission for further study.

The planning group referred their decision Monday and recommended that the Oliver petition be denied, stating that the area that was formerly used for farming is now used mostly for housing.

Speaking on his own behalf, Gordon Oliver explained to the Board that "this pit will be en-

MEMBERS QUESTION AUTHORITY OF CIVIC LEAGUE 'SPOKESMEN'

Volunteers Wish Citizens Safe Holiday

Members of the Virginia Beach Volunteer Fire Department would like to wish all citizens of this area a safe and merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

To make it a safe holiday the department offers these tips: (1) always take the children with you when you leave the house; (2) remember that over half the fires in the U.S. are caused by cigarettes, matches and misuse of electrical appliances — don't smoke in bed, don't leave the tree lights unattended and discard all frayed decoration wiring; (3) choose decorations carefully keeping inflammable ones to a minimum and keep the tree in water; and (4) know how to call the fire department if you need help by dialing GA 5-121.

J.C.'s Endorse Merger Plan

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce publicly endorsed the proposed Virginia Beach-Princess Anne County merger Tuesday night by voting to support it.

Internal vice president Gummy Forbes brought the approval motion before the group and Councilman Edward Caton III, also a member, answered questions on the merger before the vote was made.

"The Jaycees are made up of young men between the ages of 21 and 35 who will benefit from this merger," Forbes said. "This is a good chance for the young men in the community to voice their opinion and stand behind such a move."

"The Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel entering into Virginia Beach, this becoming the largest resort town in the United States, plus the cooperation of all the new citizens will make the City of Virginia Beach one of the outstanding areas on the East Coast."

P.O. Christmas Jobs Are Filled

VIRGINIA BEACH — With Christmas just around the corner, Postmaster J. T. Crosswhite, Jr., said today that his office is being flooded with applications for Christmas employment. The Department has 11 positions for Temporary Christmas Assistants and regulations require that the first selections be made from the Civil Service Register.

With so many students seeking employment during their holiday vacation, plus other applications received, he now has approximately ten applications per position, making the task of selection a very difficult one.

Postmaster Crosswhite said the mail volume has increased tremendously the past few days and the Post Office is a very busy place, with every effort being made to assure the best possible service for patrons during the holiday season.

Appearance Before Norfolk Council Brings Resentment

VIRGINIA BEACH—Three Princess Anne County residents who have business affiliations in Norfolk appeared before Norfolk City Council Tuesday asking the Council to take steps to calm the county's fears of annexation.

Appearing, not as representatives of civic groups as stated in a Norfolk newspaper, but apparently as private citizens were Charles A. Mowry, president of the North Virginia Beach Civic League, Monroe Nash, president of the Bay Colony-Cavalier Park Civic League and Arthur Peregoft, acting in behalf of Henry Oetjen, president of the Birdneck Point Community League.

Three Requests

The men requested Norfolk City Council (1) declare that no annexation move will be initiated for eight years; (2) instruct Norfolk's General Assembly delegation not to initiate any new legislation that might change the state annexation laws; and (3) move that any annexation by Norfolk after the seven period be carried out only with the consent of persons to be annexed.

A joint telegram was sent by the group Tuesday to County Commonwealth's Attorney Robert L. Simpson and Virginia Beach City Attorney George Vokes requesting that they petition Judge Robert S. Wahab to delay until April the referendum on the proposed county-beach merger, now tentatively scheduled for January '64.

The men said a meeting of the executive boards of the three civic groups was held Monday night at which time they decided to approach Norfolk City Council with the requests and voted to petition Judge Wahab to delay the referendum.

Unopposed Action
Much criticism over their action came Wednesday from other board members of the civic leagues who denied any knowledge of the plans.

T. Lewis Johnson, vice president of the Birdneck Point Community League, had this to say Wednesday afternoon: "The purported telegram signed by Mr. Henry Oetjen as President of the Birdneck Community League, does not, in my opinion, speak the facts."

"Under the By-Laws of the Birdneck Point Community League at least four Directors must be present in order to take any action. At this meeting only three Directors were present, and I do not believe Mr. Oetjen should have said that he was speaking for the Birdneck Point Community League. Certainly on a matter of this importance the entire League membership should have been consulted.

"In my opinion, the people in this area favor the consolidation between the County of Princess Anne and the City of Virginia Beach. But regardless of whether they do or not, I do not believe anyone should attempt to deny them the rights to vote on this question. That is a democratic process and everyone should have a right to speak their opinion."

"My understanding is that at least three members of our League have already signed a petition favoring consolidation between the County of Princess Anne and the City of Virginia Beach."

Ivan D. Mapp, chairman of the executive committee of the merger campaign, issued a similar statement. It said:

"The telegram sent to the Commonwealth's Attorney of Princess Anne County and the City Attorney of the City of Virginia Beach by Mr. Henry Oetjen and others in which he states he and other interested persons had met on December 11th, to discuss this matter, certainly requires further enlightenment. Mr. Oetjen should tell us who was at the meeting and by whose invitation did they come."

"I have stated publicly many times that any group who wanted to hold a meeting should have someone who had studied the question present to answer any questions. If there are any questions which are not clear in these gentlemen's minds, they know very well we will inform them with the information they need."

Permanent Delay
"We have known for some time that powerful interests outside of our County and City were working to bring about a delay in this vote with the feeling that if the vote could be delayed until April the General Assembly at its next session would, in all probability, repeal this law, which would forever prevent the people of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach from voting on this question."

"These are the facts that these gentlemen should be telling the public about, and without any personal reflection on Mr. Oetjen, he and his entire company have just moved their headquarters and offices from the City of Norfolk to another State."

"I do believe the people of the County of Princess Anne and the City of Virginia Beach should be allowed to decide this question themselves without outside pressure and influence. Simpson and Vokes issued a telegram Wednesday in reply to

Civic League Heads Get Rebuff From Members

Resentment mounted Wednesday in the face of the appearance of three individuals, who were reported to have represented three different Virginia Beach area civic leagues, before the Norfolk City Council on Tuesday.

The Sun-News received numerous telephone calls Wednesday and several letters that were received too late to be published this week concerning the appearance of the three men at Tuesday's Council meeting.

According to a newspaper report the men were representing the North Virginia Beach Civic League, the Bay Colony-Cavalier Park Civic League, and the Birdneck Point Community League. It was reported they requested the Norfolk Council to forego annexation of any of Princess Anne County for eight years and they would seek a delay of the impending merger vote of the county and the City of Virginia Beach.

The resentment took the form of violent protests from residents of three area sections in that the action was taken apparently without the knowledge of the membership of the civic leagues involved.

"I resent anyone speaking for me as a member of a group without my knowledge of what is to be said," a member of the Bay Colony-Cavalier Park Civic League stated.

Local Hunters Bag Ducks, Pheasants For Christmas

LONDON BRIDGE—Guests of Bob Finley of London Bridge are not worried about Christmas dinner. It's tucked away in the deep freeze.

On a recent hunting foray, Finley's party bagged ten mallard ducks and twenty ringneck pheasants at Lake Drummond Game Preserve in Norfolk County.

The first game preserve to operate in Norfolk County is now open to area gunners who want to be certain they don't come home with an empty bag. The Lake Drummond Game Preserve is stocked with 2,000 birds. The shooting preserve season continues through March 1.

There is no bag limit. Persons hunting on the preserve must have hunting licenses. Hunting dates are booked by appointment.

The Lake Drummond preserve is owned by C. V. Stoner. Location of the preserve is as follows: drive south on route 17 to Wallacetown, turn left on 740. Or drive south on 188 to Northwest and turn right on 740. Birds are five dollars each with a ten dollar minimum.

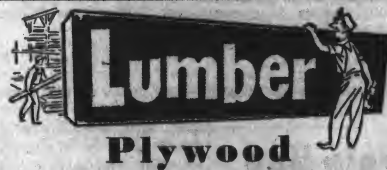

Guides and bird-dogs are provided.

Pheasant hunting in Virginia, incidentally, is illegal outside licensed shooting preserves.

For further information, dial LI 7-2593.

Although the open season on migratory water fowl does not expire until December 18, duck shooting on a preserve is legal from October 1 through March 31. No duck stamp is required, merely a general hunting license which costs $3.50.

Merger Question Remains A Beach-County Matter

From the very beginning the Sun-News has looked on the question of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach merging into one great city as a matter to be decided by the people who live in the two areas.

We cannot see why the matter should be subjected to outside interests and certainly cannot understand why individuals purportedly representing civic leagues of this area should go before the council of another city to air their views. The governing bodies of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach have approved the merger agreement and proposed charter and now are asking the citizens of the two areas to vote on the question. If the men who appeared before the Norfolk City Council were genuinely interested they would have asked to appear before the county Board of Supervisors or the Virginia Beach City Council.

A letter to the Editor appearing elsewhere on this page takes exception to the actions of one of the trio of individuals, who went before the Norfolk council. The letter is from a member of the Cavalier Park-Bay Colony Civic League and the writer questions Mr. Monroe Nash's right to speak for the entire league, as he was reported to have done. The writer says he does not believe Mr. Nash is speaking for the majority of the people in that area. The vice-president of the Birdneck Point Community League takes a similar stand in that anyone representing that group at the Norfolk meeting was doing so contrary to the by-laws of that league.

Resentment came from all of the areas in which the three civic groups are located, and it is obvious that the people of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach are unhappy that those residents whose primary interests lie in Norfolk City would try to exert outside pressure and financial influence in this matter that is solely a matter for Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach.

On Tuesday the proposed merger of the City of Richmond and Henrico County failed. This merger failed on the vote of the county people and is a prime example of the resentment and feeling of an area's residents when they are threatened by annexation by a big city.

The Sun-News states once again that the question of merger in this instance is a matter for the people of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach to decide. No outside influence has a place in this question.

It is certainly a poor way to undertake a Metro system of government for the area.

It's Unanimous

The motion was made by Councilman Layton, and seconded by Mayor Duckworth and the vote was unanimous.

The Norfolk City Council decided to mend their ways and rescinded the motion of a week ago to cut off Virginia Beach's water supply at the end of 1962. The Mayor said there had been enough "pow-wow" over the matter. We agree.

Our hat is off to the Norfolk Council for apparently realizing that we have to live together and realizing, too, we believe, that the water cut-off threat was ridiculous and childish.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

Test For Drivers

Something new in insurance tests has been devised by an Iowa college, and reported to the American Psychological Association, which gears an automobile driver's insurance premiums to his personality. The theory is the more stable the personality, the fewer the claims.

Grinnell College conducted a series of personality tests among youths of 25 years of age and under. According to the results, the drivers were classified in three groups, each progressing in degrees of aggressiveness. After a period of time, the driving records of the test subjects were compared with their personality of classifications.

There was a close correlation between the drivers with the poorest records and those classified in the most aggressive group. Drivers with the greatest number of claims in which they were at fault came from this group. Group III also provided the most multiple claims and the highest cash settlements.

The college has proved what long has been suspected. It isn't the milquetoast who causes trouble on the highways, but the driver who becomes impatient at the caution of others and proceeds on the assumption that everyone else is too careful to get in his way. Occasionally, he meets another member of the aggressive set and one or both become insurance statistics.

Rewarding skill on the highway is a growing trend among insurance companies. The personality test is merely an adaptation of a principle long used in scholastic circles to aid in determining the most outstanding aptitudes.

But its direct influence on the pocketbook could result in a major overhaul of driving habits.

the one they had received. It was addressed to Mowry, Nash and Oetjen and stated:

Mr. Charles A. Mowry
Mr. Monroe Nash
Mr. Henry Oetjen

"Dear Sirs: This will acknowledge the joint telegram of December 12th, in which you suggest that there be a delay on the merger referendum; between the County of Princess Anne and the City of Virginia Beach because there may be questions which are not clear in your minds.

"The Study Commission, the Board of Supervisors of Princess Anne County, the Council of the City of Virginia Beach have held many public meetings on this question. In addition to that, twenty-four public meetings have been held in various parts of the City and County for the purpose of informing the public of the true facts. A merger information center is maintained at 19th St. & Arctic Ave., Virginia Beach, and the public press, radio and television have given out much information on this subject.

"If there are still questions unanswered in your mind, we invite you to a public meeting to be held at the Virginia Beach High School this evening, Wednesday, December 13th, at 8:00 p.m., at which time we are confident that you can get the information you desire which will relieve you of any fears in the matter. If you are unable to attend this evening, there will be many other public meetings held, but for you to suggest at this late date that the people be denied the right to vote on this question is, in our opinion, most undemocratic.

County Board

haven Supervisor James Darden, the Board voted to meet Dec. 30 at 10 a.m. at Aragona School to go in a body to view the property.

"I won't be there," Darden said. "I think it's a waste of time."

In other action the Board voted to allow Virginia Electric and Power Co. build a substation on land near the Norfolk & Southern right-of-way near Greenwich.

Clough read a petition signed by 118 persons at Chesapeake Beach asking for two turn-out roads near the future toll plaza of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel to allow easier access to the beach for residents. The Board agreed to ask engineers if the present plans can be changed to provide the two roads.

Attorney Robert Simpson was appointed to serve on the board of the Atlantic Health and Hygiene Clinic. It was announced that building permits in the county for the year, through Nov. 30, totaled $39,793,592.00.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

139 Lake Shore Drive
Virginia Beach, Va.

Editor, Sun-News:

Dear Sir:

I noticed in the paper that Mr. Monroe Nash has been attending a meeting and speaking for the Cavalier Park-Bay Colony Civic League. I have been a member of this Civic League for many years. No one consulted me about this matter. I do not believe that Mr. Nash is speaking for the majority of the people in this area. The people, in my opinion, favor the merger and it seems quite unfair for Mr. Nash, a Norfolk businessman, to imply that he is speaking for the entire area. Quite a few of my friends and neighbors have already signed petitions favoring the merger—I understand it to be over one hundred.

Very truly yours,
JOSEPH L. LAGIGLIA

Seahawks Whip Blair 52-50; Poquoson 71-41

Virginia Beach's come-from-behind Seahawks captured a thrilling basketball game from James Blair last Friday night with a late rally that nipped the Williamsburg five, 52 to 50.

Jay Horton delivered a long set shot that sealed the victory after the Hawks trailed throughout the contest. Horton finished as high point man with 19 followed by Bucky Sanderlin with 10.

The victory sent the Seahawks into the lead in Division A, District One, Group Two play. They met Poquoson on Tuesday night.

The Hawks Jayvee team lost its game 46 to 26 with the junior Blair five completely confusing the local with an all court press. The high spot for the locals was the shooting of Larry Mailhes, who finished the night with 18 points.

Bob Bradenham was high point man for the varsity Jayvees with 15.

Virginia Beach's unbeaten Seahawks made it three in a row Tuesday night as they outclassed Poquoson in a Division A, District One, Group Two basketball encounter on the local court. The final score was 71 to 41.

The victory further strengthened the Seahawks' district lead.

At the start it looked like a close contest with the locals holding only a 14 to 10 lead after the initial quarter. However, starting with the second period the locals broke the game wide open.

The district leaders presented a well-balanced attack, but it was Chester Branscom who led all scorers with 20 points. Other leading point getters for the Seahawks were Bucky Sanderlin, Jay Horton, Neal and Borum. It was a perfect night for Virginia Beach's cagers with the junior Seahawks winning a close game from the Poquoson Jayvees. The score here was 52 to 30.

Leading scorer for the winning Jayvees was Larry Mailhes with 12 points. Other Jayvees who played leading roles in the victory were Jack Tucker, Tommy Trakenton, Strickler and Johnson.

The varsity crew now has a 3 and 0 record while the Jayvees have two wins and one loss.

NCO Open Mess Banquet Brings Little League Season to a Close

The 1961 Little League Football Season at Fort Story officially came to a close with a buffet dinner honoring the players held at the Non-Commissioned Officers Open Mess.

Major James E. Coleman, League Commissioner and Master of Ceremonies presented individual trophies to the Vikings, League Champions, and miniature footballs to the players of the other three teams.

Maj. Coleman congratulated the players for their fine play and stressed the fact that it is more important to learn the true meanings of team work, sportsmanship and fair play than to play on the winning team.

Guests speakers were: Col. Walter D. Swank, Deputy Commanding Officer 4th Transportation Command, Lt. Col. Robert Gottschall, Commissioner of Youth Athletics and Chaplain (Captain) Howard W. Marsh.

Congratulations went to the officials Capt. Irvin W. Wright, Specialist Fourth Class Frank Valla and Private First Class Dave Goodman; to Sgt. and Mrs. Charles Hicks, who operated the Concession Stand; and to Sergeants Donald E. Holmberg and Arthur Long and SM2 Proctor, USN, for their all around assistance in making the season a success.

Maj. Coleman gave a special vote of thanks to the Officers and NCO Open Messes who made the dinner possible.

What's it all about?

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four stated reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Come to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

This little dog is confused. Many of us are in the same dilemma. What is Christmas, anyway? What does it mean? Do the tinsel and decorations obscure the true meaning?

Christmas decorations, Christmas trees, Christmas gifts have their part in this greatest day of all the year, but back of them is the manger and the Christ Child, God's gift to mankind.

In the Church you will find the true spirit of Christmas in all its joy, beauty and sacredness. The Wise Men will become so real you will follow the star with them. With the shepherds on the Judean hillside you will hear the song of angels. You will go to Bethlehem where you will kneel before the King. Kneeling, you will find the true meaning of Christmas.

Will you come?

Chief Johnson Advises on Holiday Safety Practices

"Shop With Care—Walk With Care!" This advice was given to Virginia Beach Shoppers today by Chief Reeves E. Johnson of the Virginia Beach Police.

Chief Johnson reminded local citizens that the Virginia Beach Police and the Governor's Highway Safety Committee are co-operating this month in a program to reduce holiday traffic hazards.

"Shoppers may not realize it," he said, "but Christmas shopping is definitely a holiday traffic hazard."

The speaker pointed out that at this time of year careful shopping can result in a considerable saving of money.

"And careful walking," he said, "results in a more important saving — the saving of lives."

The spokesman for the Virginia Beach Police suggested 3 rules for careful walkers and shoppers to observe:

1. Do not carry so many packages that they obscure your vision of the pavement.
2. Be certain that parcels are tied securely. If you should drop a package, look carefully for traffic before you stoop to pick it up.
3. Avoid the tendency to hurry. Hurrying through crowded city streets is always dangerous. Hurrying with arms loaded with parcels can be suicidal.

So Much to Do

UNION-KEMPSVILLE PRINCIPAL WOULD LIKE LONGER DAYS

(This is one of a series of articles to appear each week in this newspaper on the men and women who serve as principals of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County Schools.)
By RUBY JEAN PHILLIPS

KEMPSVILLE — "Sometimes I wish I were Superman," J. V. Boykin, principal of Union-Kempsville High School said. "There's so much to be done. So much to accomplish. It would take a Superman to do it all."

In order to teach children all there is to know in today's space age, the schools must push them too fast, he said.

11-Month Term

"Something should be done to give the student adequate time to get the fundamentals. I think an 11-month term rather than the nine months would help," Boykin said.

Another thing that would help teachers give more time to her students would be to cut down on the amount of extra-curricular work they are required to do... such as reports, charts and additional projects.

"Trying to cope with mass education is the teacher's greatest problem," he said.

During his 15 years as head of Union-Kempsville, which was previously known as Princess Anne Training School and housed grades 1-12 rather than the present 7-12, Boykin has seen many changes take place in student traits. Some of these changes very much concern him.

"I am very concerned about students developing traits that lead to desirable behavior, not only in the school but in the community. The school is the place for them to learn this. I believe my greatest reward comes when I can observe students developing and putting into practice habits of good behavior.

"Too much emphasis is put on the few youngsters who cause trouble. I see commendable acts of honesty in this school every day. But it's the youngsters who commit crimes that make headlines—not youngsters like the girl who recently brought a five dollar bill into my office that she had found in the halls."

Boykin believes that movies and television are making their mark on today's students by letting the "all-important dollar" dictate what they produce rather than what is good for the public to see.

Average Dominates
Something that alarms the soft-spoken principal is that students seem to want to be average and have no desire to better themselves.

"I've had students tell me they didn't want to do better. They didn't want to have top grades because everyone would expect them to be perfect. They don't want to accept the responsibility that comes with better grades and a better position in life. With today's advanced education you'd think our standards would be higher—but not as long as everyone wants to be just average."

Students need college, he said, but enough parents don't encourage them. Scholarships are available to these needing help and parents should be sympathetic to the student's career, he added.

The main career trend today is in math, science and engineering and many students want to go into the Armed Forces to further their education.

Always A Principal

Boykin has an unusual position in the teaching field—he has been a principal or an assistant principal since he entered the profession over 25 years ago. He headed schools in North Carolina before coming to this area in 1942. He worked at the Naval Base in Norfolk as a civilian employee for four years during the war, before deciding that education was where he belonged. He applied for a position in Princess Anne County and was offered the principalship of the Training School.

After graduating from Shaw University in Raleigh, Boykin received his masters degree from Hampton Institute.

He lives in Norfolk with his wife, Jeddie, and 13-year-old son Joseph V. Boykin Jr. When he isn't watching televised sports or involved in a "do-it-yourself" project, he enjoys reading science and professional books and magazines.

New Approach To Cancer Includes Drugs And X-ray

A new approach to the treatment of cancer—involving the use of a combination of drugs and x-rays—appears to be producing satisfactory results in the experimental stage, according to University of Wisconsin scientists.

In some cases, the combination of certain drugs with x-ray treatment has cured experimental cancers in mice when either the drugs or x-rays alone have had little if any effect.

This was disclosed by the American Cancer Society in a new report on research by Drs. Halvor Vermund, James Hodggett and Fred J. Ansfield of the University of Wisconsin.

The animal findings already have led to the use of combinations of drugs and x-rays in treating advanced human cancers, the report stated. And while the results of these experiments in some cases so far appear satisfactory, it will be some time before their benefits, if any, can be calculated.

The animal experiments were carried out with two different types of cancer—a transplantable laboratory Sarcoma 180 & a virus-caused cancer of the mouse breast.

Untreated animals died of the sarcoma within three or four weeks, and of the breast cancer within seven weeks.

Drugs alone extended the mice's lifespan usually by only a few days at best. X-rays alone sometimes increased survival time by 50 per cent. All animals treated with drugs only, or x-rays only, died ultimately.

Various combinations of, first drugs, and later, x-rays, not only extended the mouse lifespan from two to four times that of the untreated specimens, but, in the case of the sarcoma, cured from 10 to 80 per cent of the animals. Only an occasional mouse with breast cancer was cured by the combination, the scientists reported.

LUTHERAN CHURCH TO PRESENT VOICE CAROL

The public is invited to attend the pageant and a Christmas party to be held afterward in the Haven.

The U. S. Atlantic Fleet's amphibious forces use both frontal attack and vertical envelopment (helicopters behind enemy lines) during an amphibious landing.

Civic League; and Clifford Irby, president, Princess Anne Plaza Civic League.

Winners will be announced Thursday, Dec. 21 at Larasan Realty's office. A list of winners will be posted on the office window.

New Site Marked

The Rev. Wentz Miller recently led the congregation of the Presbyterian Church in Princess Anne Plaza in erecting a cross to mark the site of a proposed church at the corner of Rosemont Road and Plaza Trail. The building will be designed by Harold Wagner, noted Philadelphia church architect, and construction is scheduled to start early next year. The group presently meets in Plaza Elementary School. Sunday Church School starts at 9:45 a.m. and worship service at 11 a.m. Interested persons are invited to attend.

8000 Miles A Day

TRANSPORTATION FOR SCHOOL SYSTEM IS FULL TIME BUSINESS

PRINCESS ANNE—How would you like to drive around the world in three days?

That's over 8,000 miles a day, the mileage that Princess Anne County's 133 school buses roll up every day of the school term. By the time school is out in June the buses will have traveled about one and a half million miles.

This service presents many problems for the school administration. Approximately 95 per cent of the 2,200 students attending the county's 24 schools ride the bus. State law requires that students living over a mile and a half from the school be furnished transportation but the county School Board will transport any child wishing to ride if there is any road hazard.

There are very few places in the county where it is safe for children to walk any distance along a highway so the school administrators prefer that most students ride the bus.

Safety Record

The first concern is always for the student, which is probably why no child has been seriously injured on or by a school bus for 26 years. Drivers will go many extra miles to put a child out on the side of the road on which he lives and pick up students who may live close to the school but would have to walk on a heavily traveled road.

Some of the buses make three and four trips daily to cover 325 carefully planned routes. This maze of bus routes covers every inch of Princess Anne County.

To utilize the buses to their fullest advantage, a stagger system was set up this year. Under this set-up elementary schools start at 8:30 a.m. and high schools at 9:10, enabling the same buses to serve both school levels.

This economical move, which has since been adopted by systems in other parts of the state, averted the buying of 35 additional buses at a cost of approximately $200,000, assistant superintendent M. P. Strickler said.

Beach Route
One special vehicle, a Jeep station wagon, carries eight children to school via the stretch of beach from Sandbridge to the North Carolina line. Though this route is difficult and hazardous, the bus did not miss a day last year. Regardless of weather conditions, the buses, like the mail, must go through and in keep them rolling the school system operates a fully equipped garage staffed by a foreman, five mechanics, four full-time and two part-time helpers.

Three service trucks and a repair car carrying spare parts operate out of the garage by means of a two-way radio. In the event of a complete breakdown or a bus getting stuck, a wrecker is dispatched immediately from the garage to the distressed bus. These service trucks can reach a stalled bus within 15 or 20 minutes. All buses are given a service check-up at the garage at regular intervals.

Monthly Women
All of the 133 drivers, most of which 123 are women, must qualify for chauffeur's license. To receive this license they must pass a written test and pass the approval of the State Police in the actual operation of a bus.

Drivers are required to check their buses every morning so that any necessary repairs can be made ahead of pick-up time. Four buses are assigned to pick up children for the special classes held at King's Grant, Kempsville Meadows and Plaza Elementary Schools. These buses travel about 300 miles per day to pick up 90 children.

With the anticipated growth and population explosion in the county, the number of school buses may increase to 150 by next year. The schools started out in September with 127 buses. They have already increased to 133.

The over-all cost to operate these buses during the 1961-62 school term will be about $274,000, Strickler said. This amounts to about $15 per student per year and approximately 21 cents per mile.

"If these parents had to pay 20 cents a day per child on a commercial bus," Strickler said, "it would cost them about $36 a year for transportation."

Merger Change

In the event the merger of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County goes through, Strickler pointed out, children in the city now riding commercial buses will be assigned to regular school buses.

Children may complain to parents about crowded conditions on the bus but statistics prove that school buses are the safest mode of transportation

News for HOMEMAKERS

Do you know good workmanship in clothes when you see it? If you don't you may be disappointed when you start wearing your new garments.

The way a garment is cut and put together affects its appearance, fit and wear. Some points of good workmanship apply to all clothing for men, women, or children.

Check the garment parts to see if they are cut on the grain of the material — along the

in the world—even safer than walking.

There is no specified number of children that can travel on a bus, Strickler said, and they stand as long as they do not obstruct the driver's view.

"However, the school administrators do not want a child standing for any distance," he said.

Twice a day the drivers of these buses take the lives of as many as 70 children in their hands and it is up to every motorist to remember their great responsibility and observe all traffic laws as they meet these buses on the road.

thread of the material. A garment cut on the grain will hang better and is less likely to stretch out of shape than garments cut "off grain".

Careful matching of pattern is a sign of good quality. In a garment made of patterned material, check particularly at the armholes, waistline, and center seams. Pockets, sleeves, and collars should match and look good in relationship to the body of the garment.

Hand or machine stitches which are small, even in length, neat, continuous, straight, and securely fastened at ends are most durable. Thread used for stitching seams should match the garment color exactly.

Seams should be flat and even in width. Raw edges may need to be finished for added strength or to prevent raveling. Wide seams will lie more smoothly and stand greater strain. They also make alterations possible.

Reinforcements are important at points of strain. Some types of reinforcements include extra rows of stitching, metal rivets, patches, and bar tacks.

Hems which are flat and even in width look and hang best. Generous hems allow for future lengthening. Stitching should be invisible on the right side of the garment.

Lining, padding, interfacing and trim should be able to withstand any treatment such as washing or dry cleaning.

Closures, such as zipper plackets, should be flat, inconspicuous, and long enough to permit getting into and out of the garment without strain.

Hooks and eyes, snaps, buttons and trimming should be securely attached. Unless the fabric is very firm, buttons or snaps need reinforcement to prevent strain on the fabric.

Buttonholes should fit easily over buttons. To be durable, they should be cut on the grain of the material, and should be evenly firmly stitched or bound with well-reinforced ends.

A fireplace can be an important center of interest in your decorating plans.

If the fireplace is well-placed in the center of a wall, use facing small sofas or chairs, or a combination of these pieces. If chairs or sofa block a traffic lane, use a long, low straight or semi-circular bench. If the fireplace is to the side or in a corner, arrange eye catching pictures or mantel accessories for interest, then add a couple of large pillows or stools close to the fire.

For a "dressed-up" look, you may choose a marbleized mantel in deep, rich colors. You can use a bold still-life painting with a simple frame rubbed with a color to harmonize with the mantel. For the casual look and charm, you may prefer a pine mantel. Delft tile or tile are good choices.

Try not to make an important mantel a catch-all for family mementos, pictures, pitchers, and leftovers. A mantel is best kept uncluttered for the display of only a few important objects.

U. S. Baby Foods Go Abroad

Mothers in all parts of the world are spooning more and more American baby foods into the mouths of hungry infants.

Last year, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's foreign agricultural service, $15 million worth of U. S. baby food went overseas. This is double the amount exported in 1950.

The increased popularity of U. S. baby foods is due largely to rising living standards, and to the spread of supermarkets, and to the great number of American families now living abroad. It also stems somewhat from the upward trend in the world's population.

U. S. shipments go to well over 50 countries. Venezuela is our best customer; dairy products our best-selling item.

One reason parents may have difficulty parking the family car during the Holiday Season is that young drivers home from college keep it constantly on the move. The Institute for Safer Living urges parents to make sure that a responsible driver is at the wheel when teenagers embark on their whirl of Christmas fun and social activity.

Winter Traffic Bring New Runs To L.C. Ferries

NORFOLK — To accommodate the increased winter north-south travel, 44 extra trips will be made each week-end on the Little Creek Ferry.

N. C. Chandler, general manager, said the extra trips have been added to make it more convenient for the many motorists who are driving between the north and southern resort areas. The additional trips will speed up the elapsed time for ferry users and allow them to arrive at their destinations sooner, he said.

The stepped-up week-end winter schedule is basically the same as the one used during the summer travel months.

"The greater popularity of ferries at this time of the year," Chandler said, "has made it necessary to provide the extra week-end crossings."

The increased schedule will be in effect Fridays, Saturdays, Sundays and Monday mornings until 6:00 A.M.

Copies of the new schedule and a free north-south road map may be obtained by writing to Dept. FL, Little Creek Ferry, P.O. Box 120, Norfolk, Va.

More of World Today Free Of Hunger, U. S. Report Shows

Potbellied children, gaunt and haggard mothers, men who go to bed hungry at night... these are things we in America know little of.

Yet two-thirds of the modern world knows them well — not stark hunger and starvation, but chronic malnutrition.

A recent study by the U. S. Department of Agriculture shows that one-third of the world is now free from the fear of hunger. Mostly, this is in the Northern tier of countries around the globe.

But in the Southern area, people don't get enough food or an adequate diet for normal activity and health. Australia and New Zealand are exceptions. The Far East and Communist China are the worst.

For the 1.9 billion people living in the world's underdeveloped areas, the future holds little more than a short life span riddled by contagious and nutritional diseases. Their standard diet limits their own and their country's vitality and vigor. While the people of the United States average 3,220 calories per person per day, their Latin American neighbors get only 2,640 and the people of Communist Asia and the Far East, a scant 2,100 to 2,200.

What makes these diets even worse is that they are poorly balanced. In Pakistan, for example, nearly three-fourths of the calories are provided by grain products, principally rice. Such a diet, not balanced by proteins, fats, vitamins and minerals, can result in all sorts of nutritional diseases.

Two-thirds of the population of the world is not receiving an adequate diet today — nor will they in 1962, or by 1966. The world food budget, projected ahead for these years, indicates that the Southern area as a whole will fall short of a standard nutritional diet by the equivalent of 1.5 million tons of non-fat dry milk, 150,000 tons of dry beans and peas, 3 million tons of vegetable oil, and 29 million tons of wheat.

Most of the deficit is in the Far East and Communist Asia, where the dense and growing population is pressing increasingly on the food supply. The Far East, excluding Communist China, has two-thirds of the wheat shortage projected for 1962 and nearly one-half of the animal and pulse protein shortage. Communist China alone has about one-half of the animal protein and fat shortage and about a 3-million-ton wheat shortage.

Latin America, Africa and West Asia will have a substantial shortage of wheat. And Japan, one of the more industrialized countries of the world will continue to find its people without enough fat in their diets.

In each of these areas, income is low, population large, and the land unproductive from generations of tillage without addition of fertilizers. The ability and the national vigor to permanently assure an adequate food supply.

Agriculture Secretary Freeman and other national leaders frequently have pointed out that the U. S. is ready and willing to help these countries in their struggle for self-sufficiency. Notable among U. S. efforts is the Food-for-Peace Program.

Secretary Freeman is now on a tour of the Middle East and South and Southeast Asia to study the food situation and to find additional markets for U. S. commodities. He is also taking a close look at the operation of the Food-for-Peace Program, finding out first-hand how it is working and exploring ways to improve it.

Pinpointing this country's interest, the Secretary on the eve of his departure Oct. 8 said, "We will also examine the technical aspects of agriculture to determine how this Nation can best assist these Nations in producing more abundantly to meet their own needs."

Pick The Turkey To Suit Your Family

Whatever the size of your family, there's a turkey just the size to fit it. So don't wait until Thanksgiving or Christmas to put turkey on your dinner table. Right now, turkeys are plentiful and inexpensive. This year's crop, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Crop Reporting Service, will be 26 percent larger than a year ago. Prices at retail are at a record low.

If your family is small, try a turkey "fryer-roaster." It's a young bird — 3 to 4 months old — and will run about 3 to 8 pounds. You can fry it or broil it. Or it can be stuffed and roasted. Whatever your preference.

For the middle-size family, select a middle-size bird. You can get roasting-age hens anywhere from 5 to 15 pounds. Figure ½ lb. per serving.

Usually, the bigger the bird, the cheaper the price per pound. So why not buy a large turkey and invite company in? Broad Breasted Bronze and the new large Whites come in ready-to-cook weights up to 30 lbs. Hens average 10 to 15 lbs.; toms, 16 to 24.

Another way to take advantage of the economy prices for large birds is to have one split. Cook half of it now; freeze the other half. The meat department of your supermarket will cut your turkey down the middle to make a half turkey roast of from 7 to 12 pounds. At the dinner table, this will be 15 to 25 servings. You also may find turkey parts on the market this year. These will cost you a little more per pound than whole turkeys. But if your family will eat only white meat — or dark meat — it may be cheaper to select just the pieces they like. There's another advantage, too. There won't be any left-overs.

Each of the four U. S. Fleets is a well-coordinated striking force obtaining most of its power from the attack carrier striking forces.

ANISE SEED COOKIES

There's Christmas flavor in Anise Seed Cookies down to the very last crumb. When they're gone, stop for additional tasty holiday cookies at your favorite bakery.

One taste of Anise Seed Cookies is all you need to know they're Christmas cookies. That touch of the sweet, sharp flavor of anise tells you so.
But if you want to give these simple, rolled pattern cookies an outwardly festive appearance, it can be easily done. Green decorative icing and a few round, red cinnamon candies transform the circles into wreaths. The Christmas trees may be festooned with stripes of icing squeezed from a pastry tube. Spread the stars lightly with white frosting and see how they glow when you dust them with colored sugar.

For all your holiday Christmas cookie baking, buy enriched flour. Enrichment means an all-year-round present of three B-vitamins and food fiber at no added cost to you.

ANISE SEED COOKIES

1/2 cup shortening (use half butter or margarine)
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 tablespoon anise seed

Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Stir in eggs and vanilla extract. Sift flour with baking powder and salt.
Add to creamed mixture together with anise seed and stir to blend.
Cover and chill until firm, about 2 to 3 hours. Roll out on generously floured board or pastry cloth to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut with floured cutters in any desired shape. Place carefully on ungreased baking sheets. Bake in slow oven (325°F.) until very lightly browned, about 15 minutes.
Makes about 5 dozen cookies. (These will keep 2 to 3 weeks.)

Cooky Baking Tips

There's no need to rub the cookie sheet with shortening unless the recipe says you should.
Always use a straight, even cookie sheet that is not too large to prevent the circulation of air within the oven.

How To Store Cookies

Bars: Store in a tightly covered container or in the pan in which they are baked. (Cover the pan tightly with foil or waxed paper.)
Crisp Cookies: Store in loosely covered container. If they absorb moisture from the air, crisp them in a slow oven (300°F.) about 5 minutes.
Soft Cookies: Store in tightly covered container.

How To Freeze Cookies

Bars: Arrange bars on waxed paper or cardboard. Place in freezer bag; seal; freeze. Or wrap in freezer wrap; seal; freeze. Allow 15 minutes for thawing.
Other Cookies: Pack gently in freezer box or freezer bags.
Seal; freeze. Allow 15 minutes for thawing.

Spicy Pecan Squares

1 cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg, separated
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup light brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup chopped pecans Cream together butter and sugar. Add vanilla and egg yolk.

The gay decorations are optional but make a charming contrast to the rich chocolate.

Creamy Fudge Drops

3 squares semi-sweet chocolate
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
Dash of salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup broken nuts

Add chocolate to water and milk and place over low heat.
Cook and stir until mixture is smooth and blended. Add sugars and salt and stir until sugars are dissolved and mixture boils.
Continue boiling, without stirring, until a small amount of mixture forms a very soft ball in cold water (or to a temperature of 232°F.). Remove from heat and add butter. Cool to lukewarm (110°F.) and add vanilla. Then beat until mixture begins to thicken; add nuts and continue beating only until mixture loses its gloss. Drop from teaspoon on waxed paper and chill until firm or spread at once in greased 8x4-inch pan, cool until firm and cut in squares.

Stringing cranberries for the Christmas tree is a dear-to-the-heart Christmas tradition that the children will remember in all the Christmases to come.
It's such fun for the children to string the berries with popcorn and loop them around the tree in graceful garlands of red and white sparkling through evergreen branches. And it will keep the children occupied for hours.

WHAT YOU NEED

Fresh cranberries a 1-lb. package makes 17 feet of cranberry garlands
Coarse Thread
Blunt Needle
Tinsel Wreath

Here are some ideas:

1. String crisp white popcorn every third cranberry or so for Christmas gaily.
2. Make white yarn "posies" by catching 8 loops of yarn in the center. String them with cranberries — about one posy every 10 berries.

3. Twist garlands of cranberries with long strands of gold or silver tinsel wreath. Watch these garlands sparkle!

Cranberry Raisin Bread

2 cups all-purpose sifted flour
1 cup sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup shortening
3/4 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup fresh cranberries

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt in shortening until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal.
Combine orange juice and grated rind with well beaten egg.
Flour all at once into dry ingredients, mixing just enough to dampen. Carefully fold in raisins and cranberries. Spoon into greased loaf pan (9x5x3). Spread corners and sides slightly higher than center. Bake in moderate oven 350°F. about 1 hour.
until crust is golden brown and toothpick inserted comes out clean. Remove from pan. Cool.
Cool. Store overnight for easy slicing.

Honors continue to come to 4-H members from the Blackwater area in the 4-H Junior Steer Project.

On a tour of the Hereford feeders on Saturday, December 2, Miss Frost was named the top Hereford feeder by her fellow 4-H steer feeders. Out of a possibly 100 points, Diane received 98.

Each 4-H member was judged on the basis of: Overall Management; Stalls; Exercise lots; Feeding Facilities; and the handling ability.

Diane has a large stall where "Bill" lives with "Rock", Diane's sister Faye's steer. During the day, Bill and Rock are given exercise in a large lot surrounded by a white board fence.

Bill gets his hide brushed every day by Diane and his hair coat is long, clean, and shiny. After being brushed, he gets a thorough walking around the barn lot.

Bill eats almost twenty lbs. of grain per day, plus a little hay. He is "growing good like a Hereford steer should." In September, he weighed in at 695 pounds when he was purchased from Jack Kinzer, of Mulberry Hill Farm, near Marshall, Va.

Each 4-H steer feeder has a sponsor. Mr. M. R. Adams, of Terminal Cars, Inc., Norfolk, Virginia, is Diane's sponsor. Mr. Adams has a fine Hereford herd at Princess Anne, Virginia.

GET READY FOR LAMBING, VIRGINIA SHEEPMEN TOLD

Early, fast-growing lambs are the profit-makers for Princess Anne sheepmen.

Here are several suggestions to help sheepmen get ready for the lamb crop.

Be sure the flock has had the fall treatment for internal parasites. Recent weather has been excellent for sheep and signs of internal parasites may not have been as noticeable as usual. Do not be misled by a lack of worm symptoms. If you haven't already treated for parasites, do it immediately. A word of caution—do not treat less than 30 days before lambing time, and be careful how you handle the sheep.

Provide shelter for the sheep during wet weather one month before lambing. Ewes that stay out in cold, rainy weather during the pre-lambing period will often have weak lambs, and in many cases will have dead lambs. Let the ewes stay outside in nice weather. Check to see that ewes do not crowd through narrow doors or gates, or cross alleys or ditches.

Feed is important now. A ewe should gain 30 pounds from breeding until lambing time. One half of the weight should be gained in the last month before lambing. Begin feeding grain at the rate of 1/4 to 1/2 lb. per ewe per day two weeks to a month, before lambing. The grain can be one or a mixture, and many farmers like to use a little molasses with it. If the sheep are not on good pasture, give them some legume hay along with the grain.

Cabbage Growers Advised To Increase 1962 Acreage

Princess Anne cabbage growers are being advised by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to increase their 1962 acreage for late spring cabbage by 5% or to 1,995 acres.

In the past season, Virginia growers planted 1,900 acres, and harvested a crop of 209,000 hundred weight.

Vegetable marketing specialists explained to me that the U.S. Department of Agriculture acreage-marketing guides are designed to help growers plan their production in line with marketing needs. Grower compliance with the guides is voluntary.

For all states that grow spring vegetables and melons for fresh market, USDA recommends a 3% increase in acreage for 1962 spring vegetables, and a 6 percent increase in the 1962 spring melon acreage. Five percent acreage increases are recommended for early spring snap beans, late spring cabbage, sweet corn, early spring onions in Arizona and California, and late spring tomatoes.

Acreage guides for summer watermelons are vegetables will be announced later.

YOUR FOOD IS GOOD FOOD

You can buy your food with confidence. It is the safest, cleanest, most wholesome food in the world.

Food safety begins at the farm or ranch. Here the latest research knowledge is used to protect crops and livestock from insects and diseases.

Farmers, industry, and government have worked together to perfect effective pesticides and safe ways to apply them. Now more than $500 million is spent annually to control pests and assure the quality and wholesomeness of our food.

Inspection and grading help to assure consumers that food is handled and processed under sanitary conditions. Just as we accept pounds and quarts as measures of quantity, we accept terms like U.S. Grade A, U.S. Choice, and U.S. Fancy as measures of quality.

More than 20 billion pounds of red meat and about 5 billion pounds of poultry are inspected and certified as wholesome each year. About 85 percent of the fresh fruit and vegetable crop each year is packed according to recognized grade standards. And 23 percent of frozen fruits and vegetables are packed according to Federal standards.

Serving Consumer Needs

Remember when we wanted a small turkey to fit an apartment-sized oven or to feed a small family—and the smallest we could find weighed 15 lbs. or more? Then researchers perfected the small meaty turkey.

Now we buy 12 million small turkeys a year. And in 1960 we ate 6 pounds of turkey per person—twice as much as in 1940.

We consumers showed our preference for lean pork. So researchers developed and farmers are producing meat-type hogs with the quantities we want.

Farm-Fresh Foods All Year

A few years ago, many fruits and vegetables were available only "in season." Today we enjoy farm-fresh fruits and vegetables the year around.

Crisp lettuce, garden-fresh sweet corn, tree-ripened peaches and many other vegetables and fruits reach us with farm-freshness because of modern marketing, handling, and transportation methods.

Marketing of lettuce is an example. For more than 30 years, a carload of California-grown lettuce shipped to eastern market consisted of about 20,000 pounds of lettuce and 40,000 pounds of ice. The cost of ice and its transportation was included in the price we paid for lettuce.

Then researchers perfected a new, rapid system of vacuum cooling. Now vacuum-cooled lettuce is shipped in refrigerated trucks and rail cars. Lower costs of packing, refrigeration, and freight more than offset the cost of the new cooling method.

Lower Foods Bills

Improved handling and marketing not only help to get wholesome, nutritive food to us, they save millions of dollars on our food bill. New cooling and packaging methods reduced shipping costs of Texas carrots by $1 million a year. Research on refrigeration needed for California grapes resulted in a saving of $780,000 a year. Better refrigeration and containers for tomatoes are saving several million dollars annually.

Our demand for farm-freshness in frozen fruits and vegetables and in fruit juices also is being met by researchers, farmers, and marketing firms.

We like frozen strawberries with the same red color and good flavor of fresh fruit. Several varieties introduced in the past 10 years—one as recently as 1959—give us these qualities. Today, about half of the strawberry crop is frozen.

New packaging methods contribute to food quality. Polyethylene bags for fruit and vegetables are a good example. They retard moisture loss and keep produce fresh, clean, and attractive.

Refrigeration in retail stores also helps to maintain food quality. It helps to keep perishable foods fresh, wholesome, & nutritious.

Better Living

We in the United States have the highest level of living the world has ever seen. Our children are taller and healthier than we were at the same age. All of us have a longer life expectancy.

Why? One important reason is that modern farm production and marketing provide us with a basic requirement of good health—nutritious, wholesome food in plentiful supply.

MacKinlay Kantor (this how he managed to drive all thoughts of the current book from his mind and finally go back to his typewriter with the new strength that makes relaxation, he says, a holy thing to him

Every year, for two weeks during the Holiday Season, Mr. and Mrs. Gano Senter throw open their doors to more than 20,000 visitors from nearby Denver suburbs and other pleasant places all over the world and invite them to look at their Christmas Tree—eleven feet high, trimmed with 4,000 rare ornaments and 1,000 lights. Here it is, in color.

What Am I Going To Do All Day? . . . page 16

The answer, for close to a million boys set adrift in the after-school and Saturday streets of our suburbs, is neither "nothing much" nor "get into trouble," but "go down and see what's doing at the Boys' Club." Here is the story of what the Boys' Clubs of America are doing to help turn out our next generation of leaders.

Santa Claus Guaranteed . . . page 22

Ask any child in Pasadena, California, if there is a Santa Claus and even sophisticated young citizens of ten or thereabouts will insist that the jolly, bearded gentleman not only exists but will be at his or her house this Christmas Eve. It's all part of a glorious conspiracy carried on by community leaders who encourage the children to write to Santa Claus and then make sure that every letter—more than 8,000 are received—is answered personally by a battery of court judges and physicians and storekeepers who play Santa once a year.

One of our favorite cover artists takes her clever palette and brush behind the scenes of a Christmas pageant in a Church Hall and finds the three wise men—each aged about five or six or so—struggling into the rich and brilliant costumes their loving mothers must have worked for weeks to put together.

"If you want mistletoe you'll ask him for it yourself."

GETTING AROUND

. . . to Our Pleasant Places and People

WE WONDER what six-year-old Marc Bonilla, of Walnut Creek, California, has up his sleeve for Santa Claus this year. Last year, when little Marc got to the head of the line of children waiting to see Santa, he had a small, slender package in his hand. Instead of having both hands open and beginning with, "I want . . ." Marc said, "Here's a present for you, Santa." It was an amber-colored beard comb.

Norman E. Hearn, of Bethesda, Maryland, tells about Peter, age four, whose favorite food was spaghetti. Only Peter never called it anything but "getti." It wasn't till he went visiting in Italy with his grandmother that he learned to call it spaghetti. Then, one day, when he and his Italian friends were talking about battles, Peter piped up and said, "Close to where I live in the United States, there's a big battlefield with lots of guns. It's called 'Spaghettiburg.'"

In the "Signs of the Times" Department, Mrs. Mary Bertrand, who lives on Mistletoe Drive in Irving, Texas, says it's sad, but many people in her neighborhood have been getting their mail lately, addressed to Mistletoe Drive. We think so, too, Mrs. Bertrand.

From a De Kalb, Georgia, neighbor comes the story about a friend who went into a bookstore to buy a birthday gift. When she had made her selection and handed it to the clerk to be wrapped, she noticed that the book jacket was a bit soiled. "Isn't this one a little dirty?" she asked. "I don't know, lady," snapped back the clerk. "I haven't had time to read it yet."

The Albert Jacobs family, of Whitefish Bay, Wisconsin, were discussing Carla and Esther and other big storms, when Mr. Jacobs wondered out loud why they're always given women's names. "Well, that's easy," said the Jacobs' little girl Chris. "If they were given men's names, they'd be him-cases, wouldn't they?"

And, speaking of Christmas, a group of kids in Fort Washington, New York, say "Merry Christmas" for months before the event—each time they finish the design of another Christmas card. This eager group of seven to sixteen-year-old friends make pen-and-ink drawings of what Christmas means to them, and their child's-eye view of the holiday season and its fun is then sold to neighbors. The proceeds go to help the North Shore Child Guidance Association.

GETTING AROUND

We hear that some women around Shreveport, Missouri, California, have formed an organization called "Charge Account Holders Anonymous," which works just like most Anonymous organizations. That is, whenever a member gets the urge to go out and buy something, she telephones another member who talks her out of doing it.

Thanks for the tip, Mrs. Kathleen McDowell, of Manhasset, New York. Mrs. McDowell saves all of her candle stubs throughout the year, from parties and festive dinners and birthdays, and melts them all down at Christmas time to make one large holiday candle with a few personal touches. She melts the stubs down in a double boiler over a very low flame and carefully removes all the old burnt wicks from the melted wax. Then, she lets it cool a little and pours the wax into an empty milk carton, although Mrs. McDowell says a mailing tube serves just as well, if you like a round shape. If you want a special color, shave in a wax crayon when you melt the old candles. For the wick, use heavy cotton cord, weighing it down with something (maybe a button) and tying it to a pencil laid across the top of the mould to hold it straight. When the wax hardens, remove the mould and let your fancy roam with whatever decorations you think are appropriate and pretty, and "Merry Christmas."

It happened near Shreveport, Missouri. When Thomas Draeger got a notice from the draft board to report for examination, his father put him in a buggy and wheeled him to the draft-board office, where four-month-old Thomas got a lollipop and was sent home.

A reader noticed the following sign on an Arlington, Virginia, garbage truck. It read: "If Not Completely Satisfied, Double Your Trash Back."

The man who runs the Post Office in Olympia Fields, Illinois, is named Bill Stamper.

When you get around to opening your presents this Christmas, chuckle with us over the predicament confronting a Newberg, Oregon, husband a few weeks ago. He and his wife were at home one evening when their expected baby began to come in such a big hurry there wasn't enough time to get to the hospital. The husband, a former state police officer with some experience in this sort of emergency, took over till the ambulance came and did all right, except that he couldn't find any string to tie the cord, but finally improvised with colored ribbon from his wife's gift-wrapping box. Hospital attendants claim it's the only baby that ever got there gift wrapped.

Relaxation Is A Holy Thing

How Do You Relax?

■ It may come easy if, as MacKinlay Kantor says in his charming essay on the opposite page, you can go out on a Florida beach and chase crabs—but what of the commuter who has more (almost) than he can do to answer the alarm and climb into his business suit and get on with it? What about the cook-laundress-chauffeur-and-mother of four, who hasn't time for all the chores of the day, let alone relaxing?

The answer comes from Dr. Josephine Rathbone, an international consultant on the problem and author of "Teach Yourself To Relax" (Prentice-Hall). She has worked out some home procedures, the simplest kinds of aids for body and soul, calculated to revive the "holy" sense of power and tranquility and to make your energies soar. Read on (unhurriedly):

"To relax," says Dr. Rathbone, "I often recommend a combination of loose-swinging exercises and movements which stretch the joints. Plus sleep.

"First, the exercises to stretch tight tissues and release constricted joints. For the arms — (A) clench your fist — and swing one arm at a time in a free, loose circle. (B) Open your hands and cross your arms before you, now sweep them outward and upward, extending them loosely like wings, and let them fall through a giant circle to brush your hips as they return to their original crossed position. For the legs — (A) sit on a table with feet free and swing them alternately backward and forward, like kids on a circus bench. (B) Then swing them together from side to side, pivoting at the knee. (C) With your side close to a wall for balance, swing your free leg back and forth, loosely from the hip joint. Face the other direction and swing the other leg.

"For the trunk, with your back to the wall, lean your hips against it, feet 18 inches apart and four inches out. Bend forward at the waist, letting the head go loose, until you feel the pull on your hamstrings, back, and neck.

"Sleep is the perfect restorer. Inability to sleep is often the first sign of excessive tension. If this inability is repeated frequently, it becomes a habit, and the big problem is to break it. Here are several devices that will help.

PREPARE FOR SLEEP by cutting down on the intensity of your thinking for half an hour or more before retiring. Go to bed only when your mind has been weaned from its problem; take plenty of time to get ready.

"If you read in bed, choose nonfiction and a "hard" book. Never stimulate your mind at bedtime, but force it to grapple with cumbersome facts. Do not entertain it. Bore it into unconditional surrender to sleep.

"If your mind clings to problems, substitute for them. Your mind cannot think of two things at once. A woman can plan a new wardrobe, choosing colors and styles. A man can replant a garden or replay a good round of golf.

"Arrange for your mind to hop from one idea to another. As you float toward unconsciousness, your thoughts always become disjointed and scattered. Try thinking this way consciously.

"Make the body comfortable. Find a position in which the muscles can relax completely. Breathe deeply, imitating the slow, deep rhythms of sound sleep. Whatever trick you try, use it every night for at least ten days.

"When you live with strain, you must balance the strain with recuperation."

PHOTOGRAPH BY TIM KANTOR

It is the small pleasures, says this famous author...the hour of

BY MacKINLAY KANTOR, author of "The Voice of Bugle Ann," "Andersonville," and most recently, "Spirit Lake."

I needed to relax.

There were no games to play there on that sunny crest in Southern France—no people to play games with. But I could find a little chore to do, a minor challenge to resource and ingenuity. It might be an unguent for the pain of a task which often seemed unbearable: my half-million-word book requiring familiarity with a vanished language and mode of thought—the temper, speech, and attitude of outcast Dakota Indians. . . . And all those other people: the hog breeder from Kentucky, the fledgling doctor, the poetess of the prairies, the little French boy who found a cave . . . a few of the swarming throng in a book called "Spirit Lake."

So I set myself to gathering faggots, as others had done through millennia on those slopes above the River Lot. Early spring mornings and evenings were raw and damp. Our fireplace could be a comfort, and Lucien, the gardener, provided plenty of firewood; but always he was shy on kindling. And how to find kindling, when lawns around that chateau were picked clean, swept to the limit of their clipped greenness?

I walked for an hour at a time among acacias, among chestnuts and cedars of Lebanon. I could explore the lowest branches and filch a few twigs dry enough to burn. Each splintery discovery was in itself a triumph. . . . Aha, here's one I missed this morning. . . . And two more I must have missed yesterday! I'd reach up and snap them off, binding them with strands of grass, lugging my board back with all the excitement of securing a precious booty.

"Look!" I'd cry to my wife. "Three bundles of kindling twigs!"

"Why, where did you find them?"

"Oh, here and there"—with pride.

(There was no need to tell Irene of other treasure: she knew the whole pretty pattern. Crumbling walls held together by centuries of tough lichens; the magpie or the wren; hint of the distant town of Cahors dreaming in its evening mist. Irene didn't ask: "Are you relaxed at last?" for my face must have shown that I was.)

Then we went on to England, and the demands of the book loomed just as insistent. There was the on-the-spot research to be done in Kent, the thousand or two thousand tentative words which must be set down each day if I was to sleep at night. Reference books bulked upon adjacent tables and across wide window sills. Mr. Noel Coward used to own the house which we had taken, and often I wondered if Coward had hunted kindling as still I hunted it. The old Elizabethan place was an ecstasy of soft bricks and mullioned windows; but we had five hungry fireplaces (summer-nights can be cool in England), and Mr. Slomin, the milkman, fetched plenty of wood, but circumstance decreed that there'd be no kindling in the lot.

ONCE MORE I walked forth on my childish job, and once more the cares and demands of Dakota Indian phraseology, appropriate Biblical texts, the surgical techniques of the 1840s—these were eradicated.

Stately poplars at the foot of the avenue . . . yes, I had overlooked a few dry branches. Drag them home, break them into convenient bits, pile them in their box on the old stoop where wasps droned dangerously—descendants of the same wasps which had stung the Romans in their day when they were draining those Romney Marshes below our hill.

"How many words today, honey?"

"Twenty-two hundred."

"Wonderful. On what?"

"That scene where Inkpaduta remembers his boyhood, and the boys are throwing fireballs in the night. But come see the kindling I've got! Wonderful stuff—a whole boxful. It'll burn like tinder."

(And again, never a word about other benefits accruing: polished blackberries in the hedge, a green woodpecker which fought his elastic worm upon the lawn, low clouds planing in from the Channel.)

Then we were back home again, home on our Florida coast for the last long, grinding stint.

"My eyes hurt like hell. . . ."

"Darling, you've been in the library all day."

"Yes, I know. But I haven't finished this section."

"Your hands are shaking. You've got to stop."

"Well . . . how's the Gulf tide? Did you notice?"

"Still going out."

"Then we just might be able to find some blue crabs in the weed beds."

Slow prowling pace, with toes spread deep in submerged sand . . . hands gripping the net handle . . . dusky fleeting shape of a big crab ahead, sudden sweep of the net, yell of victory or snarl of defeat . . . and all the Indians were slunk away. So were the pioneers, so were red Dictaphone belts, clacking of typewriter keys, tiresome push of the blunt lead pencil. Eyeache and headache vanished . . . there might be another crab ahead! There. . . .

It's coming Christmas now. The book is no longer a mountain of tumbled chunks of copy paper held together by huge clips, soaked with the punishing graphite of corrections and alterations. It is a grown-up adult book; it has a shiny black jacket with colored type; and it is in the stores, and my agent calls to tell me that he has just put the British contract or the Spanish contract in the mails for me.

But still I need to relax, and I have a hard time doing so. For it is difficult to be released from a five-year ordeal: a night-and-day-seven-days-a-week ordeal.

There is the dog. Petting dogs, I think, is the most rewarding relaxation of all. It is so friendly a thing for your fingers to go into the bristly brown coat and rub against warm skin; and then the big bright eyes come up to meet your own gaze; and then the snort, the doggy laugh, as if Bill were to say, "Forget all about the book now. Wait until the next one."

And the next one is a dreamy way off. . . .

What would be a proper indolence for Christmas Eve? Shall I pet Bill again? I shall, if I'm with him. But if I'm far from him and he's far from me, then I shall sing softly, The Friendly Beast, an old carol about an ox and a donkey, and a turtledove which cooed for the Christ Child so that He should not cry. . . . That will be relaxing and a holy thing; for relaxation is a holy thing to begin with.

CHOCOLATE TRUFFLES

TO PREPARE: 35 MIN.

- 6 oz. semi-sweet chocolate
- $\frac{1}{2}$  cup butter
- 1 cup confectioners' sugar, sifted
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 1 tablespoon cherry
- Dutch process cocoa

1. Melt chocolate and butter together in the top of a double boiler over hot water. Remove from water.
2. Blend in next three ingredients. Set over a bowl of ice and water; mix until firm. Remove from water.
3. Stir cocoa to a depth of about  $\frac{1}{4}$  in into a pie pan. Using about 1 tablespoon of chilled chocolate mixture for each truffle, dump several spoonfuls at a time into the cocoa. Holding butter paddles (usually available in the housewares section of a department store) upright in the pan of cocoa, spoon some cocoa over the corrugated sides. Work each truffle between cocoa-coated paddles to form uniformly round balls. Spoon cocoa onto paddles as needed and before forming each truffle. Roll truffles in the cocoa to coat heavily and evenly. (Truffles may be formed by hand, but hands must be chilled before forming each one.)

4. Remove to candy cups for bonbons. If desired, wrap several truffles in colored aluminum foil. Store in a cool place. About 2 doz. truffles

ALMOND-FILLED CARAMELS

TO PREPARE: 35 MIN.

- 1 cup sugar
- $\frac{1}{4}$  cup light molasses

2. Combine first four ingredients in a heavy saucepan and stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved. Increase heat; cook rapidly, stirring constantly, until mixture reaches  $250^{\circ}\text{F}$ . (hard ball stage—a small amount dropped in very cold water forms a ball which is pliable yet will hold its shape).
3. Remove from heat and stir in extract. Pour into jelly roll pan without scraping bottom or sides of saucepan. Cool until lukewarm.
4. Cut caramel mixture into  $2\frac{1}{2}$ -in. squares. Place a whole almond in center of each square. Shape caramel around each almond. Wrap in waxed or glassine paper. 2 doz. caramels

The $10,000 Family Tree

Above—Mr. and Mrs. Gano Senter and the tree they trim.

Every Christmas they begin trimming at the top, and four days later they reach the bottom

BY AGNES M. PHARO

EVERY CHRISTMAS season for the past 31 years, Mr. and Mrs. Gano Senter of Denver, Colorado, have opened their doors to young and old and have invited them all in to look at their fabulous Christmas tree. During the two weeks set aside for the showings, more than 20,000 people from as close-by as Littleton and Cherry Hills, and from as far away as India and Japan, file through the Senter's living room, sign their guest book, and gaze in awe at the dazzling spectacle.

Exchange students from many foreign countries have called as well as senators and governors from other states. Once an East Indian rajah was among those who came to marvel and exclaim.

Actually, "the tree" is sixteen trees wired firmly together, covered with 4,000 beautiful decorations collected by the Senter on many world tours. There are huge glass balls from Czechoslovakia, snow stars from Sweden, spun-glass birds, and trumpets and bells. Probably the most unusual of all is the tear-vial from Lebanon, reputed to be 3,000 years old. Similar vials were once used to catch the tears of mourners at a funeral, then sealed in the tomb. The floor-to-ceiling display—eleven feet—is estimated to weigh half a ton, and is illuminated by more than 1,000 little lights powered by seven transformers. Between Christmas, the decorations are kept in a room set aside for that special purpose.

A visit to see the tree usually starts at the end of a long line outside the house. But, it's pretty out in the crisp air, too. Bright-colored lights line the wrought-iron fence. The patient throng, many of whom have been coming back year after year since the tree was first displayed in 1930, is swept up in the spirit of the season. Neighbors greet each other, and many people join in the carols that fill the air.

Inside, there's the tree itself, and a 200-piece miniature village called Puddin' Lane that has grown up around the foot of the tree. It houses such celebrities as Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, the Old Woman who lived in a shoe, and Santa and his reindeer. The Big Rock Candy Mountain overshadows a tiny church whose chimneys give forth with "Silent Night."

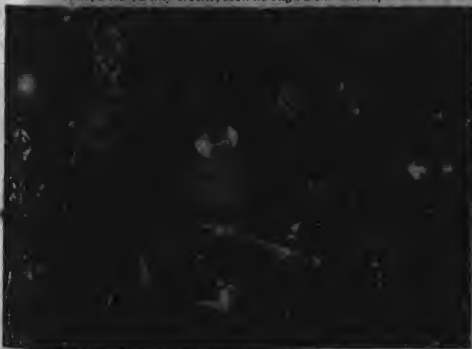

Inside, also, there are the Senter, who have turned a hobby into a wonderful tribute to the Christmas season, waiting to say "Merry Christmas" to their thousands of callers from all over the world.

Half a ton of Christmas tree—actually, it is made up of 16 towering fir trees wired together to support the fabulous collection of ornaments lighted by a thousand tiny bulbs.

Close-up of all the wonderful excitement and confusion of the holidays—flower-encrusted ornaments, birds with silver tails, a star, a tiny creche, seen through a shimmer of tinsel.

Table Scraps Can Short-Change Your Dog

Do right by the dog
you love...balance
each meal with
GRO-PUP Ribbon

When you feed your dog table scraps, you can never be sure he's getting all the nutrients he needs. And yet, to stay fit and strong, he should have a well-balanced diet every day.

That's why thoughtful families are adding Gro-Pup Ribbon to every scrap meal they feed. Gro-Pup is an unusual kind of dog food. It contains an extra bonus of vital protein, important vitamins and minerals—far in excess of the minimum levels set by the National Research Council.

Even when fed with large amounts of "unbalanced" leftovers, the high nutrient level of Gro-Pup can safeguard against improper diet. When you feed Gro-Pup every day, you can enjoy the confidence that your dog is getting an abundance of the essentials he needs for a long and healthy life.

Why don't you start tomorrow?

WHAT GOOD IS A BOYS' CLUB?

And why are there so many of them now outside the big cities?

BY GEORGE WALTZ, JR.

BOYS WILL be boys—luckily—and that is every Boys' Club's reason for being, whether it is in a lovely little seaside town like Laguna Beach, or in a blighted Chicago slum. Every boy, no matter what his background and his home life, wants to belong to a group—call it a "gang" if you wish. He wants to have friends. He wants to be praised by his equals. He wants to be "one of the boys." And this goes for the youngster who lives in a suburb or small community as well as the boy who lives in a big-city slum.

If the "gang" has bad leadership, or no leadership at all, they find idle time on their hands and there the trouble begins. Where this is a problem, boys need a Club—boys in pleasant suburbs as much as boys cooped up in cities. They need their time gainfully employed—or else!

If they have comfortable homes and good schools and all outdoors to play in, it seems as if they might be able to keep out of harm's way by themselves. But they can't always.

All too often now we see headlines like these: "Youth Gang Goes On Robbery Spree," "Six Boys Held in Rape Case," "Teen-age Drinking On The Rise," and "Youths Rob Homes of $30,000 Just For 'Kicks'." These, and many other similar news stories are not from big-city or large-community newspapers. They are from suburban towns and small towns all over the country. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, Chairman of the Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee recently quoted some startling statistics. "In rural (including suburban) areas," he said, "delinquents of both sexes comprised 15 percent of all police arrests. . . . Some 5.5 percent of all murders committed in suburban communities were committed by juveniles." Senator Dodd went into the subject even further when he told the Committee, "I would like to comment briefly on the so-called 'white-collar' delinquent—juveniles who lack the excuse of poverty, a poor home, the high confinement and compression of big-city slum life. Slum life has been an excuse, and still is, if there ever is an excuse—it is an explanation at least—and helps to understand more completely the plight of many juvenile delinquents. But we now have a group that cannot be accounted for in this way. . . . Daily, somewhere in the United States, head- lines tell the story of another serious incident in- volving children from backgrounds not normally associated with high juvenile crime rates."

To see what a Boys' Club can mean to a sub- urban boy who might be drifting into trouble, take the not-so-remarkable case of Frankie Stafford. That isn't his real name of course, and it is enough to say that he lives in a small, attractive California town near San Francisco.

Frank's mother and father both work at one of the nearby resort hotels—his father as a handyman and his mother as a maid. They leave the title

Boys' Clubs

What is A Boy?

BY HERBERT HOOVER

Together with his sister, the boy is our most precious possession. But he presents not only joys and hopes but also paradoxes. He strains our nerves, yet he is a complex of cells teeming with affection. He is a periodic nuisance yet he is a joy forever. He is a part-time incarnation of destruction, yet he radiates sunlight to all the world. He gives evidence of being the child of iniquity, yet he makes a great nation. He is filled with curiosity as to every mortal thing; he is an illuminated interrogation point, yet he is the most entertaining animal that is.

The whole world is new to him. Therefore, his should be a life of adventure, of discovery, of great undertakings. He must spend much time, if he is to expand, in the land of make-believe. One of the sad things is that he must grow up into the land of realities.

He is endowed with a dynamic energy and an impelling desire to take exercise on all occasions. His primary instinct is to hunt in a peck and that multiplies his devices. He is a complete self-starter, and therefore, wisdom in dealing with him consists mostly in what to do next. And his peck can go on this hunt for happiness either constructively or destructively. Our first problem is to find him constructive joy, instead of destructive glaze.

A Boys' Club is the answer!

Stafford home fairly early in the morning and seldom get home much before dinner. They are tired from their day at the hotel and not particularly interested in little-boy troubles.

For the most part of the day, five days a week, Frank is on his own. Without supervision and guidance at home, he is left to his own devices and for a while his own devices started to lead him into trouble.

One Saturday, without really knowing why, he tried to see if he could break a window of a closed house with his baseball. It was quite tricky—breaking the window without losing the ball—and, all told, Frank managed to shatter three. He was found out, of course, but the owners were insured and were friends of his parents, so nothing much came of it. But in Frank's case this piece of vandalism might have led on to the next one, except that at this point he discovered that there was a Boys' Club in the community. He also discovered that the dues for belonging were about a penny a day. By doing a little work for neighbors, he was able to make enough for a year's membership. Frankie is no longer a drifter looking for something to do, some place to go after school or during the summer when school is closed. He goes to the Boys' Club. The doors of his Club—and he feels it is his Club because he pays dues—are always open during the day. He can go there and find something to do and boys his own age to join him. Even if he has no one at home in the daytime, it doesn't matter so much now because he has a place of his own.

A Boys' Club can help a Frankie Stafford, obviously, but the majority of its members have no such serious problems. It would be sad and frightening to think they had, with 600 Boys' Clubs of America now in existence, and by far the largest number located in small communities!

In many of the western and mid-western Clubs—from Trenton, Michigan, on out to Santa Monica—most of the boys in town are members.

Unlike the large cities, where the sons of poor families living in crowded quarters are the typical members, only about 20% of the membership in a suburban Club is "low income," while 70% come from families of average income and 10% from families who are fairly well off. Aside from the advantage of being in a good gang, as noted earlier, what does a Club do for these "regular" boys?

A DISTINGUISHED ALUMNUS of the Boys' Club of New Britain, Conn., puts it very plainly.

"At the Boys' Club I learned athletic skills," says Abraham Ribicoff, "which are most difficult to acquire in the course of haphazard, unsupervised play. At an early age I learned valuable lessons in fair play and sportsmanship. I also give the Boys' Club a large share of credit for introducing me to the wonderful world of reading. The Club must never be considered as merely an institution devoted to sports. Its cultural program, reaching boys in their formative years, is most important."

And this comes from our present Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare!

One last word for the Boys' Clubs, this time in skimpy boy's language:

One Saturday afternoon, a new member of a mid-western Club, a little tyke of 12, wanted to know what time the clubhouse opened the next day.

"Well, tomorrow is Sunday," the director pointed out.

"Okay. But when does the Club open?" repeated the boy.

"The clubhouse is closed on Sundays," the director answered.

A glum look spread over the youngster's face. "Ah, gee," he said, "what am I going to do all day?"

"All right then, how would you say it if you were the giant?"

The Town That Plays Santa

In Pasadena hopeful children's letters are answered in person by the jolly old elf everyone believes in

BY DELL ROENSCH

JUST ASK any child in Pasadena, California, if there really is a Santa Claus. The resounding "Yes!" is backed by businessmen of the town who, these past 26 years, have developed a unique and wonderful way of celebrating Christmas.

In that city any child, rich or poor, can mail a letter addressed simply "Santa Claus, North Pole." Postage in most cases is paid at the receiving end by a happy if slightly irregular arrangement with the post office, and on Christmas Eve the good saint positively will come ho-ho-hoing to the front door. He'll visit at least 8,000 homes this year. In make-up, costume, and deportment he's almost always perfect—curly and beard, for instance, are by Hollywood's Max Factor himself—so that even the sophisticated ten-year-olds are hard put to maintain their cynicism.

These breath-taking calls are the work of some hundred community leaders, including men of all faiths, and their plan could be used in any town of any size. All remain anonymous—but have they ever had fun!

One very rotund Rotarian, a court judge in real life, was waving and shouting goodbye to children in a fine big house when, as Santa, he carelessly leaped off the front porch into their four-foot-deep goldfish pool. His Honor was soaked but his ardor was undampened. He hurried back to the Pole, got into dry costume and went on to another home—only to have a "friendly" dog strip off his trousers. Exceptional? Not at all; each year such incidents are routine.

These men are not the sleazy "professional" Santas who clutter up the world too soon after Thanksgiving. All are busy townspeople who "try out" for the part, contribute their money as well as their time, and are carefully rehearsed for weeks before Christmas. You wouldn't think they'd be able to manage such doings on top of staging their Rose Parade and Rose Bowl game on New Year's Day, but playing Santa Claus is the project most loved by the whole town.

The rewards are beyond measuring. There are no "do-gooder" aspects; it's just that one of the great dreams of our lives is cherished. The Santas start to work on Christmas Eve at 5 o'clock, and move fast. Somewhere around midnight they straggle in, weary but exalted.

"I still can't believe it," one muttered to his friends after a memorable experience, "but I saw it myself."

He had responded to a letter that asked in childish scrawl, "Please, please bring our daddy back from the war in Asia. It's all we want." He had of course to alibi for inability here; he knew that the daddy of these hopeful children could not come home for months. Despite his gifts of candy and toys, the yearning remained all too obvious, and the usual jolly talk for once didn't jell. Santa picked up the baby to kiss it.

That funny-looking word means once-a-week in French. So? Well, in France, gasoline is very expensive. This is a dismaying fact for thrifty-souled French drivers. To please them, we aimed at making cars that used a minimum of fuel. A once-a-week fill 'er up was our goal; and we made it.

Even over here, with much cheaper gasoline, that once-a-week is a wonderful filling. You can go over 300 miles on a mere eight gallons. Trips into town, countless trips to the supermarket, comfortable, happy trips all over, all week. One tankful; one small gas purchase. (Take a trip to France with all the money you save. Show off that big word that's up there. Or even go to London and take a ride in a Dauphine taxi.)

Here are some other things you might like to know about us and our cars. We've been making them since 1898. We're now number 6 in auto production in the world. With each of our cars—the Dauphine, the Dauphine Deluxe, the more powerful Dauphine Gordini, the convertible Caravelle—we give a 12 month or 12,000 mile warranty. The Dauphine's suggested P.O.E. price starts at $1395. And that's probably the best car buy of this or any other week.

We wholeheartedly suggest that you visit one of our dealers as soon as possible. Thrift and love, said a Frenchman, are best unpostponed.

Council, Board React to TVDC Member's Act

VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia Beach and the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors passed identical resolutions Monday threatening to withdraw their support of the Tidewater Virginia Development Council.

The actions came about after W. R. Maul, chairman of the TVDC finance committee, was named to Norfolk's Citizens Committee for Metro Study. The citizens' group was formed at a luncheon Friday, hosted by Norfolk City Council, as a "final hour" attempt to delay the proposed Virginia Beach-Princess Anne County merger.

The resolution states:

"WHEREAS, for years the City of Virginia Beach has been making annual contributions to the support of the Tidewater Virginia Development Council and desires to continue doing so along with other governing bodies in this area, the contribution being made on a per capita basis, whereas, it is the duty of the City to focus attention on the problems and to promote the welfare of the City of Virginia Beach, and

"WHEREAS, at a meeting last week Mr. W. R. Maul who has served and is serving as Chairman of the finance committee of the TVDC for political subdivisions, although not a citizen of Princess Anne County, has agreed to serve on a committee telling Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach how they should operate their governments and is apparently attempting to force his views and those of other outside interests on the citizens of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach.

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that Mr. R. L. Woodward, President of the TVDC be asked to state publicly whether or not Mr. Maul is reflecting the views of the TVDC in his brazen attempt to interfere with the internal affairs of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach. If he is expressing the views of the TVDC, the TVDC is hereby declared to be a body that will not approve any contributions to the TVDC. The Council believes that the people of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County are capable of governing themselves without outside interference from Mr. Maul or

A Christmas Message

By W. KENNETH HADDOCK,
Pastor, Virginia Beach Methodist Church

"Are you willing to believe that love is the strongest thing in the world—stronger than hate, stronger than evil, stronger than death—and that the blessed life which began in Bethlehem nineteen hundred years ago is the image and brightness of Eternal Love? Then you can keep Christmas. And if you keep it for a day, why not always? But you can never keep it alone."

Our destinies are tied together. Long ago we learned that if typhoid fever is allowed to plague the underprivileged, the diseases comes quickly enough into the homes of the privileged. What can be said of physical disease can also be said of our emotions. Social maladjustment produced a psychotic Hitler and he in turn brought sorrow to the world and never forget.

A devout Christian layman once offered a prayer, which gives inspiration to all who would truly keep Christmas:

"Lord, make me an instrument of Thy peace;
That where there is hatred, I may bring love;
That where there is wrong, I may bring the spirit of forgiveness;
That where there is discord, I may bring harmony;
Where there is error, I may bring truth;
Where there is doubt, I may bring faith;
Where despair, where there are shadows, where there is sadness,
I may bring hope; I may bring Thy light; I may bring joy!
Lord, grant that I may seek rather to comfort,
Than to be comforted;
To understand, than to be understood;
To love, than to be loved.
For it is by loving that one receives;
It is by comforting one finds;
It is by forgiving that one is forgiven;
It is by loving that one awakes unto eternal life."

In these days of acute problems we will find ourselves in greater experientially the challenges of the word of Jesus when he said, "Now celebrate, 'Whatever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them.'"

We cannot deny our unity, and yet very definitely, when Christmas comes, we realize that the love of God is the answer to our strained and weary human existence, no international, intergroup, and interpersonal unity can be found in the love of God, nor in bashing one's table with a cynical smile, nor in verbal invectives, but in understanding and in genuine love which transcends hate or evil or death, to the eternal life in the world.

Love comes down at Christmas,
Love is lovely, Love is true,
Love was born at Christmas,
Love and peace gave the sign.

Hawks Tripped By Academy in Overtime Battle

After winning four straight conference games, the Virginia Beach Seahawk basketball team fell before Norfolk Academy Tuesday afternoon in a two-overtime battle. The score was 82 to 80.

A 6-5 Hunt Rawlings proved the undoing of the local team when he pumped in 37 points. The Seahawks rallied in the final period but Rawlings kept right on making points. At the end the score was tied 69-68 and after the first overtime it was 72-72.

Virginia Beach went into the contest a distinct favorite to beat the Bulldogs, who had lost two games. The Seahawks, however, were in trouble from the very start.

Jay Horton led the Beach scorers with 24 points and Richard Neal followed with 18. Dubby Wynne of the Academy tallied 25 points to go with Rawlings' 37.

The Seahawks had their best field goal average in their first loss. They hit 35 out of 70 for a 50 per cent mark. The winners posted a 39 per cent mark but took 89 shots.

Meanwhile, the Seahawks Jayvees were also tasting defeat on their home court. The junior varsity bowed to the Frank Cox quintet, 31 to 25.

County Miss to Be Ball Queen

KING'S GRANT—Miss Linda Howell, a sophomore at Princess Anne High School, was chosen "Battalion Sweetheart" at Frederick Military Academy's Fourth Annual Military Ball Friday night at the Suburban Country Club in Portsmouth.

Miss Howell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wilson Howell of 211 Canterbury Road in King's Grant. Her sister, Sharon Howell, is a freshman at Frederick College with a full tuition scholarship.

The county girl was sponsored and escorted by Cadet LeRoy Davis, son of the Rev. and Mrs. LeRoy Davis of Princess Anne County. Rev. Davis is pastor of Tabernacle Methodist Church.

Cadet Davis attended York High School before enrolling in Princess Anne High School for his sophomore year. This is his first year at Frederick Military Academy where he is a junior.

Ten finalists for the "Sweetheart" honor were chosen from picture entries by the FMA Battalion Staff. The winner was selected from the finalists Friday by Col. Philip G. Incoe, academy president; Lt. Col. R. C. Plaine, Maj. William C. Jones, Maj. Neal Tolson and Malcolm Deasley, son of the Academy's founder-benefactor.

In the ceremonies that followed Miss Howell's selection, she was commissioned "Captain" and the "Tie" or insignia of rank was pinned on her by Lt. Col. H. H. Church. She was also presented a lovely arm-bouquet of a dozen sweetheart roses.

Other festivities of the Ball included the Grand March, led by Col. and Mrs. Incoe. Other participants consisted of the faculty and their wives.

Music for the affair was furnished by Bob Haywood and his Combo Band.

Questions and The Answers

Last week in an effort to confuse the issue the Mayor of the City of Norfolk invited prominent citizens to attend what was supposedly a Metro study meeting. Instead, it turned out to be an attempt on the part of the Mayor of the City of Norfolk to interfere, as he has in the past, with the merger now before the people of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach and a matter which should be decided by them without any outside interference.

Thomas F. Maxwell, city manager for the City of Norfolk, also had to get into the act by trying to tell Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach what they should and should not do. He asked several questions and anyone who has heard the answers given by Mr. Sidney S. Kellam will understand and know that the answers he has given have been clear, straight forward and to the point.

We, of course, realize that it will be impossible for Mr. Kellam to give answers that will be satisfactory to hostile outside interests, who are doing all they can to prevent the consolidation of the beach and county. But, as Mr. Kellam points out, the people of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach are receiving city services now, and in many instances, superior to services received by the citizens of Norfolk. As an example the transportation of our school children which will not only continue under the consolidation agreement but will extend to the present City of Virginia Beach. This is a partial reason why it will not have any effect on taxes or services that the people are now enjoying in Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach.

The county's engineers have repeatedly stated that they will be able to maintain their roads out of revenue they will receive from the gasoline tax and that the income from traffic violations which now go to the state will more than offset any increase in the cost of police protection. It is also pointed out that the county and city now has fire protection adequate to the needs of the people and there will be no increased cost for this protection.

And, under the Department of Taxation the assessment for Virginia Beach has recently been made and at the present time a similar assessment survey is being made in the county. What Mr. Maxwell should do is find out the kind of government that the people of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach are enjoying. Or, maybe he already knows and tries to ask questions just to confuse the issue. When Norfolk City recently annexed areas of Princess Anne County one of the first steps was to more than double taxes.

As an example, Lot 30 in North Camellia Acres went from $92.40 to $203.40. Lot 3, Block 19 found a tax increase from $99 to $225.60 and Lot 2 taxes went from $85.80 to $227.40. This is typical of the tax increases so instead of asking questions Mr. Maxwell should take time to explain what he did with their tax increase.

It would seem to us that he (Maxwell) could better apply his time to his own city rather than interfere with something he has nothing to do with, which is how the people of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach desire to run their government. Apparently, Mr. Maxwell and Mayor Duckworth want a Metro form of government to be dictated to only by themselves, but other areas are entitled to, and should receive, consideration as to what's good for them.

We think it is quite proper that the people of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach be allowed to govern themselves without paid officials of other cities telling them what they ought to do.

ment ratios be adjusted to account for the presently estimated 40 per cent of true value tax ratio in Virginia Beach and 15 per cent of true value tax ratio in Princess Anne County?

A. A few years ago Virginia Beach had an assessment made under the direction of the State Tax Department and at the present time the county is having the same assessment made. It will be adjusted to be equal and fair to all.

Q. If a facility such as a park and recreation area is constructed in one borough for the use of people throughout the county, who will pay the cost of such construction?

A. The people of the county, if it is constructed for the benefit of all the people.

Q. Has there been any legal determination made of the constitutional of the state statute under which this proposed consolidation is to take place?

A. The finest law firm in the state says it is legal.

Q. What plans have been made for providing the water supply essential to the future growth of the city if water is no longer available to newly developed areas from the Norfolk water system?

A. Everyone knows that 100,000 people are capable of supplying themselves with water if Norfolk City becomes so arrogant as to cut the water off.

anyone else, even though he may be doing what Mayor Duckworth tells him to do.

Denny Connection
In reply to the resolution, both Maul and TVDC President Richard L. Woodward, Jr. of Suffolk said publicly Tuesday that the activities of the committee have nothing to do with the TVDC, an organization of 18 political subdivisions in Tidewater.

Virginia Beach contributes $2,427.30 annually to TVDC and the county's support is $6,000. Also named to the committee were John L. Roper, Forrest Cathey, and Robert W. Stewart. These men were appointed to serve as a steering group to elect a 20-man executive committee.

Mayor W. Fred Duckworth told the more than 100 Norfolk businessmen who attended the luncheon that a municipal consultant has been hired to gather facts on the merger. He also said a public relations firm has been employed to work with the citizens committee in pre-

Scale Model

Rocket Replica On Display at 'Dome'

VIRGINIA BEACH—A scaled replica of Project Mercury's Redstone III rocket took its place of honor Wednesday in the foyer of the Alan B. Shepard Convention Center arriving in time for the annual Children's Christmas Party Thursday night.

The party will be held in the center from 6 to 10:30 p.m. and will be sponsored by the City of Virginia Beach and local merchants.

"The rocket is so much like the original you can't tell the difference," Bill Lillyman, director of sales for the center, commented.

The 17 feet tall model, weighing about 250 pounds, has a white base trimmed in black, the capsule is brown and the escape package at the top is orange. It is an exact replica of the one that took Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard on his historic flight into space last May. The astronaut is a resident of Bay Colony.

Recites History
To be mounted on a revolving motor-driven platform, the model will feature a tape recording of the first five minutes of actual flight including the countdown and blastoff.

Also in the foyer, Lillyman said, will be a painted photo mural of Cmdr. Shepard which has been approved by Mrs. Shepard. Beneath the mural will be the plaque that was dedicated in August.

The model was made by the South Eastern Heating and Air Conditioning Inc., of Norfolk and will be donated to the city by a benefactor who prefers to remain nameless at this time, Lillyman said.

Lillyman contacted McDonald Aircraft of St. Louis, builders of the original rocket, last fall in an attempt to get a scaled model. Their price was $9,500. Lillyman said, and was "out of the question." He also said that the model would have had to remain outside and the cost of upkeep would be tremendous.

Two men were sitting in Lillyman's office as he talked to St. Louis and commented that they might be interested in building the rocket. Richard A. Edwards, president of the heating firm comparing the data.

Results of this hurry-up work will be made public to residents of the beach and county before the merger referendum balloting on January 4.

The City of Norfolk will finance the merger study which will be conducted by James O. Yarger and Associates. Personnel and Management Services, of Falls Church.

Highway Users Urging Lights On Campaign

RICHMOND — "Follow the example of the professional truck drivers—keep your lights on for safety during the holiday weekends."

This is the urgent message that is being extended to all drivers of motor vehicles says the Virginia Highway Users Association, the state trade association of the trucking industry.

Following a practice that was put into use Labor Day weekend this year, when traffic fatalities in the nation were significantly fewer than a year earlier, truck drivers will turn their lights around the clock the two approaching holiday weekends. The two periods will run from Friday, December 22, through Tuesday, December 26, and Friday, December 29, through Tuesday, January 2.

In the nation there were 415 immediate deaths from traffic crashes during Labor Day weekend 1960. In 1961, when the lights on for safety program was put into practice, there were 350 immediate deaths. These figures do not include unavailable statistics on deaths that resulted later due to injuries.

The truck drivers have asked all drivers to cooperate with them during the Christmas and New Year weekends. They believe that motor vehicle drivers will be reminded again and again by oncoming lights that a hazardous situation exists during these peak travel periods, and that extra alertness and caution are necessary. Special studies by the Federal government show that the risk of fatality in Christmas driving is 70 per cent greater than for a comparable non-holiday period.

This season, Christmas and New Year are three-day weekends, which will tend to promote a greater volume of holiday traffic. Many drivers will wait until the last minute to start, and will want to get there in a hurry. Lights on might slow them down.

Creeds Principal

MRS. BELL HEADS RURAL SCHOOL IN P.A. COUNTY SYSTEM

(This is one of a series of articles to appear in this paper on the men and women who serve as principals of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County Schools.)

By RUBY JEAN PHILLIPS

CREEDS—One of the older Princess Anne County schools, Creeds Elementary School is neat and clean, serving its 10 year existence, amid trim old farmhouses, some of cultivated farmlands and big spreading trees.

Located on the main road leading down through Back Bay and the farthestmost parts of the county, the building is one of the few remaining schools to serve a rural community.

Immediately adjacent to the plant is the site of the old Blossom Hill School, said to be the first public school in the county. The one-room school has long since given away to the ages and a nice, modern home stands in its place. This is the home of Mrs. Beale S. Bell, principal of Creeds School.

Mrs. Bell's 90-year-old mother, Mrs. James D. Salmon, lives here with her and delights in telling her daughter stories about the old school. A native of the county, Mrs. Salmon well remembers when the one-room held about 70 students and how youngsters crowded around the teacher's elevated platform.

The first Creeds High School was built in that community about 1912 but the present building, now housing grades 1-7, was built in 1939.

Rural Different Because Creeds is a rural school, Mrs. Bell said, the teachers find they must adjust the needs and materials along these lines rather than those in city schools. Through individualized instruction, they try to bring real nature and science specimens into the classroom.

Individualized teaching is the most important thing a teacher must learn, Mrs. Bell said. "We have to know how a child feels about himself. Learn his own views about himself. Now we must understand the value of a child. Each has talent and the teacher must encourage him to develop it. We must convince him that he can learn."

A teacher for many years before accepting the principalship in 1954, Mrs. Bell said her teaching procedures have undergone a great change in the past few years.

There are no more materials and teaching aids available now to make the classroom program more individualized.

NEWS FOR VETERANS

When a veteran receiving pension is found in need of regular aid and attendance, his pension under the old law is increased to $135.45 and by $70 under the new law. This additional allowance for aid and attendance is discontinued the first day of the veteran's admission to a Veterans Administration hospital, with the exception of cases of blindness, leprosy, and paraplegia with loss of bladder and anal control.

For example a veteran receiving $135.45 under the old law, with none of the three excepted disabilities, is admitted to a VA hospital on December 2, 1961.
His pension check is reduced to $68.15 or $78.75, as appropriated, as of December 2, 1961.

In the case of a veteran receiving pension of $90.00 under the new law plus $70.00 for aid and attendance, with none of the three excepted disabilities, who is admitted to a VA hospital on December 2, 1961, the monthly payments are reduced to $90.00 effective the same day. On the first day of the month following two calendar months of hospital treatment or domiciliary care, or on March 1, 1962, the veteran's check is cut to $90.00 per month. The difference between the veteran's basic rate of $90.00 and the $90.00 may be apportioned to his wife and children if the family needs the money.
This difference can never be paid to the veteran himself.

Mrs. Bell

interesting and the children today put so much of their own creativity into the classroom procedure. The county is also doing so much for teachers by offering consultants to help with any problems they might have.

A native of the county, Mrs.
Bell's first teaching position was in her home area. She later taught in Norfolk County before giving up her work to live in Newport News and become a housewife and mother. She returned to the county in 1943, to accept a teaching position at Creeds and later become principal.

Mrs. Bell received her BS degree from Longwood College and her graduate work at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg.

When she isn't involved in school work, she enjoys sewing and cooking and "keeping the home running." But most of all, she enjoys an occasional fishing trip with her son, Julian, who is presently studying engineering at VPI.

With so many other forms of Christmas cheer available, it's a shame that so many Holiday drivers prefer it in bottles. The Institute for Safer Living estimates that at least 60 per cent of fatal traffic accidents over the Christmas and New Year weekends will involve a drinking driver.

A FIFTH "H"

In at least one area of Princess Anne County, the 4-H Club has now become the 5-H Club. The fifth "H" is for Horse, and the people who are all excited about the 5-H Club, are a group of youngsters, being led by Mrs. Betty Creekmore, at Bayside, Virginia. Betty and her husband, Paul, became interested in the 5-H Club some months ago, and after serious study and consultation with the Extension Agents decided to help a group of young people organize a 5-H Club.

Some 35 boys and girls have enrolled in this new project being offered to 4-H for the first time in Princess Anne County this year. Already, this club has elected its officers and is planning a horse show on December 29. All people are invited to come, and watch these members perform. Bring the Children, and have a good day. You may come at any time because it is going on all the time.

DAIRYMEN TO MEET

On January 9, members of the Coastal DHIA and Owner-Sampler Assn. will meet for its Annual Meeting. The guest speaker will be Dr. Frank Elmore, Extension Dairymen, from VPI, who will discuss More and Better Forage for the Dairy Cow. After the Program, the members will conduct their annual business meeting.

SEEDSMEN TO MEET

On January 23, seedsmen of the Norfolk area will meet to study more about the seed business in Virginia and how it can offer better quality seed for farmers here in Southeastern Virginia. Details have not been completed, so watch carefully in this column for more details regarding time, place and date.

Mrs. Tilton New Capt. Jim Manager

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. Anne Tilton was recently named manager of Capt. Jim's Imports Shop at Norfolk and Cypress Avenues.

After moving here five years ago from Richmond, Mrs. Tilton, who had studied and practiced art and sculpture, became affiliated with Marie Richardson Interiors as an interior decorator, a position she held for four years.

This decorating background has been very beneficial, to me, Mrs. Tilton said, helping the import shop's patrons select items for their homes.

Foreign Influence

"The oriental motif is becoming more and more popular here," she said, "because it fits in with the modern designs. Women with Early American homes often comment that imports don't fit in with their furniture. But I disagree. I think the pewter and brass items, even though they are made in other countries, are as Early American as they can be."

With articles representing about 25 countries displayed in the shop, Mrs. Tilton said white china from the Orient, trimmed slippers from the Philippines and knits have been among the most popular Christmas items.

"I think people are trying to get away from the same type gifts and are selecting unusual items this year," she said.

Mrs. Tilton lives on 65th St. with her husband, Lee Scoville Tilton, who is associated with the Golden Triangle in Norfolk, and three of their five children: Cary, a teacher at John B. Dey School, Seville, 16, a student at Virginia Beach High School; and Nancy, 12, a student at Linkhorn Park School.

Two other daughters work in Richmond; Mary Lee with the Life Insurance Company of Virginia and Lloyd, with Reynolds Metal Company.

The MIXING BOWL ... IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and fables . . . for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

Ham Fancy

A touch of red and a bit of green sets the mood for a Yuletide table setting. A handsome smoked ham attracts fascinated viewers when decked out in its fashionable, festive attire . . . pinpoints stars and sprigs of bright green parsley.

There's no need to announce a Christmas dinner. The home-maker will have all she can do to get the festive food array past the admiring glances of the family members and on the table.

Here is a suggestion on how to prepare a delicious smoked ham for the holiday feast.

Simply purchase a 12 to 14-pound ham . . . make it a point to plan on leftovers. Leftover ham dishes are numerous and watch the men ask for seconds.

Place the ham, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Do not add water or cover the roast. Bake the ham in a 300° F. oven . . . if roasting a fresh pork cut, use a 350° F. oven. Allow 18 to 20 minutes per pound if roasting (baking) a whole ham or 22 to 25 minutes for a half ham.

A decoration or glaze gives this meat cut a "note of distinction." The glaze, either honey, brown sugar or fruit or a combination of these, is applied about 30 minutes before the ham is done. After the glaze is applied, the ham is returned to the 300° F. oven to finishing cooking and to allow the glaze to set.

HAM WITH ORANGE-APRICOT SAUCE
Yield: About 2 cups
Fully cooked ham
1 pound can apricot halves
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
11 ounce can mandarin

orange sections
1½ teaspoon cornstarch
1/8 teaspoon ground cloves
Drain apricot halves, reserving the liquid. Mash the apricot halves with a fork. Combine apricot juice and lemon rind in a saucepan and bring to a boil. Drain the mandarin orange sections, reserving the liquid. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is thick and clear. Add mashed apricots and ground cloves. Cook for about 5 minutes. Serve sauce hot or cold with sliced ham.

Use mandarin orange sections and cloves to decorate the top of the ham, which has been scored and glazed.

Sweet potatoes go gala for the holidays.

Cherished favorites deserve special treatment at Christmas time—and that applies to foods as well as friends, particularly to the delicious, nutritious sweet potato. There's something so satisfying about the subtle sweet flavor of the sociable sweet potato—compatible with all kinds of meats—that it's been a favorite ever since the early South Americans gave it the romantic sounding name of "casadi".

Few vegetables keep as busy the year-round, in kitchens all over the country—being boiled, mashed, fried, roasted & baked as does this golden, fleshy tuber. New ways to fix it are always good news.

For instance, try fresh apple and sweet potato puffs, globes of blended flavor that, besprinkled with slivered almonds, are like Dickens' charitable gentlemen, "portly and pleasant to behold." Or a casserole of sweet potato custard, spiced with nutmeg, cinnamon and ginger, and tanged with grated fresh lemon rind. And, have you any idea how delightful sweet potatoes are when stuffed with sharp cheese?

Remember that sweet potatoes ask always to be cooked in their skins to preserve the full flavor and conserve nutrients. When it comes to nutrients, the sturdy sweet potato is a real prize package. It is, in fact, one of the most completely high-vitamin, high-energy foods, loaded especially with vitamins A, and munitificent of minerals, too.

So, deck the board with sweet potatoes in festive new guises for the holidays, using these recipes offered by the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association.

FRESH APPLE & SWEET POTATO PUFFS
4 large sweet potatoes (about 2 pounds)
1 large apple
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1/8 teaspoon ground white pepper
¼ teaspoon ground allspice
1 egg, lightly beaten
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup slivered blanched almonds
Cook sweet potatoes in their skins in sufficient water to cover until tender. Drain and mash well. Peel, core and shred apple. Combine hot mashed potatoes with shredded apple, next 5 ingredients and 1 tablespoon of the butter or margarine. Shape into 2-inch balls. (Use an ice cream scoop, if possible.) Place on a lightly greased cookie sheet. Sprinkle with almonds. Brush with remaining 3 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted). Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375° F.) 40 to 45 minutes. Serve hot.

YIELD: 12 two-inch puffs

Cheese Stuffed Sweet Potatoes
4 medium sweet potatoes (1½ to 2 pounds)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon ground white pepper
½ cup grated sharp American or Cheddar cheese
Wash potatoes and pat dry. Prick skins to permit the escape of steam. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400° F.) 1 hour or until done. Remove a top slice from the potatoes and carefully scoop out the insides. Mash with remaining ingredients, reserving 2 tablespoons of the cheese. To sprinkle over the top of potatoes. Pile lightly into shells. Sprinkle with reserved cheese. Place under broiler for 10 minutes or in a preheated hot oven (400° F.) 15 minutes.
YIELD: 4 servings.

LET'S TALK TURKEY!
Traditionally a favorite on holiday menus, turkey is especially plentiful these days and is attractively priced to fit even the smallest budget.

In selecting your holiday bird, be sure it bears the U. S. Department of Agriculture Grade A shield on the package. This sign means that the turkey has been individually and impartially judged by a Federal or Federal-State grader.

The Grade A turkey is full-fleshed and meaty, and it has a good layer of fat to keep the bird tender and juicy while cooking. It also is well shaped and has no bruises, tears, discolorations or pinfeathers.

Two other grades, for which official standards also exist, are "B" and "C". While turkeys of these grades are just as nutritious as the Grade A turkey, they lack the "meatiness" and fine appearance of the top grade bird.

Turkeys are individually inspected for wholesomeness. So, look for the round USDA inspection mark and the words "Inspected for Wholesomeness by the U. S. Department of Agriculture" on the package. It tells you that the turkey has been processed under sanitary conditions and that it has been examined inside and out by a trained inspector who certifies it as safe, wholesome food.

PICK THE TURKEY TO SUIT YOUR FAMILY

If your family is small, try a turkey "fryer-roaster." It's a young bird—3 to 4 months old—and will run about 3 to 8 lbs. You can fry it or broil it. Or, it can be stuffed and roasted. Whatever your preference.

For the middle-size family, select a middle-size turkey. You can get roasting-age hens anywhere from 5 to 15 pounds. Figure 1/2 lb. per serving.

Usually, the bigger the bird, the cheaper the price per lb. So why not buy a large turkey and invite company in. Broad Breasted Bronze and the new large Whites come in ready-to-cook weights up to 30 pounds. Hens average 10 to 15 pounds; toms, 16 to 24.

Another way to take advantage of the economy prices for large birds is to have one split. Cook half of it now; freeze the other half. The meat department of your supermarket will cut your turkey down the middle to make a half turkey roast of from 7 to 12 pounds. At the dinner table this will be 15 to 25 servings.

You also may find turkey parts on the market this year. These will cost you a little more per pound than whole turkeys. But if your family will eat only white meat—or dark meat—it may be cheaper to select just the pieces they like. There's another advantage, too. There won't be any left-overs.

The turkey may be stuffed and then cooked or stuffed may be cooked in another baking pan or dish.

The turkey may be cooked covered or uncovered. Though true roasting means uncovered, many people think that the meat is more moist if the bird is cooked covered. Foil may be used and opened during the last hour of cooking to allow time to brown.

Several cautions: It is not recommended that a turkey be thawed at room temperature especially if stuffed. Neither do experts recommend that a turkey be partially cooked one day and cooking completed the next day, unless it remains within the 50-120° temperature range for no more than four hours.

Dressing should be cooled before placing in the turkey which should be chilled. After stuffing keep chilled until put in the oven.

Some dressing recipes are:

As the pace of life in our nation accelerates, so apparently does our crime rate. According to the F.B.I.'s latest annual report, crime is increasing four times faster than our population growth. There were four serious crimes committed every minute last year, and almost twice as many crimes were recorded in 1960 as a decade ago. Robbery and burglary, larceny theft, and auto theft, in particular, have maintained a steady upward trend, increasing 13%, 14% and 9% respectively in a year. Approximately three hundred million dollars in money and property was stolen last year, a large portion of which was taken from business establishments and residents.

Norfolk Firm Named Porsche Auto Dealer

NORFOLK—Don Smith, president of Castle Cars, Inc. of Norfolk, announced this week that his firm has been named Tidewater distributor for the Porsche, German sports car hand made in Stuttgart.

Though the firm previously handled the cars, they dropped the franchise a few years ago because of the factory's inability to fill orders. At that time the factory was making about 30 cars a day.

However a new distribution and allocation system has been set up, Smith said, and the factory now assures quicker delivery.

An initial delivery of six Porsches, which sell from $3,700 to $5,000, was received by the firm last week. Castle Cars is also Tidewater distributor for the Volkswagen.

VA Planning To Mail Checks

The Veterans Administration said today it had completed arrangements for early mailing of training checks to GI Bill trainees so they will receive them before Virginia schools recess for the Christmas holidays.

The Roanoke Regional Office has stepped up the schedule for processing the November training certifications and the U.S. Treasury Disbursing Office has agreed to mail the checks on December 14 instead of the regular December 20 payment date in a "Santa Claus" crash program so the some 1300 veteran trainees and War Orphans will have Christmas money.

Under the law, the trainees cannot be paid until they have completed the full month's training and they and the schools forward certifications to this effect to the VA.

Immediately upon the close of the November period, the students and schools completed the certifications in record time and got them off to the VA far ahead of schedule, so everybody became "Santa's helpers."

4-H Club Lamb Show & Sale Attracts Much Interest in Tidewater Area

A tent erected on the parking lot of Mid-City Shopping Center on Wednesday, December 13, was the setting for one of the most interesting and unusual 4-H Club events ever to take place in this area. Inside this tent ten local 4-H Club members proudly presented to the public one hundred lambs which they had finished out for market. Five 4-H'ers in Norfolk County and 5 in Princess Anne County each had on display a pen of ten lambs to be judged in 4-H competition and then sold at public auction.

The Show, which took place on Wednesday morning, proved to be very interesting and showed the abilities of well trained 4-H Club members. Each of these members had selected, fitted and prepared for showing the best lamb out of his pen of ten. These lambs were shown as individuals by each club member who was competing for two different prizes, as he was being judged both on the quality of the lamb that he was showing and also on his ability to fit and show a lamb. Will Thrasher was awarded the trophy for the first place lamb in Norfolk County, and also a trophy for the Grand Champion Lamb of the Show. Patricia Brickhouse, of Princess Anne County, was awarded the trophy for the first place lamb in her county, and also the trophy for the Reserve Champion Lamb of the Show. Lee Parker, Jr., was awarded the trophy for the best ob done in fitting and showmanship in the whole show. Johnny Osmundson was awarded the trophy for the first place pen of lambs in Princess Anne County; and also the trophy for the Grand Champion Pen of Lambs out of the entire show. Mark Urban was awarded the trophy for the first place pen of lambs in Norfolk County, and the trophy for the Reserve Champion Pen of Lambs in the Show. Trophies and ribbons were awarded to all of the 4-H Club members in accordance with the order in which they placed in each event.

The Sale, which took place on Wednesday afternoon, was the event that attracted much curiosity and interest throughout the State. Meat packers, businessmen, professional agricultural workers, and interested spectators were on hand, representing many areas throughout the State of Virginia. The singing of a professional auctioneer underneath a tent, on a shopping center parking lot, seemed to have a magnetic attraction to many Christmas shoppers who were interested to find out what was going on. It was indeed a fascinating sight to watch the competitive bidding on these 4-H Club lambs. The Grand Champion individual lamb, owned by Will Thrasher, of Norfolk County, was bought by Davenport-Lewis Chevrolet Corp., of Portsmouth, Va., at a price of $1.55 per pound. The Reserve Champion single lamb, owned by Miss Patricia Brickhouse, of Princess Anne County, was bought by Puritan Food Company, for $1.05 a pound. The Grand Champion pen of lambs, owned by Johnny Osmundson, of Princess Anne County, was bought by Perlin Packing Company, for Be-Lo Supermarkets, at a price of 24 cents per pound. Twenty-eight lambs were sold individually, at prices ranging from 24 cents to 36 cents per pound, and nine pens each consisting of seven lambs sold at prices ranging from 20 cents to 23 cents per pound.

This 4-H Club Market Lamb Project is the first of its kind in the State of Virginia, and the only known related project has taken place in Iowa. Congratulations are in order for each of the 4-H Club members participating in this project, as they have each done an outstanding job in taking a low-quality, low-grade animal, and making a quality, marketable meat product from it. When these lambs were purchased they would grade out common and utility. At the time of the show, twenty-seven of the lambs had reached a prime grade, 39 graded Choice and 17 graded Good. The average weight of the lambs, when they were purchased was 67 lbs. and after three months of good feeding and management practices the 4-H Club members had the lambs up to an average weight of better than 90 pounds. Congratulations are also in order to the agricultural committee of the Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce, who has sponsored an individual club member in this project; to the Mid-City Shopping Center, who has given us a tremendous amount of personal and financial assistance; to the VPI Extension Specialists who have worked so closely with us on this project; to the buyers who had the final touch in making the project a success; and to all of the other people who have devoted their time and efforts to the 4-H Club program in this area.

LEE DURHAM WINS ANGLUS CONTEST
Lee Durham, of Avalon Terrace, a second-year member in the 4-H Junior Steer Project, won the recent Angus Management contest, with a total of 99 points, out of a possible 100. This indicates a really good management system being carried on by Lee in his 4-H Club project. The 4-H Junior Steer Project is one of the most popular agricultural projects being offered today. It consists of many activities, and is finalized with a show and sale during the month of April.

Lee has a fine Angus steer calf, purchased from Roy Powell of Hillwood Farm, in Charlottesville, Va. Upon visiting Lee, you can find "Mountain Boy", as he has named his calf, behind a long white fence. This gives Mountain Boy a tremendous area where he can kick up his heels. He lives in a three-sided stall, that is always well-bedded with good, clean, fresh straw.

Mountain Boy eats about fifteen pounds of grain per day, plus some hay. He is fed on a regular schedule, twice a day, is brushed, and is led each afternoon.

Lee is pretty fond of his calf, as you can tell by the way he handles and moves around his calf.

Each 4-H Club member in this project has a sponsor, who pays for the original cost of the calf and after the project is completed, the 4-H Club member pays back the sponsor the amount of that cost. Lee's sponsor is Mr. Richard Kline, of Kline Chevrolet Corporation, in Norfolk. Without the help of Mr. Kline, and all of the other people in this program, it would be impossible to conduct the program in such a successful manner.

SOUTHEASTERN GUERNSEY MEET

GUERNSEY SIRE CONFERENCE AT BAYVILLE

It was my pleasure recently to assist with the Guernsey Sire

Conference, of the Mid-Atlantic and Northeastern territories, sponsored by the American Guernsey Cattle Club. Fifty-four people from ten states attended the Princess Anne event.

On the evening prior to the Sire Conference, Dr. Ed Legates, from N.C. State College, spoke on Sire Selection and Analysis.

The next day's program was conducted by Dr. Lawrence Colebank, the official Guernsey classifier, of the American Guernsey Cattle Club. The program was moderated by Sam Minor, fieldman of the Club.

During the day, the Sire Selection Committee discussed bulls and heifers and also viewed a field full of cows by Bayville Royal Leslie.

Of course, we were proud to show off the best in the country, as indicated by the recently held National Dairy Show. The group saw Bayville Royal Leslie, the three best females, the dairy herd, and the outstanding three-year-old, which stood third in a class of fifty-three.

Toy Selection Helps Safety

Santa Claus is coming soon. And that means Dad and Mother are finally giving some serious thought to selecting the toys that old St. Nick will leave under the tree for the youngsters of the family.

Toys—all the way from a ten-cent rubber ball to a shiny new bicycle—are a part of growing up and the child without a toy or two—or two dozen—at Christmas is a forlorn tot indeed.

The chances are that your youngsters will open their gifts Christmas morning and have a large time getting acquainted with their new toys. But in all too many households across the nation, the toys themselves will dim the happy Christmas season, by causing accidents and injuries.

The American Medical Association's magazine, Today's Health, offers a few simple tips for selecting toys that will help to insure a completely happy Christmas.

—Beware of small toys that can be swallowed, flammable toys, and toys with rough or sharp edges.

—All electric toys should be safe—look for the UL (Underwriters Laboratory) label on the cord and the toy itself.

—Avoid toys made of lead or colored with lead-based paints—the swallowing of poisonous amounts of lead by children who chew the paint off can cause illness.

—Baby's toys should be too large to put in the mouth, washable, lightweight and non-brittle.

Eye injuries are a particularly dangerous hazard from Christmas toys. Writing in the North Carolina Medical Journal, Dr. Dan Currie of Fayetteville reported that the missile-throwing toy, from sling-shot to air rifle, is the most dangerous. Archery sets with metal-tipped arrows account for their share of damaged eyes. Arrows with rubber vacuum cups are safer, but even these can sometimes damage an eye. Severe injuries have resulted from the plastic, spring-action toy pistols that propel sticks capped with rubber cups.

The air rifle, or B-B gun, is still a constant threat, even though its use is forbidden in many communities. If you give your child an air rifle, impress upon him the danger of the ricochet. Many of the air rifle eye injuries come from the small shot bouncing off a fence post or side of a house. A target backed with a bag of cotton, sand or straw is a "must" for the air rifle marksmen.

Christmas ornaments, particularly the strings of small lights for the Yule tree, are potential hazards. Children sometimes will pick up a small bulb and pop it in the mouth, with obvious results. Some of the brands of tree lights are flimsily wired and can be fire hazards. Light strings that have been reused from year to year and are old and frayed also are dangerous.

Glass ornaments that shatter easily can provide cut fingers for both children and adults. Handle ornaments and lights with care and keep the extras and the discarded bulbs out of the reach of the tots.

EXERCISE "SAND DUNES"

During the period 4-15 Dec., over 1400 troops from Ft. Eustis and Fort Story will participate in a day and night combined exercise designed to provide advanced technical training in amphibious and LOTS (Logistics Over-The-Shore) operations.

Exercise SAND DUNES began 4 December with the landing of the BRATS team (Beach Reconnaissance Team). These men protected by "wet suits" and wearing Scuba gear, swam ashore to scour the beaches for underwater obstructions and to set up the landing perimeters.

On the heels of the BRAT team, were three LCM-8's, carrying the lead elements of the landing force, including vehicles. Six Ft. Eustis companies under the command of Lt. Col. A. J. Silvester, followed in landing craft. Encountering only light aggressor action on the dune line, they were able to proceed inland to secure their objectives and begin operations.

Three Task Forces have been organized for the exercise: Task Force Red consisting of the 116th Co. (TS), 498 T Co. (TS) and 1099 T Co. (Boat Composite). 109th has been augmented addition of several LCU's transport the heavier cargo and landing equipment. Task Force

Gold is made up of the 285th T Co. (TS), 349T Co. (AT), and the 24th T Co. (LT). Fort Story units comprise Task Force Green. They are the 568th T Co. (Terminal Service) 870th T Co. (TS) and the 344th T Co. (Amphibious Truck). Headquarters, 180th T Battalion, Composite, and the 852nd Mov Control Group will provide command control.

During the two-week exercise, Task Force Red will operate at Ft. Story and the Gold element at Camp Pendleton. Task Force Green will operate the Intransit Storage Area at Ft. Story. This group will initially back-load the Freight Ship 790 anchored offshore. The FS 790 is a unique vessel recently added to the fleet. The 222 foot freight and supply vessel is unique in that in lieu of conventional cargo handling gear, the vessel is fitted with two 5-ton cranes, each operated by one man.

Initially, Task Force Red, having secured their objective, will set up a LOTS operation from the Hickory Knoll anchored off Ft. Story.

Task Force Gold will simultaneously initiate a DUKW-to-truck operation from the Sheridan and conduct a line haul to the Intransit Storage Area.

Throughout the operation the units will change locations and missions, thus providing all-round training in all phases in all phases of a LOTS operation. In addition, each unit will spend equal time in administrative and tactical bivouac. Cargo will be transferred from ship-to-shore and back by DUKW's and Landing Craft.

On 11 December, Task Forces Red and Gold will move to Little Creek where they will embark on another water march to hit the beaches a second time. This half of the exercise will be essentially a duplication of the first half.

In addition to providing advanced training, Operation SAND DUNES will serve as an Army Training Test for several of the Fort Eustis units.

Fort Story Sergeant Retires, Gets 3 Awards

Master Sergeant William T. Rice, Chief Clerk, Reserve Component Hqs. at Ft. Story since March 45-46, received 3 awards Rice was the Past Master of the Sgt. Rice, a Master Sgt. for over 17 years, who began his military career in 1923, received a certificate of retirement from active duty.

The second award was a Certificate of Appreciation for meritorious service. However, the most coveted award of the three was the Army Commendation Medal, received for work with the Reserve Component Hqs. from 23 March 59 to 30 Nov. 1961.

Col. Walter D. Swank, Deputy CO, 4th TC, made the presentations at Post Hqs.

A native of Farmville, Va., MSgt. Rice entered the Virginia National Guard in 1923. Upon being honorably discharged, he entered the Va. State Guard (Va. Protective Force) where he attained the rank of Lieutenant, serving a total of 10 years in the guard. In 1942 when the Va. State Guard was mobilized, Sgt. Rice resigned his commission to enter the Regular Army. Within three days after "hitting" basic training at Ft. Meade, he was made a sergeant and an instructor of the cadre teaching Military Police, with whom he was to be associated almost continuously until his last assignment to Ft. Story in 1959.

Much of MSgt. Rice's career was served here in Virginia, at such installations as Hampton Roads, Ft. Lee, Camp Ashby, Suffolk and Ft. Story—serving as instructor, investigator, Provost Sgt. and Officer and First Sgt. of POW activities in Va. He was also Liaison NCO be- authority at Ft. Story and Civil Authority, Va. Beach-Princess Anne County.

The Sgt.'s overseas tours were all spent in Germany. While stationed in Berlin (1951-53) & serving as an instructor of the zonal border, under the Security Branch of the Provost Marshal, Sgt. Rice was arrested and detained by the East border guards after stepping "6 inches inside the border to inspect sign marking".

MSgt. Rice plans to make his home in Va. Beach where he will be associated with the Bailey Electric Appliance Corp.

He is a member of the York and Scottish Rites, Masonic Fraternity and an active member of Khedive Shrine Temple of Norfolk and Va. Beach-Princess Anne Shrine Club. Member of Va. Beach Blue Lodge 274 A.F.A.M. While in Germany, Sgt. Rice was the Past Master of the Triangle Lodge No. 834 of the American Military Masonic Lodge at Mannheim.

He was Post Safety NCO at Fort Story and graduated from a Safety Engineering Course for the Army at N.Y. University.

With so many other forms of Christmas cheer available, it's a shame that so many Holiday drivers prefer it in bottles. The Institute for Safer Living estimates that at least 60 per cent of fatal traffic accidents over the Christmas and New Year weekends will involve a drinking driver.

Area Restaurants Again In Duncan Hines 'Who's Who'

ITHACA, N.Y. — Six Virginia Beach, Va., eating and lodging establishments have received national recognition in the new 1962 editions of the Duncan Hines Travel Books "Adventures in Good Eating" and "Lodging for a Night." Roy H. Park, editor-in-chief of the Duncan Hines Institute, announced today.

The Virginia Beach establishments are among 9300 eating and lodging places in North America "Recommended by Duncan Hines."

Listed in "Adventures in Good Eating" are: Charcoal Room, The Colony Restaurant and Pine Tree Inn. Listed in "Lodging for a Night" are: Cavalier Hotel, Golf Ranch Hotel and The Tides Motor Hotel and Lodge.

The third Duncan Hines travel book, "Vacation Guide," was republished in July.

"This is our twenty-seventh year of continuous publication and service to the American traveling public," Park stated.

"It is also our fifth year of continuing surveys — our public audit of eating and lodging establishments. This year we received 60,000 nominations of more than 12,000 restaurants, hotels, motels and resorts from 11,000 people who have the means to eat and stay at the best places in North America."

These survey results plus comments from the traveling public and an actual inspection by a staff field representative, Park said, provide the guides for making the final selection of the 3 out of 100 establishments in the hospitality industry listed in the three Duncan Hines Travel Books.

"It has been our policy never to apply public ratings to places receiving the Duncan Hines recommendation," he explained. "Listings give the facts and are so worded that a traveler can decide for himself which establishment best suits his tastes and needs. Listings are by merit only. There is no charge for a listing—in fact, no charges of any sort—nothing hidden, no membership fees, no commissions, no acceptance of advertising or gratuities."

The 1962 editions have been completely rewritten and revised listing by listing, the editor-in-chief pointed out, as well as having revised covers.

"The new 'Adventures in Good Eating' contains more pages than ever before—432—but fewer listings. Anyone using this new book will find many new eating places include, for we made 750 changes in places newly listed or deleted since 1960," Park pointed out. "Although we reduced our net total number of recommendations by some 250 in the past two years, the increased number of pages was required by inclusion of much more detailed information on every establishment listed—complete prices, specialties, hours of service and days closed."

"Lodging for a Night" represents some 450 changes in places newly listed or deleted since last year. This new edition is also the largest ever published in number of pages—418. Again, more detailed information and inclusion of the new hotels and motor hotels built in North America in 1961 necessitated increased size, the Institute spokesman reported.

Both books have latest information on new telephone and interstate route numbers as well as turnpike exits and airport proximity.

Despite the increased size of the books, Parks notes that both are still "convenient pocket size" and still selling for the same $1.50 price that has prevailed for over a quarter of a century—as a continuing service to the millions of Americans who have traveled by Duncan Hines.

Duncan Hines Travel Books (and the cookbook, "Adventures in Good Cooking and the Art of Carving in the Home") are on sale at bookstores, department stores, newsstands, many of the places recommended by Duncan Hines, or may be ordered directly from the publisher, the Duncan Hines Institute, Ithaca, New York.

"Here is ready to take you for your walk."

Plaza Street Renamed 'Nativity' Boulevard For Holidays

Brief, but traffic stopping ceremonies were held on Sunday, December 17, 1961, at 3:00 p.m. marking the renaming of "Plaza Trail" in Princess Anne Plaza to "Nativity Boulevard" for the remainder of this month.

Mr. Anthony Thomas, Grand Knight of Va. Beach Knights of Columbus Council No. 4632, acted as master of ceremonies for this event. The Rev. Edmund Kollar of Barre-Robinson Home for Boys read a stirring invocation in which he asked that the homes on this and every avenue of the free world find room for the Christ Child, His Blessed Mother and St. Joseph.

Mr. Lawrence A. Sencillo, president of Larason Realty read a formal proclamation changing the name of the street and directing that suitable signs be erected. Mr. John Aragon, developer of Princess Anne Plaza and Mr. William Bridgford, K. of C. Catholic Activities Chairman and initiator of the project then placed signs reading "Nativity Boulevard" over the existing signs. Fellow Knights changed the name in two other locations, thus making the entire length of the street "Nativity Boulevard."

Dr. Edward Millan, K. of C. State Deputy; Dr. Vincent Corsetta, K. of C. Second District Deputy; and area Knights with their families composed the small group attending the ceremonies. A similar sign has been placed on Arctic Avenue in Virginia Beach at Arctic Crescent. Formal dedication will be held during this week. These projects, in addition to the billboard nativity scene on Rt. 58 near London Bridge, are all designed to remind the public of the true significance of this Christmas season.

The Virginia Beach Knights of Columbus will also hold a Christmas party this Saturday, December 23, at the Council Chambers for children of members.

A milestone in the history of the Beach Council was reached on Wednesday, Dec. 6, when the first degree was exemplified for the first time in the Council Chambers. The five new men accepted into the Knights are Michael V. Grasso, Frank J. Jacques, Arnold L. Locke, Thomas R. Nichols and John W. Somowski, Jr. Honored guests at this exemplification included Mr. D. C. Williams, State Master of the Fourth Degree; Mr. Fred Hockett, Faithful Navigator of Matthew O'Keefe Fourth Degree Assembly, Norfolk; Mr. Joseph Donlan, immediate past director deputy; Mr. David Graham of Ocean View Council acting for the district deputy; and several past grand knights from St. Paul's Council, Portsmouth.

Mr. Sidney Kellam spoke prior to the regular business meeting on December 20. His topic was the proposed merger of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County. The floor was opened to questions after the talk and several points clarified.

The next meeting of the Beach K. of C. will be on Jan. 3, 1962, at which the second degree will be exemplified.

Greetings

WE WILL BE CLOSED CHRISTMAS DAY

Christmas Trees of Glass!

Each year witnesses many new uses for glass, one of man's most versatile materials.

This year, an intriguing new use will add cheer to many a festive gathering.

It's a fiberoptic Christmas tree composed of thousands of glass rovings which comprise the "needles". Basic structure of the tree is wire.

The tree is absolutely durable, an important feature particularly in a household of children. It may be used with any type of decoration, and can be safely lighted with electric bulbs since there is no danger of shock. Produced in a wide range of sizes up to 20 inches, it's adaptable either as the main attraction in the living room where all the presents are heaped, or as a table tree in the "family room" or child's bedroom.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

As we pause in the galaxy of Christmas, let's think first of the Nativity of Him who is the hope of the world today, as two thousand years ago. He alone can bring about the peace of mind and contentment which we eagerly search for and need. May we follow His teachings so that the true spirit of Christmas can remain with us through the days to come.

The call of the Carols...

The spirit of Christmas is contagious. Chorus bells and holy music break through the hum of our busy world.
The spell of Christmas calls you!
And it makes you want to call others!
Christmas has always affected men this way. First the herald angels bringing their good tidings to shepherds... the star beckoning three Wise Men to Bethlehem. Then Wise Men and shepherds returning from the manger to thrill others with their strange story of the birth of the King.
Is it enough to answer the call of the carols? Brighten someone's life by sharing the vision. Bring someone with you to worship the Christ. This someone will understand Christmas better when he sees what it means to you!

Education Group Is Seeking Additional $100,000 In Funds
 The Board of Directors of the State Education Assistance Authority voted at its Fall meeting to request from the General Assembly an additional $100,000 capital. Harrison Mann, Chairman of the Authority, stated that additional capital would be necessary in order for the Authority to insure college student loans for 1962-3.
 Mann said, "The Authority has insured over 600 loans aggregating more than $400,000 in the five months since its capital became available on July 1, 1961. Under the law the insurance liability of the Authority cannot exceed 12 1/2 times its capital. Obviously, the need for loan assistance is great and we anticipate that loans totalling nearly $2 million may be required in the next two years."
 The Board of Directors reluctantly agreed not to seek an amendment permitting the Authority to insure loans of students who need to borrow to attend private colleges. The Authority was advised by the office of the Attorney General that Virginia Constitutional provisions cast doubt on the legality of extending the program.
 The directors of the Authority took under advisement the desirability of raising private funds for capital purposes, which the Authority could use for insuring loans to students attending private colleges.
 The Board re-elected Harrison
 Mann Chairman of the Authority for the next year. Tayloe
 Murphy, Vice-Chairman, and Hugh Leach, Secretary. Mr.
 Leach continues as Executive Director in charge of the Authority's office at 1010 State-Planners Bank Building, Richmond, Va.

MERGER TOP LOCAL NEWS STORY OF YEAR '61

Open Forum On Merger Set For P.A. High School

PRINCESS ANNE — The night before the proposed Virginia Beach-Princess Anne County merger is to go before the public for vote the Princess Anne Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor an open forum to "clear up any unanswered questions" on the consolidation.

Scheduled January 3 at 8:00 p.m. in the Princess Anne High School auditorium, the discussion will be between Sidney S. Kellam, speaking in behalf of the merger, and Norfolk Attorney Dudley Cocke, speaking against it.

Questions may be turned in at the door or presented to the moderator, Winston B. Parsons, president of the sponsoring club, who will allow each speaker three minutes to debate each question.

Each speaker will be allowed seven minutes for an opening statement, with Mr. Kellam scheduled to lead-off, and ten minutes for a closing statement.

Plaza Winners Are Announced

PRINCESS ANNE PLAZA — Winners in the Princess Anne Plaza Civic League's Christmas decorations contest were announced last week at Larasan Realty Corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen Jr., 433 Elmont Street, took first place honors in the most beautiful (artistic) category for their display of Santa Claus and his sleigh filled with colorful packages and a backdrop of Christmas greenery and recorded music.

There was a tie for second place in this category between Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Campbell of 216 Basin Street for their display of greenery with blue lights and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Morrell of 455 Appian Avenue for their choice of traditional red and green lights interwoven in Christmas greenery.

A snowman holding wrapped gifts over the doorway won a first place for most original for Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Newcombe of 273 Rainier Road.

Second place for originality was awarded Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Britton of 300 Appian Avenue for an unusual Christmas tree doorway decoration.

The most traditional category was divided into religious and non-religious motifs with a first place winner in each.

Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore LoGalbo of 177 Plaza Trail won the religious award for an artistic window decoration of the three Wise Men bringing gifts. Mr. and Mrs. John T. Harris Jr. of 432 Elmont Street took the non-religious prize for a traditional display of life-size Santa Claus holding Christmas packages beside an unusual decorated doorway.

All winners will receive silver gifts which are displayed in the offices of Larasan Realty. The presentations will be made Jan. 10 at a meeting of the Princess Anne Plaza Civic League by Lawrence A. Sanello, president of Larasan Realty and Insurance Connections and Clifford L. Lipp, president of the Civic League.

The Hour of Decision

Next Thursday, January 4, 1962, will be the hour of decision for Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach. That is the day the citizens of the county and the city will be given an opportunity, probably for the last time, to decide for themselves whether or not they want to preserve the area of the county and the city as it now exists. Whether or not they want to keep the government of the county and city in their hands. Whether or not they want to keep the same basic type of government under which they have lived for many years, or whether they would prefer to be carved up, a large portion of the county annexed to Norfolk City, and have the remaining portion in such a financially weak condition that the tax burden on the remaining citizens may be more than they could bear. This is basically what faces the people next Thursday, January 4th.

During the past several weeks the proponents for the consolidated agreement have accepted every invitation to explain the proposed agreement and charter to civic leagues, civic clubs and at many public meetings. Many of the civic clubs and leagues have publicly endorsed the merger of the county and city. Approximately 3,000 citizens have signed petitions favoring the merger. And, to this date the Sun-News has not heard the first public criticism of the merger, except that outside interests have been saying we were moving too fast. As stated above the Sun-News believes that an effort will be made to repeal the consolidation law at the next session of the General Assembly. If this is done it will be too late to vote after the General Assembly adjourns.

The Sun-News believes that outside interests, regardless from what source, should not have any influence on the citizens of the county and city. We know that Norfolk City wants to, and will, annex our county if it can. They have stated to publicly and the only way to prevent this is to follow the procedure under the consolidation agreement which would change the word "county" to "city." We know that 100,000 people of the city of citizens in Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach have a right, have the ability and the determination to govern themselves and to get for its citizens the necessary services they may need and are entitled to.

During the last few days propaganda from outside the city and county will be channeled into our area, maybe under the guise of some citizens committee trying to confuse and mislead the people. But, the citizens of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach should study the government they now have and under which they have been living for many years and the government under the proposed consolidation agreement. If they do they will find practically no change and any propaganda to the contrary will be misleading.

The Sun-News, having confidence in the ability of the people of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach to govern themselves, urges voters to go to the polls on next Thursday, January 4th, and vote FOR the merger and thereby retain this right.

P.A. Jaycees Will Present Award At Banquet January 26

PRINCESS ANNE — The Princess Anne Junior Chamber of Commerce will present its first Distinguished Service Award at the club's annual New Year's Banquet January 26 at 7 p.m. at the Pine Tree Inn.

The award will be presented to an outstanding young citizen of Princess Anne County between the ages of 21 to 35. A panel of three judges, who are not members of the club and will remain anonymous, will select the recipient.

Nominations for the award may be sent to Milton Clements, chairman of the committee at 9000 Virginia Beach Blvd., Lynnhaven. The deadline for nominations is Jan. 1.

Over 200 persons have been invited to the cocktail and dinner party. Invitations and further information may be obtained by writing Clements or Winston B. Parsons, 102 W. Olney Road in Norfolk or by calling Parsons at MA 3-5129. Reservations must be made before January 25.

Also on the agenda at the banquet is the presentation of Sparkplug Awards, given members who have been in the club for one year, and the Spoke Awards, presented to Jaycees who have done outstanding work during their first year.

Ten members of the club will attend a cocktail party and banquet at the Chamberlain Hotel in Hampton on January 11 in honor of Bob Cenger, national president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Rocket Arrives

This scaled replica of Project Mercury's Redstone III rocket, which took Virginia Beach resident Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard on his historical flight into space last spring, has been placed in the foyer of the Alan B. Shepard Convention Center. Donated by Fred A. Haycox, the rocket stands 17 feet high and weighs about 250 pounds.

Top Doorway Prize Goes To Mrs. Clark

VIRGINIA BEACH — Winners of the Christmas Doorway Decoration Contest, sponsored by the Council of Garden Clubs of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County, were announced today.

Preliminary judging for the most beautiful, best traditional and most original was held Friday and Saturday morning and the final judging was held Saturday afternoon.

"Judging this year was the most extensive the Council has ever done," Mrs. John W. Field Jr., chairman of the judging committee, said, "and the quality was so excellent that the judges spent approximately 15 hours trying to reach a conclusion on the winners."

Most Beautiful
An engraved silver award for the most beautiful decorations went to Mrs. L. O. Clark of Crystal Lake and 53rd Street. Mrs. Clark had an oversized shiny holly wreath and potted holly tree beautifully displayed and had a large holly triton piece above her colonial doorway. A touch of red in large bows completed the picture.

Mrs. T. H. Jernigan of 3 East Road in Alantown took second place in this category with a double door arrangement of two gilded nut and woodrow wreaths backed by circular green felt mats.

Mrs. S. W. Ferguson of 530-21st Street was third place winner with her white Della Robbia wreaths featuring muted shades of fruit.

Traditional
First place winner in the best traditional category was Mrs. Scott Sterling of West Holly Road in Linhorn Park. Mrs. Sterling used fresh greenery and beautifully conditioned fresh fruit of blended shades, not only in a door wreath, which was flanked by two old door lamps, but also around the front windows and sills.

Mrs. Paul Sawyer of Chesapeake Trail in Chesapeake Colony won second place with a traditional green wreath and swag with red bows. The traditional green wreaths also won

Mrs. W. L. Renth of Chumley Road in Bay Colony a third place in this category.

Original Displays
Top honors in the most original category was won by Mrs. E. F. Blake of Chumley Road in Bay Colony. A story-book, child's size train, filled with Santa's elves, Christmas presents and decorated trees, made up this outstanding display.

Mrs. L. H. Burton of North Shore Drive in Bay Colony took second place with an enormous sleigh filled with gaily wrapped packages before a backdrop of

SHEPARD FLIGHT, HURRICANE SCARE AMONG HIGHLIGHTS

It was not until late in 1961 that the biggest local news story of the year broke and it came first on September 13 in the form of a brief joint statement by Mayor Frank A. Dusch and Chairman S. Paul Brown that the two governing bodies may look into the feasibility of the consolidation of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County into a single city.

Names, Names 3,000 of 'Em

It is said that most people like to see their name in the newspaper and if that be true some 3,000 persons will like what they see in this issue of the Sun-News. Why? Because there are three full pages of names in the paper this week.

The unusual number of names published this week represents a partial list of those citizens who have signed petitions favoring the merger of the City of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County.

The names are to be found on pages two, three and four of Section B of this week's Sun-News. The Sun-News regrets that it was impossible to publish all of the names.

The merger question will be voted on next Thursday, January 4, 1962, by voters in the city and the county.

Mrs. Russell Heads Volunteer Ladies

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. Tom Russell was recently installed as president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Virginia Beach Volunteer Fire Department.

The Auxiliary held its annual installation of officers banquet last Tuesday at Minnie's Key-Board Restaurant.

Other officers include Mrs. Tony Faulk, vice president; Mrs. Will Hall, secretary; Mrs. R. B. Alley, treasurer; and Mrs. Bobby Washburn, chaplain.

R. H. "Pinky" Owen Is Dead At 63 of Heart Attack

OCEANA — Robin Hartwell (Pinky) Owen, 63, well-known county school administrator, died in a Norfolk hospital Tuesday evening after becoming ill late Monday.

A resident of this area for over 27 years, Owen served as principal of Oceana School for 20 years before accepting his present position as assistant superintendent of Princess Anne County Schools.

Owen lived at 610 N. Louisa Avenue, Oceana, with his wife, Mrs. Mabel Murphy Owen, who is presently hospitalized with a broken leg. Mrs. Owen was named Princess Anne County's Outstanding Woman of Accomplishment in 1959.

Born in Wylliesburg, Va., Owen received his AB and MA degrees from the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg and was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

He was a past president of District L Teachers Assn., Virginia Beach Rotary Club and Princess Anne Ruritan Club.

A deacon of First Baptist Church, Virginia Beach, he was board chairman 25 years. The church cited him for services as chairman and as member of its building committee.

He was a member of Virginia Beach Masonic Lodge 274, presdent of the Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County Crippled Children and Adults Society, and member of State Board Society of Crippled Children and Adults.

R. H. "PINKY" OWEN

Besides his widow, surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Calvin H. Haley, and Mrs. J. Walton Hall of Arlington, and a brother, Wade Owen of Richmond.

The body will be taken from Hellomon-Brown Funeral Home, Norfolk, to Va. Beach Baptist Church for a funeral service to be held at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Rosewood Memorial Park, Bay-side. The body will be in the church at 1 p.m.

Events moved swiftly after the initial announcement and in early October an 11-member consolidation study committee was named by the Virginia Beach City Council and the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors. Sidney S. Kellam and J. W. Wood later were elected co-chairmen of the committee.

In December Circuit Court Judge Robert S. Wahab, Jr., set January 4, 1962, as the date for a referendum on the question: "Should Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach consolidate?"

Two other events during the year were high on the list of big local news items. One was the historic making sub-orbital flight of Commander Alan B. Shepard, Jr. of Virginia Beach, who, on May 5, became America's first man in space.

Hurricane Scare
Another big news story was the watchful, anxious waiting by Virginia Beach area residents of the approaching Hurricane Esther. The lady was scheduled to hit full force at the city but veered off to sea at the last minute.

Here is a breakdown of the events that made the headlines in Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County during 1961.

Some fear the Light

"And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

John 8: 32

It has been said that one can forgive a child who is afraid of the dark, but the real tragedy of life is when man fears the light.

That, in a sense, is what Jesus was saying in this quotation when he taught the Jews in the Temple. Know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.

Many men fear the light, or truth. Hitler feared it and hid it. The Russians today dread it and conceal it. Dictators and tyrants of all history have feared the light because it exposes them and their doctrines and, as a result, people cast them out.

This is true in the individual's life, too. The man who is afraid of the light is a slave to himself and a burden to mankind.

SURFSIDE '61

By RUBY JEAN PHILLIPS

The next time you take a trip and have a yearning to drop friends at home a line to let them know where you are and what the place is like, take a suggestion from a charming retired couple who recently dropped into the Sun-News office.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Parry of Red Bank, N.J. have traveled twice around the world and they keep in touch with friends and relatives at home in a most delightful way — they mail them copies of the newspaper from wherever they may be.

In this way the Parrys let the homefolks know what the city is like, what its social activities are, how the government is run, what movies are showing and what items are priced in the advertisements.

A picture postcard with "an 'X' marks our room and wish you were here" message can't compare with this brilliant idea of Harvey and Elsie Parry.

It was snowing at Sandbridge, sleeting at the Court House and drizzling rain the rest of the way but none of Mother Nature's antics dampened the spirits of the enthusiastic group that took to the trailways recently on the Chamber of Commerce guided tour over the area that might become the City of Virginia Beach if the merger is passed next month.

Gathering at the Alan B. Shepard Convention Center at noon the two buses loaded to capacity with nearly 60 persons on board and with the county's Richard Webber taking over the speaking duties on one bus and the city's Russell Hatchett on the other, the tour got under way to the furthestmost parts of the county.

A gourmet's treat was in store for the passengers at every stop along the route. The first taste of things to come was at Sandbridge Beach where A. F. Nicholson Jr. (known to the restaurant trade as Nick) offered the group some of his famous steamed oysters. Using the restaurant's own steaming process, the oysters were prepared, shucked and served as the line filed past.

Down through Pungo and the lovely undeveloped farm and wooded areas the buses went until they arrived at Princess Anne Court House. Here the Court House Restaurant provided steaming hot barbeque sandwiches as the horde took out across the centuries-old county site to visit the historical-rich Court House and some of its more modern additions.

One of the highlights was a visit to the school administration building where Miss Louise Luford, head of school personnel, invited one and all to browse through the premises. The immaculate and beautifully decorated building was quite a revelation to many of the participants since some of them had never been to the Court House and most had not seen the new additions.

Traveling up through Kempsville to Chinese Corner the buses crossed congested Virginia Beach Boulevard. Mr. Hatchett pointed out the traffic problems on the heavily traveled highway and said it should be obvious to everyone that something must be done to correct the situation. Significantly, the traffic toward Virginia Beach was bumper-to-bumper while traffic headed the other way was very slight.

The buses detoured past Old Donation Church, one of the county's oldest churches, before going to the site of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel project. This was not a planned stop, but many of the businessmen couldn't resist stepping off, in the rain, to marvel at the progress made on the tunnel in the short time it has been underway. Large concrete pilings extended almost as far as the eye could see and someone dropped the word that about three miles had already been spanned.

Double deluxe hamburgers with all the trimmings awaited the group at Emanuel's Shore Drive Inn as the final food fare of the trip. Running slightly behind the 3 p.m. return schedule, passengers still lingered at the restaurant as if delaying the end of the tour.

For the first time in many years the Chamber of Commerce broke its precedent of an annual dinner to take the tour and afternoon outing to visit its county neighbors but everyone agreed that it was a howling success.

The tour was the brainchild of Roy Niel, representing the Sea Horse Hotel, and he was joined in the endeavor by Jack Haden of the Virginia Electric Power Company and James G. Kontopoulos of the Normandie Cafeteria. It was through their efforts that the tour, food and arrangements were so well organized and enjoyable.

December 9 was a highly successful day for the younger set. The Virginia Beach Children's Theatre presented its first production, "The Bird's Christmas Carol," to a standing-room-only audience at both performances. Over 1,000 tickets were sold and many persons had to be turned away.

Requests to show it again are already beseeching Friends School administrators, who sponsored the theatre, but properties and sets for this particular production are too complicated to store and transport. However, Mrs. Mary Deal, the very talented director, and other committee heads are already planning to select a production for the spring that can be trouped so more youngsters can enjoy it.

Enough can't be said about all the youngsters who took part in the play but one young lady deserves special mention. Jill Mowen, teen-age daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Mowen of Birdneck Point, turned in such an outstanding performance in her part as the mother that representatives of the Virginia Beach Little Theatre are already talking to her about participating in some of their future productions.

To keep the enthusiastic audience in check (as well as hundreds of squirming youngsters can be kept in check) between acts the Friends School Choir, under the direction of Mrs. John Doyle Jr., presented special music. Carolyn Newnam announced the program.

Youngsters will get another boost if Mrs. Robert Day has her way. The energetic youth chairman of the Junior Woman's Club of Princess Anne County has a tremendous project in the back of her mind—a Youth Fitness Council for Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County.

When organized the Council, which will consist of one representative from each civic group, will concentrate on physical fitness but will also investigate and try to improve on the many other needs of children in this area.

Mrs. Ober Delivers Yule Message

VIRGINIA BEACH—Mrs. LeRoy Ober of Norfolk gave a

"Christmas Message" to the Soroptimist Club of Norfolk Virginia Beach and Venture Club at a dinner meeting last week at Princess Anne County Club.

Christmas carols were sung by the group and were under the direction of Mrs. Murray Walden and Mrs. Robert Pease.

Bailey Is New Volunteer Fire Dept. Leader

VIRGINIA BEACH — John W. Bailey will be installed as president of the Virginia Beach Volunteer Fire Department at the annual banquet January 27 at the Alan B. Shepard Convention Center.

Other officers include A. M. Holland, vice president; Wesley Pallett, secretary; Tony Faulk, treasurer; and C. B. (Neal) Owens, chaplain. Owens is the out-going president.

The Virginia Beach Volunteer Fire Department was organized in 1936 and now consists of a full force of thirty-five officers and men who give their services twenty-four hours a day to help make our city a safer and better place in which to live. There is also a waiting list of some twenty applicants who are training with the volunteers. These men, under the direction of Chief Frank Tarrall, make up the Civilian Defense Firefighting Unit.

The volunteers, considered to be one of the best equipped in the state, have provided complete protective turn-out gear for all members which includes individual gas and smoke masks attached to their coats and radio receivers in each of their homes. These receivers have increased the efficiency of the members greatly and have eliminated the use of the large siren stop headquarters previously used to call the members during an emergency.

BAY SHORE GARDEN CLUB

BAY COLONY — The Bay Shore Garden Club of Virginia Beach held their annual Christmas Tea last Thursday at the Bay Colony home of Mrs. Frank Malbon. Mrs. George Hawes and Mrs. Lloyd Burton assisted Mrs. Malbon at the festive gatherings.

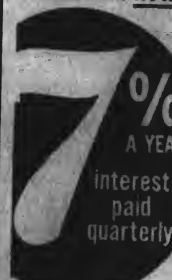

Gifts were exchanged between members and their guests after the refreshments had been served.

The house had been decorated with many lovely arrangements of Christmas greens which had been created by the club members.

Best of luck, health, prosperity to you all. May '62 be your banner year... fulfill all your finest expectations.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Note To The Voters

As a matter of public information the Sun-News wishes to call attention of the voters of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach that those citizens who were qualified to vote in the November election of 1961 will be qualified to vote in the special election to be held on Thursday, January 4, 1962. These citizen's names will appear on the certified voting lists that will be used in this special election.

In addition to this, those citizens who have paid their poll tax since the list was certified and who will be eligible to vote in next Thursday's special election, January 4th, should be certain to carry their poll tax receipts with them when they go to vote. This is because a new list cannot be published and it will be necessary to show evidence of the payment of poll taxes.

So, in order to be on the safe side these persons should carry their poll tax receipts with them next Thursday.

The Unsigned Committee

Desperate men will do desperate things and the advertisement appearing in this past Wednesday's Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch which was not signed by anyone proves how desperate men can become at the eleventh hour for not only did they fail to tell the people who they are, they are traveling under the cover of darkness at the 11th hour. And putting out what is apparently misleading information, to say the least.

As the old saying goes—"it is a strange bird that will pick its own nest" and you would think that if these people had a case and were sincere in their effort to inform the people they would at least be willing to sign their names and would have acted sooner.

This is the kind of propaganda that the people of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach may expect between now and January 4th, the day of the special election. If these people want to be annexed to Norfolk why don't they come out and say so, or if they already live in Norfolk they should at least be willing to tell us who they are.

Robin Hartwell Owen

The Virginia Beach-Princess Anne area was saddened this week with the sudden passing of Robin H. "Pinky" Owen, who died of a heart attack Tuesday morning.

Very few of his legion of friends knew his first name. He was affectionately known as "Pinky" to everyone and he possessed a warm personality and a keen sense of humor.

Still countless others knew him as Mr. Owen. These would be the thousands of youngsters who attended the Oceana School during the 20 years that "Pinky" served as principal. He was a veteran member of the school administration staff of the Princess Anne County school system.

"Pinky" was an active member of his church—a deacon of the First Baptist Church Virginia Beach. He was also active in many civic and fraternal groups. He was a past president of the Virginia Beach Rotary Club. He was a member of the State Board of Crippled Children and Adults.

At the time of his death, he was serving as assistant superintendent of Princess Anne County Schools.

"Pinky" will long be remembered by his many friends here and throughout the State. We join his wife, Mrs. Mabel Murphy Owen, who survives, in sympathy at the passing of this fine citizen, whose many good deeds has left an indelible mark on his community.

Doctor Named To Heart Post

Appointment of David W. Richardson, M.D., as occupant of the Chair of Cardiovascular Research which Virginia Heart Association and Chapters will finance at the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond, beginning January 1, has just been announced by the association & the college. Tidewater Heart Association, with headquarters in Norfolk, has allocated $4,150 this year toward the Chair in addition to its annual support of the research and other programs of Virginia and American Heart Associations.

Support from Virginia Heart Association and Chapters will total $40,000 for salary, equipment, and supplies for the initial 2-year period. MCV will contribute a minimum of $5,000 a year.

Dr. Richardson, who is Associate Chief of Staff for Research at the Veterans' Administration Hospital in Richmond and Assistant Professor of Medicine at MCV, will be promoted to Associate Professor of Medicine, when he assumes his full-time connection with the college.

"The activation of the Chair of Cardiovascular Research at the Medical College of Virginia January 1 is the realization of a dream which has long been cherished by Virginia Heart Association and especially by its Medical Advisory and Research Committee." Dr. Paul D. Camp of Richmond, Chairman of the Committee, said in an interview. "It is well known that diseases of the heart and circulatory system are our most serious health menace. Consequently, we feel that the establishment of the Chair is one of the most worthwhile programs the Virginia Heart Association has ever undertaken. We are confident that it will advance research in the causes, prevention, and management of the disease of the heart and blood vessels."

"The College is delighted to welcome Dr. Richardson as Virginia Heart Association and Chapters Research Professor," Dr. R. Blackwell Smith, Jr., President of MCV, commented. "We are deeply grateful for this sponsorship and look forward to a fruitful relationship in the important area of cardiovascular research."

Dr. Richardson was graduated from Davidson College, cum laude, with a B.S. Degree in Chemistry, in 1947. His M.D. Degree was conferred 4 years later by Harvard Medical School. He served his internship at Yale University Medical School, moving into the post of Assistant Resident in Medicine at the same institution.

In 1953, Dr. Richardson came to Richmond as Assistant Resident in Medicine at MCV. The next year he was appointed Resident in Medicine. Chair, it is felt that the capacity of the college to attract research funds from national sources will be greatly increased and that more young scientists who might become interested in research or academic careers will be attracted to the institution.

At least three-fourths of Dr. Richardson's time will be devoted to research in his choosing in the cardiovascular field. The remainder of his time may be used in teaching administrative, or clinical duties.

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

This is an important advance notice to all persons who are receiving pensions from the Veterans Administration. The annual income questionnaire with instructions will arrive in the little brown envelope which brings the December check.

These income cards, fully completed, must be returned to the VA not later than January 31, 1962, otherwise there will be no February check. The questionnaire will be in the form of a punched card to be processed through IBM machines upon its return to the VA. Care must be taken that the card is not bent or mutilated so as to prevent its passing through the machines. Stapling, creasing or otherwise, defacing the card will only result in delay of the checks.

My office is prepared to help any person who needs aid or advice in filling out these questionnaires.

Turn again... so there may come seasons of refreshing. —Acts (3:19)

Let us practice making prayer a part of all that we do. Then we will be ready to greet the New Year with fresh faith in, and heightened anticipation of, the good.

As the pace of life in our nation accelerates, so apparently does our crime rate. According to the F.B.I.'s latest annual report, crime is increasing four times faster than our population growth. There were four serious crimes committed every minute last year, and almost twice as many crimes were recorded in 1960 as a decade ago. Robbery and burglary, larceny theft, and auto theft, in particular, have maintained a steady upward trend, increasing 18%, 14% and 9% respectively in a year. Approximately three hundred million dollars in money and property was stolen last year, a large portion of which was taken from business establishments and residents.

KELLAM-EATON INSURANCE CO.

3113 PACIFIC AVE. VIRGINIA BEACH, VA. Dm GA 8-9161

There appeared in Wednesday's [December 27, 1961] Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch a paid political advertisement by some people who were apparently ashamed to sign their names to the ad and in order to set the record straight we herewith give you the facts.

HERE ARE THE TWISTED AND MISLEADING

HERE ARE THE FACTS

1. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that the City of Virginia Beach currently has a 10% TAX on telephone bills?
2. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that the City of Virginia Beach currently has a 10% TAX on electricity bills?
3. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that the consumers of utility gas in the present City of Virginia Beach pay 10% tax on their monthly bills?
4. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that the City of Virginia Beach has a cigarette TAX of 2c per pack?
5. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that the City of Virginia Beach automobile license plates cost is in excess of Princess Anne County license plates?
6. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that the General Fund Tax MUST BE THE SAME in all boroughs?
7. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that 5% of all TAXES from all sources may be spent to advertise and promote the City of Virginia Beach, and that this could be an estimated $750,000.00 annually?
8. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that the City of Virginia Beach had to pay the exorbitant rate of 5% INTEREST on Bonds sold in the near past?
9. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that the Convention DOME is an approximate $75,000.00 annual liability to the Taxpayers of Virginia Beach?
10. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that every Retail Merchant in the present City of Virginia Beach must purchase a City License in addition to the State License, to do business, and that the city license cost is in excess of the State License?
11. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that all farmers who sell produce outside of the City could pay a License Tax to farm, as in the case of other industries now in the City of Virginia Beach?
12. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that the City of Virginia Beach has an acknowledged indebtedness of $3,053,000.00, and what appears to be eight (8) consecutive annual deficits in spite of all the additional heavy TAXES set forth above?
13. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that a new plan for Election of Councilman cannot be voted on for five years?
14. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that after five years, until September, 1971, it will require the affirmative vote of seven councilmen to put in a New Plan? This means that the five Virginia Beach councilmen could block any change of plan for Election of Councilman until September, 1971.
15. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that the Virginia Beach Borough would have five Councilmen representing slightly over 8,000 people, when all other Boroughs have only ONE COUNCILMAN? In other words, it is possible that less than 9,000 people could control the Council of a city of some 100,000 population. Is this an equitable representation of the voters or disbursement of public funds? Councilmen would receive $2,400 per year and the Mayor, $3,000.
16. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that 28 out of 32 industries, last locating in Virginia and employing more than 300 persons, established in counties principally because of lower taxes?
17. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that Princess Anne County, on the basis of last year, would lose $341,800.00 in Highway Funds the very first year, and more each year as additional roads are built?
18. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that with real estate tax increases, payments on homes now financed would likewise have to be increased?
19. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that the proposed City of Virginia Beach will have to purchase hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of highway equipment and employ trained personnel to build and maintain the highways, if we become a city?
20. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that the consolidated city would have to pay one-fourth of the construction costs of all its primary roads? In the case of the proposed Highway Department Express route from the Norfolk line to the present Virginia Beach boundary, the city's estimated share of $5,500,000.00 would have to be born by the taxpayers of the merged City of Virginia Beach. If there is no merger, that sum would be absorbed by the taxpayers of Virginia.
21. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that all public school children residing in the present City of Virginia Beach, must provide their own transportation to and from school in that city.
22. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that every city in the State of Virginia having a population of 100,000 or more has integrated their public schools?
23. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that additional heavy taxes will be necessary to replace the 16 State troopers and to employ full time firemen.
24. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that it is unlawful to discharge firearms within the City of Virginia Beach?
25. HAVE YOU BEEN TOLD that there is no legal assurance that the consolidated city would have an adequate, uninterrupted and prolonged water supply?

1. Norfolk City currently has 15% tax on telephone bills and that's why we don't want to be annexed by Norfolk City and favor the borough form of government.
2. Norfolk City currently has a 15% tax on electricity bills and that's why we don't want to be annexed by Norfolk City and favor the borough form of government.
3. Norfolk City currently has a 15% tax on gas bills and that's why we don't want to be annexed by Norfolk City and favor the borough form of government.
4. Norfolk City has a two cent per pack tax on cigarettes and that's why we don't want to be annexed by Norfolk City.
5. Auto licenses are $5 in Princess Anne County, $6 in Virginia Beach and $10 in Norfolk, that's why we don't want to be annexed by Norfolk City.
6. Under the consolidation agreement the general fund tax must be the same just as it is now in Princess Anne County.
7. Under present laws any city or county board of supervisors can spend money for advertising and neither Virginia Beach or Princess Anne County has ever spent its legal amount.
8. The last bonds Virginia Beach sold were sold on a 4% basis — a far better rate than many cities.
9. Not true in the past and present bookings indicate it will be operated at a profit in the near future.
10. So do merchants in Norfolk City and the county can place a local merchants license at this time if they so desire, that's why we favor the borough system.
11. Not true. Farmers, under the law, are specifically exempt from this tax.
12. Not true.
- 13 & 14. The consolidation agreement provides that not earlier than five years after the effective date of consolidation but not later than September 1, 1971, the council shall submit to qualified voters of the city a new plan for the election of councilmen so that the plan can be changed after five years.
15. Absolutely false. The agreement does not provide for such as this.
16. This is the reason we do not want to be annexed and want to retain our present form of government and keep our taxes low.
17. Not true.
18. There will be no increase in taxes by reason of consolidation.
19. Not true. Much of equipment is already owned and the balance will come from the gasoline tax.
20. Under the consolidation agreement the control of the roads will be moved from Richmond to the people of the consolidated city and our engineers have stated the revenue we will receive from the gas tax will be adequate to maintain and construct our roads. The consolidated city will receive income from the gas tax well over $1,000,000.00 annually.
21. Under the consolidation agreement all children in the entire consolidated city will be transported to and from the public schools.
22. Only people ashamed to sign their names to an ad would try to raise a question to separate its citizens.
23. Not true. Under the consolidation agreement all fines will be retained by the consolidated city and not go to Richmond.
24. Not true under the consolidation agreement.
25. Only through consolidation and its citizens working together can the new city be assured of an adequate and uninterrupted water supply.

FLOORS AND THEIR CARE

New equipment, new cleaning materials, and new finishes in the home have taken much of the drudgery out of housekeeping. Yet, one job still takes more time and effort than we like. That job is care of floors.

Whether your floors are of oak, fir, linoleum, asphalt tile, or other materials, three culprits steal time and make floor care difficult. They are: wasted motions, poor tools, and the wrong cleaning supplies. If you want to make floor care easier, do it faster, and have a floor that you are proud of, do away with these cleaning handicaps.

To do away with wasted motions, meet the dirt halfway. You can provide good paths to the house, place a scraper or mat near the door, and plan a place for muddy rubbers.

Remove dirt frequently. A little dirt is easier to remove than much dirt that has penetrated the surface.

Store your cleaning supplies close to the place where you use them, even if it means more than one cleaning closet and some duplications of supplies.

Plan your cleaning closet storage to prevent extra handling and long reaches. Store the supplies you use most where they are easiest to reach.

Get your family's help in keeping the floor clean. Use good tools! Remember tools and learn to use them. The floor care need not put you on the floor. Choose long-handled right length handle for you is one that is long enough for you to keep good posture while working and short enough so that it doesn't get in the way.

1. A wet mop that is large enough to cover the surface quickly and is easy to clean, to wring, and to dry. Sponge and string-type mops are available. Choose one that you can control and that will not splatter and mark the baseboards.

2. Self-squeezing mops or scrub pail with a shaped section for wringing the mop. Good wringing is important. It helps keep excess water from the floor.

3. A dry mop that will remove the dust and dirt efficiently. It should cover a large area, at one time, have a long handle, and have a mop head which may be removed and machine washed. Do not use an oily mop. Oil dulls and softens the wax finish and dust clings to it.

4. A dust pan with a long handle, to eliminate stooping. Find one with a smooth edge that fits tightly to the floor.

5. A soft-bristled floor brush or broom. The brush will not scatter the dust as much as the broom and will cover large areas at one time. It will not reach into all the corners as well as a broom. If you use a broom, learn to sweep so that you don't raise the dust. Wash a floor brush or broom periodically in warm water and soap or syndet. (Synthetic detergent) rinse, and hang to dry or store.

6. A wax applicator with a long handle whenever possible. One which may be washed is preferable. Avoid using the same tool for cleaning and waxing, since detergents and wax do not mix and make the applicator difficult to clean completely.

Use the right cleaning supplies. Learn about the materials that will do the best job of cleaning floor finishes and coverings. There are two types of floor waxes: a water-base wax, and a solvent-base wax. A water-base wax (sometimes called self-polishing wax) is a floor finish which dries shiny and is composed of fine wax particles in water, which serves as a carrier.

A solvent-base wax (sometimes called polishing wax) comes in both liquid and paste forms and gives a floor finish which requires polishing after drying. It is composed of wax particles dissolved in a naphtha-like solvent.

The label on the container will tell you which type of wax you are buying.

For floors that can be washed with water use:

1. Mild household soaps or syndets for washing the floors; rinse before waxing.

2. Commercial floor cleaners which are specially prepared for floor coverings on which water-base is used. When added to cool water, these cleaning mixtures are used for surface cleaning. A higher concentration in hot water gives a solution suitable for removing wax and discolorations.

For floors on which only a solvent-base wax has been used, choose:

1. A commercial floor cleaner with a solvent base. These cleaners usually contain some wax which helps to maintain the wax finish on the floor. They should not be confused with a solvent-base liquid wax.

Members Will Buy Bow Creek

PRINCESS ANNE PLAZA — Members of the Bow Creek Golf and Country Club will purchase the 135-acre tract and club properties for $650,000. The announcement was made last week by Fred A. Haycox, club president, and John Aragona, the developer.

By the time the new clubhouse and swimming pool are completed next spring the investment will be about $1 million, Haycox said. The 18-hole golf course was opened in September.

Under the plan, which was set up by Oscar B. Ferebee Jr. and Lawrence A. Sancillo as finance and house committee chairmen, members will acquire stock with a par value ranging from $100 to $650, depending on the type of membership.

The club previously leased the property from Aragona, developer of the $100 million Princess Anne Plaza.

Ralph Hewlett, managing director, said the Pro Shop and locker building should be completed about the first of the year.

The clubhouse, estimated to cost more than $250,000, and one of two swimming pools, is scheduled for completion sometime in the spring.

Gets Top Publicity

VIRGINIA BEACH—Virginia Beach received national recognition recently when local automobile dealer J. R. Alphin was spotlighted in the November issue of "Lincoln-Mercury Dealer Management News and Review."

In the article Alphin gives his formula for "profit-making, small town style."

After presenting the dealer's views on cost control and sales tips, the piece goes on to say: "From 1925 until he entered the Navy during World War II, Alphin worked for Ford Motor Company in assembly plants. A native of Norfolk, he had long had his eye on the potential growth of Virginia Beach, and in 1950 persuaded the district sales office to let him set up a dealership there."

"Mrs. Alphin works right along with him as office manager. During weekends and vacations his son, 16, works in the dealership—hopes to become a dealer himself after finishing high school and college."

VEPCO Reports Revenue Rise

Operating revenues for Nov. of $14,275,000 and a net income for the month of $2,752,000 were reported today by A. H. McDowell, Jr., President of the Virginia Electric and Power Company.

Operating revenues for the first eleven months of 1961 totaled $158,892,000 and net income amounted to $30,328,000 compared with operating revenues of $146,725,000 and a net income of $27,494,000 during the same period last year.

Per share earnings on the company's common stock for the current twelve months amounted to $2 based on 14,910,000 shares outstanding November 30, compared with $1.82 on the same number of shares outstanding November 1960.

McDowell said Vepco gained 26,000 customers during the past twelve months—21,000 electric and 5,000 gas. The company now has approximately 782,000 electric and 105,000 gas customers.

Vepco has spent more than $72 million on new construction this year of its record 1961 construction budget of $85 million.

A large portion of the money has gone for new steam generating units at the Portsmouth and Possum Point Power Station, a new 200,000 kilowatt hydroelectric station on the Roanoke River, McDowell said. The units at Portsmouth and Possum Pt. will go into operation next year. The hydroelectric project is scheduled for completion in May 1963.

Construction is on schedule on the experimental atomic plant at Parr, S.C., being built by Vepco and three neighboring utilities. Vepco also has in the planning stages a fifth generating unit at its Chesterfield Power Station, and a mine-mouth generating station near Petersburg, W. Va., which will ultimately have a capacity of about 1,000,000 kilowatts.

The Committee in charge of the proposed Merger is appreciative of the wonderful support it has received from the individuals and organizations who have joined together in fighting with you to protect the interests of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach from outside interference.

We believe that by this consolidation:

- Your taxes can be kept low.
- Your area will be preserved for you.
- Government will be kept in your hands.
- Each area will be electing its own representative on the Council.
- Each area will determine for itself the services it needs for its welfare.
- Your fine school system and the school transportation for your children will be preserved.
- A favorable vote will stop annexation by Norfolk City for all time.

The Committee urges every citizen in Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach to go to the Polls on January 4, 1962, and vote for the Merger.

Mr. Ivan D. Mapp
Chairman of the Consolidation & Executive Committee
18th and Arctic Avenue
Virginia Beach, Virginia
Dear Mr. Mapp:

In response to your request made sometime ago, our firm has made a study of the proposed merger between the City of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County. We have made a detailed examination of the consolidation agreement as well as the proposed city charter. Having worked with both of the governments in the past, our firm is familiar with the existing conditions as well as the capabilities of both governments to carry out the proposed merger commitments.

We find that the proposed merger of the City of Virginia Beach with the County of Princess Anne will result in only minor changes in the present governmental operation. It is our opinion that the borough form of government more nearly fits the unique and individual form of government required of one of the fastest growing areas of the State of Virginia. The proposed charter, in our opinion, will allow each borough to provide for its own needs without imposing tax burdens on areas not requiring these needs. The Code of Virginia allows counties or cities to establish further breakdowns of service areas such as Sanitary Districts if required.

Based upon the proposed charter we do not believe that this merger in itself will result in increased governmental spending to maintain the present level of services.

Yours very truly,

ATTENTION CITIZENS OF PRINCESS ANNE COUNTY and THE CITY OF VIRGINIA BEACH

The Board of Supervisors of Princess Anne County and the Council of the City of Virginia Beach have previously submitted a Consolidation Agreement and Charter for a proposed consolidated City. As you know, the Court has ordered a merger referendum to be held on January 4, 1962. This will give the citizens of the City of Virginia Beach and of Princess Anne County an opportunity to vote on this question. As a public service we list below answers to inquiries most frequently asked the governing bodies of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County.

Q. Why should the City of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County merge?

1. To secure the geographical boundaries so that the area can make long-range plans for development and services.
2. To prevent reducing the County to a size and population that will impair the efficiency of the government and reduce the scope of services rendered.
3. The consolidated City would get publicity worth many thousands of dollars by having:
  - a. The longest ocean shore line of any resort city in the United States.
  - b. The largest resort city in the United States.
  - c. Within its boundaries will be the southern terminus of the largest bridge-tunnel in the world.
4. To a large measure the County and the City are merged today. For example, both have:
  - The same Circuit Court.
  - The same Juvenile and Domestic Courts.
  - The same Civil Court.
  - The same Clerk of Court.
  - The same Commonwealth's Attorney.
  - The same Sheriff.
  - The same Director of Health.
  - The same Welfare Department.
  - The same Superintendent of Schools.
  - The same Director of Planning.

Q. If the City of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County consolidate, what principal changes in our government would result?

- A. For all practical purposes little or no change would result. There will be a change in the name from "county" to "city"; magisterial districts will be changed to boroughs, and the Supervisors will be changed to Councilmen.

Q. What is the effective date of the proposed consolidation?

- A. January 1, 1963.

Q. Why is the referendum being held at this time?

- A. In order that our Charter may be presented to the 1962 General Assembly of Virginia for ratification. We want to take advantage of the present law should the General Assembly decide to change the Consolidation Act. Under present law Norfolk could proceed in annexation before the General Assembly meets again in 1964.

Q. After consolidation, how will the Councilmen be elected?

- A. The Councilmen will be elected by boroughs. Those voters living in a particular borough will vote for their Councilman only. The present magisterial districts of the County will become boroughs and the present City of Virginia Beach will be a borough with the same representation they now have.

Q. Can the Borough System and representation on Council be changed?

- A. Yes. A new plan may be submitted to the people after a five-year transitional period, and a new plan must be submitted to the voters not later than September 1, 1971 (after the 1970 census).

Q. Will the name Princess Anne be retained?

- A. Yes. The present Seaboard District will be changed to read "Princess Anne (formerly Seaboard)."

Q. Will my taxes increase?

- A. Merging of the County of Princess Anne and the City of Virginia Beach will not in itself result in an increase in taxes. This is true because the merger in itself will not necessitate increased services. You may increase your taxes right now by demanding additional services. The same would be the case under a consolidated government.

Q. Will the assessment basis be equalized between the City of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County?

- A. Yes. The assessment basis will be uniform with comparable adjustment in tax rate.

Q. Must Borough services be uniform?

- A. Borough services must be uniform only for school, police and general government services. However, whatever additional services the people in a given borough may desire, they may have without any cost to the other Boroughs.

Q. Can the tax rate be different in each Borough?

- A. Yes. Taxes are based on services rendered. At present tax rates vary in the individual districts. Under consolidation this would still apply. There would be a different tax rate in those Boroughs demanding additional services. However, the rate would be uniform throughout the city for schools, police and general government services.

Q. Where will the seat of government be located?

- A. The seat of government will be located at Princess Anne Court House with certain municipal services being retained at the present City Hall of Virginia Beach for the convenience of all the citizens of the consolidated City.

Q. What are the essential differences between the Consolidation Law and the Annexation Law?

- A. Under the Consolidation Law the people themselves have the right, by voting in a referendum, to determine what type of government they desire and in what political subdivision they may live. Such is not the case under the Annexation Law which denies to the people the right to vote in a referendum and decide these questions for themselves.

Q. What effect, if any, would the consolidation have on services now rendered by the State Police?

- A. The consolidated City would have to make some provisions for the loss of these State Troopers with police of their own. However, it must be borne in mind that the existing revenue derived from arrests made by State Police goes to the State and upon consolidation these revenues will be retained by the consolidated City. These revenues will more than offset the additional cost.

Q. If we consolidate, how will the roads and bridges be maintained?

- A. After consolidation the new city would maintain its own roads and bridges. The decisions with respect to same would be determined by the new city rather than the State Highway Department in Richmond. Exclusive of what the present City of Virginia Beach would receive, the new city would receive in 1963 from the gas tax based on the present state formula, $4,138,000.00 for the maintenance of its roads and bridges which our engineers inform us is adequate.

Q. Under consolidation, can the Boroughs continue with volunteer firemen?

- A. Each Borough under the consolidation may continue to do exactly as each of the Magisterial Districts is now doing. However, if a particular Borough desires paid firemen they may have them without any cost to the other Boroughs.

Q. Would deficit spending be permissible under the Charter proposed for the consolidated city?

- A. No. The Charter as proposed specifically prohibits deficit spending. At the time the budget is adopted it must specifically show the source of the revenue required to equal the amount of the expenditures. Simply stated, there can be no expenditures of funds in excess of the amount of revenues as provided by the budget.

Q. How will the Mayor and Vice-Mayor be chosen?

- A. By the Council of the new City. However, the consolidation agreement provides that if the Mayor is selected from the present City, the Vice-Mayor must come from the present County, or vice-versa.

Mr. Ivan D. Mapp
Merger Headquarters
19th St. & Arctic Ave.
Virginia Beach, Va.

Dear Mr. Mapp:

Pursuant to your instructions, the Consolidation Agreement and the Charter for the proposed new City of Virginia Beach have been carefully studied, and I wish at this time to offer my comments.

Since I have dealt with the various departments of both the present City of Virginia Beach and the County of Princess Anne for the past few years, the opportunity has been afforded me to become familiar with their operations. After comparing the present forms of government in these two political sub-divisions with that proposed under the new charter, I find that the proposed new government is very much the same as that now in operation. There is no apparent reason why, under the borough system as set up in the new charter, the same kinds of services which the people now have cannot be continued without additional cost. It is the opinion of the writer that any additional services which are not now available in any borough could be furnished, if desired, at no more cost to the tax payers than if Princess Anne County remained a County and Virginia Beach remained in its present status.

The Consolidation Agreement and Charter for the new City of Virginia Beach represent a fair, just and workable governmental operation which has all the qualifications for success.

Thanking you for your patience in waiting for this report, and expressing my willingness to furnish you with all data assembled in this study immediately upon your request for same, I remain

Sincerely yours,

Walter B. Wilson, Jr.

Walter B. Wilson, Jr., P.E.
Virginia Beach, Virginia

We James E. Moore, Chief of Police for Princess Anne County and Reeves Johnson Chief of Police for the City of Virginia Beach make the following statement.

At present Princess Anne County is policed by the Princess Anne County Police Department and the Virginia State Department of Police. Virginia Beach is served by the Virginia Beach Police Department.

Should the people of the City of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County vote to consolidate with the present City of Virginia Beach and become a new city, the Virginia State Department of Police will withdraw its personnel from Princess Anne County and the law enforcement will become the entire responsibility of the New City.

At present there are some duplications of police work being performed by the Princess Anne County Police Department and the Virginia State Department of Police as now exist which would be eliminated if the consolidation goes into effect.

From our experience in police work in Princess Anne County and in the City of Virginia Beach Area we feel confident that this area can be adequately policed by consolidating all of the police personnel and their facilities under one department and by re-adjusting the personnel of the Princess Anne County and the Virginia Beach Police Departments. It may become necessary, however, to supplement the Police Department of the new city with a few additional police officers to replace the police personnel that will be withdrawn from this area by the Virginia State Department of Police; we will not have to replace all of that personnel withdrawn under the present population requirements to meet the existing needs.

All warrants and summons issued will be issued by the New City and most of the fines imposed for violations will go to the City instead of the State and can be used to pay the salaries of only new additional officers employed.

In the past 10 years the Police Forces have almost doubled as the needs were required, however, the increase in population and County and City revenues have kept the cost of Police services at a constant level without adversely affecting taxes and we are confident that by eliminating the duplication of services there will be a saving on that portion of the Police services render.

STATE OF VIRGINIA

County of Princess Anne, to-wit:

I am Sidney T. Barker, Jr. I am County Engineer for Princess Anne County and have been so employed in this capacity since September 1, 1960. I hold a certificate as Professional Engineer from the State Board for the examination and certification of architects, professional engineers and land surveyors. I am a member of the Engineers Club of Hampton Roads.

I was employed by the Virginia State Department of Highways for 25 years, starting my employment as time keeper in September, 1935. During my 25 years of employment with the Highway Department, I held the following positions: Construction Inspector; Assistant to the Resident Engineer; Assistant Resident Engineer and Resident Engineer.

I am familiar with all phases of Highway work, and particularly the Tidewater area as the major portion of my 25 years with the State Highway Department was in this location. I am also familiar with State and Federal allocations of road funds.

Should Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach consolidate and become the City of Virginia Beach on January 1, 1963, the area that now comprises the present City of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County will receive an allocation of over $1,100,000.00 from the Suffolk District of the Department of Highways for the construction and maintenance of roads in the new City.

From my 25 years experience in Highway work with the State, I am confident that the new City of Virginia Beach can maintain its roads from the funds allocated in the same present efficient manner.

I am also confident that as the consumption of gasoline increases and the revenue the State receives from the taxes on that increased consumption of gasoline, a percentage of those additional funds would also be available for this area on the basis of the miles of its roads.

Should this area become a City, it will be permitted to participate in the Federal Aid Urban Funds. This fund is allocated on the basis of population of cities of 5,000 or more in accordance with the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1960 and if we are able to participate in this program to its fullest extent, I shall have no doubts that we shall exceed our present Highway Program.

My Commission expires January 24, 1963.

To the Citizens of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach:

After careful examination of the proposed Consolidation Agreement between Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach, and having served as Superintendent of Schools for both the County and the City for more than twenty years, I am convinced that the proposed Agreement will have practically no effect on the schools in either the County or the City except that the transportation of the school children by the County School Board will, under the Consolidation Agreement, be extended to the school children now living within the present City limits. I have studied the very necessary and I am of the opinion that the school children of the County will be transported in any way, and the transportation services will be extended to the entire City.

Notes from Your COUNTY AGENT

HER HABIT

Jixon—"You say your wife drives like lightning. Can't you slow her down?"
Jackson—"Oh, it's not the speed—she keeps hitting trees."

IT'S ALMOST OVER, BUT MORE TO COME.

As the old year draws to a close, and the new year approaches, it is time to think back about some of the fine things which have happened to all of us, and to look forward to many more nice things in 1962. Both you and I have had our problems and joys during the last year. I am sure that we will have our share of both during the coming new year. It is always nice to think back over the year to see if we have really accomplished what we started out to do, and to think about some new and helpful things which can be done in 1962.

We, in Extension, always feel that it is a real joy to help people overcome some of their problems. Therefore, that is why we are called the "Problem Office", because, when there is a problem, the natural place to come is to the County Agent's Office. We hope that you will continue to come with your problems, regardless of how large or small they are. We hope that our office can serve you in a constructive and congenial manner.

To start this year off, let's look at some of the things which we can expect.

YEAR AHEAD SEEN AS PROSPEROUS

The economic upturn which began in the first quarter of 1961 is picking up steam and packs enough momentum to make 1962 a prosperous business year.

In the annual look at what lies ahead, I find prices on most wholesale and consumer items are expected to stay relatively steady during 1962. However, steel prices still pose something of a question mark. If steel prices are raised to any significant degree, prices of numerous other commodities which use steel could be affected.

Much of the pessimism which prevailed in business and policy-making circles in late 1960 and early 1961 has faded into the background. Actually, economists say the pendulum seems to have swung hard in the opposite direction.

However, we do see some weak spots in both the domestic and international economic picture. Domestically, unemployment is still vexing—currently running at about 6.8 percent. The situation is expected to improve some as business activity continues to pick up. However, working-age youth and married women comprise an important segment of the problem. Both groups have many unskilled and inexperienced workers. It will be hard to find jobs for them.

We should also not that during most of 1961, consumers have been a little balky, and retail trade has not picked up quite as fast as expected. This uneasiness on the part of consumers is expected to fade as signs of the business upturn become more evident to the general public. Borrowing costs are going up. It costs more to borrow now than in the spring of 1961 and will cost still more in 1962.

Internationally, dollar problems still remain. The basic reason is simple: The United States continues to spend, invest, and give away abroad more than it earns abroad.

The United States must now be particularly mindful of the effects that both its domestic and foreign policies may have on the value of the dollar. Domestically, this means that deficit financing must either be avoided or minimized and inflation held in check. The federal government is expected to run a deficit of about $7,800,000,000 for 1961. Assurances have been given to foreign governments that the federal budget will be in balance for the year to start July 1, 1962. On the international scene, economists say renewed effort must be made in expanding export trade, and potential reductions. The U.S., even with its vast resources, cannot indefinitely carry the financial burdens of much of the world.

Farmers Should Inventory Their Available Resources

How can I increase the income from my farm operations? This is a question of increasing importance in Princess Anne farm circles.

To produce crops and livestock for sale each farm family has available only a limited amount of resources—so much land, labor, money, etc. For short periods—say next week and to a less extent next year—each of these resource situations remain fixed, and limit what can be done. In longer periods—two or five or twenty years—you can change some of these fixed resources. You may buy more land, add buildings, or increase the number of breeding livestock, or sell and move on to other occupations or areas.

But, regardless of changes in the future, profits now and in the future depend on how you use the resources now available to you. To make decisions which give the highest income, you must carefully inventory your resources.

A knowledge of various types of land and the acreage of each type is necessary in planning crops. You need a detailed farm map and accompanying data on individual crops and rotation.

No information is more important than past experience with various fields. Keep yearly data for each field, including rotation followed, crops grown, fertilizer used, cultural practices and yields, and then determine how this fits into those new-fangled ways of doing things.

Colors, motifs—"Character" is a word—that give long-lived service, at moderate first-cost! May we give you an estimate?

Inventory your labor resources. How many hours of fixed labor (family labor and labor hired on a yearly basis) will be available each month of the year? How much can you cut down without decreasing net income? Is some labor available for certain types of work? A careful inventory of fixed labor is important because this labor is committed to the farm for a year or longer. The same costs will occur whether or not the labor is used to the best advantage. Can permanent labor be replaced by cheaper part-time labor?

What amount of hired labor will be available each month of the year? What jobs can this labor do? How much supervision with the hired labor needed? What will be the cost per hour for labor of various capabilities? All are important questions.

Consider also your buildings, equipment, and machinery. What building space do you now have available for livestock? How much feed can you store as hay, silage, feed grains? How much time for chore labor is needed for livestock with present buildings, equipment, and arrangements? Could you add to livestock numbers or could you add new livestock enterprises? What building changes would be necessary? What about a new crop or new livestock?

What is the condition and capacities of your farm equipment? Evaluate all these items when inventorying present buildings and equipment. Can you get by another year?

Make an inventory of available money in order to carry out the year's production and long time investments. You will need to furnish your banker or cooperative credit agency a statement of your net worth, and probably a summary of the past year's business, before you can be issued a statement on available credit.

FARM PRODUCTION COSTS TO CLIMB STILL HIGHER

From what I read, it looks like farm production costs will likely continue to climb through 1962.

The index of prices paid by farmers for production goods in September was 1 percent above a year earlier. The index has shown a 27 percent increase since 1960.

Next year, most of the upward pressure will be in higher prices to some purchased non-farm items such as farm machinery, machinery repairs, improvements and supplies.

People who write a lot say cost control is becoming important as farmers continue to use more purchased non-farm items per farm. Some farmers can reduce costs by using these costly items more efficiently. Out-of-pocket costs must be carefully planned and production items widely used if you, as a farmer, are to survive the cost-price squeeze.

How can farmers keep costs down? For instance—machinery? Seems to me that you should buy only the machines that will pay for themselves in the operation, reduce repair and maintenance as well as operating cost by careful attention and timeliness of repair, and decrease machinery costs per unit of work by increased volume of use through expanded farm use or custom work. Figure it out. Be as smart as you are.

Labor continues to pose a problem. Non-farm employment is becoming more competitive for the farm labor supply, and average farm wage rates are up 3 percent over a year ago. However, the number of workers on Virginia farms increased about 5 percent from September 1960 to September 1961, in contrast to the downward trend for the rest of the national. The Virginia increase was in both family and hired help.

Looks like prices of feed grains probably will average higher in 1962 than in 1961. In the feeding year now starting, the feed grain program is expected to reduce moderately the carryover of feed grains. Prices of oats and barley have declined less than seasonally this summer, and in August they were higher than in August of last year.

The 1961-62 seasonal rise in the price of soybean meal and total protein feeds is expected to be much less than in 1960-61. High protein feed supplies in 1961-62 probably will be larger than a year earlier. Soybean supplies in 1961-62 are estimated to be 18,000,000 bushels from 1960-61. With the larger crush in prospect for the big 1961 crop, soybean meal prices, declining seasonally this fall, are expected to average below the 1960-61 level during this marketing season.

Beach Anglers Elect C. Dant

Charles W. Dant has been elected president of the Virginia Beach Angler's Club at its recent business meeting. Mr. Dant succeeds A. M. Holland.

Other officers elected from the floor are Sanford W. Morse, 1st vice-president; Wayne Sheffy, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Betty Torreyson, secretary; Charles Kanpenberger, ass't. secretary; and Ray A. Cassett, treasurer. Also elected to the Board of Directors are Josh Vaughan, Frank Torreyson, Major Knight and Andy Holland.

The new officers will be installed at the organization's annual banquet to be held at the Fort Story Non-Commissioned Officers Club Thursday, January 11, 1962. Presentation of the "Fisherman of the Year" as well as the annual prize fish awards will form part of the program.

The club, now entering its third year boasts a roster of one hundred senior, junior and family memberships and was organized to promote the sport of angling in and around the beach area. During the year, the club sent a fine surf casting team to Ocean City, N.J. and won the famed Ocean City Cup, competing against twenty seven other teams from all over the east coast. This trophy is currently on display at Coaches Sporting Goods on Pacific Avenue. The club also went on record opposing the setting of commercial nets below Rudee Inlet and the proposed abandonment of a portion of Route 60 at Rudee Inlet.

Princess Anne Defeats Halifax

SOUTH BOSTON — Princess Anne's Cavaliers recovered from a shaky start Saturday night and rolled to a 63-47 victory over the Halifax County High School.

The P.A. quintet, which has only one starter back from last year's team, took time to get organized and was behind 28-27 at the half. The South Boston school, led by Charles Daniel, pressed through much of the initial period.

In the second half, the Cavalier rebounding strength came to the fore. Randy Leddy, with 12 rebounds, and Brian Brinkley and Bob Henderson, who had 11 rebounds apiece, clinched the game for Princess Anne with their control of both boards.

Daniel led Halifax County with 14 points. Brinkley, who had 24, and Henderson's 16 were tops for Princess Anne. The losers are now 1-2 for the season.

THUNDERBOLT BOWL

Thunderbolt Major League
The final outcome of the first round in this league appears more doubtful every week.

Tastee Freez has moved back into the league lead by a very thin margin. The previous leaders, Chix Restaurant, being beaten 3 out of 4 by third ranking Sealy Posturepedics. Vic Barnett contributed a fine 224 game and Glenn Holloman turned out a 541 series to lead the winners. Harold Smith was big for the losers with a 214 game and 555 set.

Tastee Freez groped their way into the lead by eking out a 3-point win from Kelly Supply in their regular match and barely managing a 2-2 split with Coaches in a postponed contest. Wayne Sheffy rolling for Kelly's gave the crowd a thrill while blasting a very fine 253 game. "Iron Man" Chuck Kadas welded a few strikes in one of his games for a nice 221. Coaches Sporting Goods in their regular match had another 2-2 split with Virginia Beach Transfer. Jim Johnson for Coaches put 3 consistent games together for high series of the night of 572. Bob Vogt with a 222, and Jim Wolkott a 223 provided most of the scoring punch for the Truckers.

Team 3 and Team 8 also fought to a deadlock. Don Schaeffer's 216-551 and Clarence Husks 558 were high for Team 3. While Ron Glass's 211 and Clarence Bishop's 527 led Team 8. Next week finds Chix and Tastee Freez coming to grips which should prove to be an interesting contest.

He could see time passing...

The folks who lived in the day of the hour-glass had a psychological advantage. They could see time passing.

And as each fine grain slipped through the neck of the glass, a man's conscience would whisper within him: less time left!

When we look at a clock its hands seem motionless. Is that why millions put off the important decisions that ought to be made right now?

Whatever its cause, procrastination is a disease. It hurls the senses into indolence. It wastes our energy on trivial pursuits, while important tasks remain undone. Especially it attacks the soul, tempting man to believe that there will be plenty of time later to tend to his spiritual needs.

But the cure is simple... and immediate. Just set the alarm clock and begin the New Year with worship in your Church. You'll soon be facing every important task with eagerness and courage and faith!

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very latest in food fads and fables... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both palate and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucille Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

Hope you had a wonderful Christmas and Old Santa brought you everything you wished for.

Planning to have friends drop in for New Year's Eve?

Holidays are for parties, for wonderful gala buffets of foods, arrange them in the gayest possible settings.

Here are some Canape suggestions.

Lobster Canapes

1 cup lobster meat, chopped fine
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
1 tablespoon sherry
Drain lobster meat and chop, add mayonnaise and sherry and blend into parsley, salt and pepper, spoon on buttered side of bread rounds. Sprinkle very finely chopped bacon over top of each. Place in shallow pan, in hot oven (475°) about 6-8 minutes or until bubbly. You may slip under broiler (about 5 inches from broiler) for few seconds, but you must watch them very closely.

Stuffed eggs always add to the festive look of a platter. You may stuff them the usual way, by removing yolks—mashing and seasoning of your taste and then refill the halves, or by topping the yolks, caviar, chopped parsley, pickle relish, or olive slices, ripe or green, a paste, spread on tiny pieces of bread, shaped as you like.

Toasted Cheese Canapes

Hot and tasty from the broiler.
2 tablespoons melted butter
2 stiffly beaten egg whites
1 1/4 cups coarsely grated Swiss Cheese
1/2 cups finely chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
3 slices bacon, finely chopped
With 2-inch cookie cutter, cut 20 bread rounds. Toast on one side; brush untoasted side with butter. Into egg whites (that have been stiffly beaten) fold the cheese, green pepper.

Easily prepared foods are the ones I would suggest. There are so many that are delicious but can be prepared in advance. Lobster Newburg, Cranberry chicken mold, Sliced ham, Sour cream Potato Salad are a few. The Lobster Newburg is the only last minute preparation & by having all the ingredients at hand it would take just a little while.

1 1/2 lbs. cooked lobster
3 tablespoons butter
1 1/4 cups sherry wine
1 1/2 cups cream
3 egg yolks, beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne

Cut lobster meat into bite size pieces and heat slowly in butter. Add wine and simmer slowly for a few minutes. Beat cream into beaten egg yolks. Add to lobster and season, cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Serve as soon as thickened on toast or in toast cups or patty shells. Serve 8.

Sour Cream Potato Salad

4 cups diced cook potatoes
1 teaspoon minced onion
1/2 teaspoon celery seed
Salt and pepper to taste
3 hard cooked eggs
1 1/2 cups sour cream
1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1/4 cup vinegar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 cup finely cut celery
Combine potatoes, onions, celery and celery seeds, salt and pepper. Toss lightly together. Dice egg whites and add to potato mixture. Mash egg yolks and add to sour cream, mayonnaise vinegar and mustard. (1 teaspoon sugar may be added if you desire). Add to potatoes & toss gently together, allow to chill about 1 hour. Serve on crisp greens. Serves 8.

Happy New Year to you and yours and may 1962 be your most wonderful year.

Forgetting the things which are behind... I press on toward the goal.

—(Phil. 3:12, 14)

We make room for new ideas and new circumstances. We yield ourselves to God's direction and guidance. We feel a new sense of peace. With new vision we go forward to new goals.

Serve Chili Dogs And Hot Coffee For A Festive Supper Barbecue

SUMMER is the season when any meal can be a party. It's as simple as moving the meal outside! Whatever it is about open air that creates a festive mood, there is no doubt that eating under a sky-blue roof brings a happy atmosphere to mealtime. This may explain why the simplest of fare tastes better than pheasant under glass, if you cook over hot coals on a barbecue grill. And when you team up frankfurters and hot chili, you have a sure-fire hit—Chili Dogs! Make it a perfect combo by serving your best hot coffee as a beverage companion. This meal is guaranteed to create a thirst! Just remember, success depends upon limitless amounts of eatables—including enough coffee for seconds and thirds. No one needs an excuse to dine outside in summertime, but if you want one, there are many you can use. A neighborhood get-together, a teen-age cookout, a Fourth-of-July celebration or a gathering of the clan to see cousins you haven't seen in years—to name a few. Whatever your reason, it's the season that matters. For when the weather's fair, a barbecue blooms!

Chili Dogs

8 frankfurters
8 frankfurter rolls
Prepared mustard
Case (1 lb.) chili con carne
1 lb. bacon (8 strips)
Crill frankfurters. Spread hot (not toasted) buns with mustard and fill each with a frankfurter. Top with a generous spoonful of hot chili con carne and a crisp strip of bacon. Makes 8 servings.

Gigantic Market Planned

Wards Corner Tract Leased

NORFOLK — Giant Open Air Market plans to erect one of the largest retail food stores in the country on a tract it has leased at Wards Corner.

Bids for the building, which will cover more than 70,000 square feet of floor space, will be advertised later this month. Plans were drawn by Architect Bernard Spigel.

Located on a 14-acre tract facing the intersection of Little Creek Road and Tauxing Boulevard, the establishment will introduce many innovations, including an international gourmet section and a cooked food department with seating facilities for 250.

The site upon which the building will be erected has been leased for 99 years at an annual rental of $20,000. Harvey Lindsay & Sons, Realtors, were the leasing agents.

Completion of the building, which will be served by a 500-car parking lot, is scheduled eight months after construction begins.

Wendell P. Rosso is president of the Norfolk-headquartered grocery chain, one of the most successful in the nation. The company's sales per square foot of floor space are said to be top in the nation.

The corporation operates two other stores here and a third in Portsmouth. It is building a warehouse and distribution center at the Norfolk Industrial Park to house, among other facilities, manufacturing operations conducted now at night locations.

THIS IS THE STORY IN A NUTSHELL

A parcel of real estate is as good as the use to which it can be put and to the tenant to which it is leased. We have leased a large tract at Wards Corner to Tidewater's famous "Giant Open Air Market." If you've seen the "Giant" nothing more need be said. If you've never shopped in a "Giant" take a tour either to the Comptelco store or in Portsmouth at Alexander's Corner. One of the simplest and most sincere compliments ever paid to "Giant" was the remark of one woman to another while walking thru the store—It's fun to shop at "Giant Open Air." The fact that "Giant" has leased this tract for their latest store obviously makes it a fine piece of real estate. That "Giant" is a fine, responsible tenant to whom to look for your income is a foregone conclusion.

This parcel of fine real estate is being sold to a group of not more than 30 investors—there are 30 shares @ $6,850 each. The minimum purchase is one share; other which fractions may be purchased.

THE SEABOARD CITIZENS BANK OF NORFOLK has consented to act as trustee in this transaction. Their sole function is to hold title to the property, to receive the rentals and to distribute them quarterly to the shareholders. The actual percentage of ownership to each participant will be stated in the deed. It is not a corporation.

THERE ARE NO UNKNOWN FACTORS IN THIS DEAL

"It's Worryproof & Troubleproof"

The tenant (Giant) pays all real estate taxes—no worry about increases. The tenant (Giant) pays all insurance and maintenance. The tenant (Giant) pays rental monthly, the trustee (Seaboard) receives the rent and distributes to shareholders quarterly.

THE RETURN ON THIS INVESTMENT IS ACTUALLY GUARANTEED BY A 99-YEAR LEASE TO "GIANT OPEN AIR MARKET." THE LEASE HAS BEEN SIGNED, RECORDED AND RENT IS NOW BEING PAID—INCOME BEGINS TO FLOW TO OUR GROUP IMMEDIATELY AFTER THE DEAL HAS BEEN CLOSED.

WHEN WILL THE MONEY BE NEEDED?

On each share purchased for $6,850; a deposit of 10%; balance about Jan. 15, 1962.
